Subcommittee Proposal
Pledging U. S. Postwar

RESOLUTION HAS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—A majority of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today swung its support today behind a resolution pledging American participation in postwar collaboration to maintain peace. Indications were that the measure would be sent to the Senate floor without substantial changes.

An Associated Press poll disclosed that seven Democrats and five Republicans—a majority of the committee—find the resolution acceptable in its present form.

Three members oppose any action now, seven others are not ready to commit themselves, and one, Senator Glass (Dem.), Virginia, was not reached.

The resolution, approved 7 to 1 by a subcommittee headed by Chairman Connally (Dem.), Texas, of the full committee, will be laid before the latter group next Tuesday in this form:

"Resolved by the Senate of the United States:

"That the war against all our enemies be waged until complete victory is achieved;

"That the United States co-operate with its comrades-in-arms in securing a just and honorable peace;

"That the United States, acting through its constitutional processes, join with free and sovereign nations in the establishment and maintenance of international authority with power to prevent aggression and to preserve the peace of the world."

Lineup of Committee.

A canvass showed this lineup of the full committee: (12): Democrats—Connally, Barkley, George, Gillette, Thomas (Utah), Tamm, Wagner; Republicans—Vandenberg, White, Nye, Davis, Capper.

Against the resolution (3): Democrats—Reynolds; Republican—Johnson (Cal.); Progressive—La Follette.

Not committed (7): Democrats—Green, Murray, Van Nuys, Guffey, Pepper, Clark (Mo.); Republican—Shipstead.

Some of the latter group, notably Senators Pepper and Green, previously have urged that the Senate express its opinion on postwar foreign policy, but they were disappointed at the general terms of the subcommittee's declaration.

Green said the resolution was only "a pious purpose expressed," and Pepper commented that it was "too general to constitute a firm declaration of foreign policy."

The Senate is to assert its prerogative of being the final arbiter of American foreign policy," Pepper added, "the Senate cannot shirk its duty clearly and fairly to lay down the guiding principles of that policy."

The resolution was introduced formally in the Senate today by

War Program to Continue to Take All of Alcohol, Official Testifies.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—An official of the War Production Board said today there is no prospect now that distillers will be allowed to produce any alcohol for beverage purposes through 1944.

Dr. Walter G. Whitman, assistant director of the WPB chemicals branch, testified before a Senate agricultural subcommittee that the war program will continue to take the entire output of distillers and industrial producers for an "indefinite period, and we see no prospect now that there can be any beverage alcohol produced through next year."

The only bright spot in the picture for replenishing liquor stocks, he said, is that improved shipping conditions have resulted in more imports of gin and rum from Cuba, Puerto Rico and other Caribbean areas. In one recent month such imports reached 1,500,000 gallons.

Estimating alcohol requirements will go up 23 million gallons next year, largely because of expanded synthetic rubber production, Whitman termed "unfortunate" recent reports that distillers might be allowed to resume limited production of whiskeys to replenish dwindling stock.

U. S. BOMBERS WITH ESCORT
HIT AT CENTRAL GERMANY

Target Not Announced; Raid
Breaks Three-Day

Lull.

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP).—United States heavy bombers, supported by P-47 Thunderbolts, attacked targets in central Germany today.

It was the first daylight raid for the American bombers since they hit Munster and Coesfeld Sunday.

The targets were not specified in the first announcement from United States Army headquarters, but the use of the description "central Germany" suggested the possibility of a fairly deep penetration.

The attack marked the resumption of major operations which, in addition to the Munster and Coesfeld raids, included record long-distance flight to eastern Germany, Poland and East Prussia last Saturday.

STAMP 29 IN NEW RATION BOOK TO BE USED FOR BUYING SUGAR

Half Months.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—Stamp No. 29 in the new ration book will be used for buying sugar beginning Nov. 1, the Office of Price Administration announced today. The book will be distributed in a schoolhouse registration the last two weeks of this month.

For the first time, the ration book for another two and one-half months, stamp 29 will be good for five pounds of sugar through Jan. 15, 1944.

Stamp 14 in ration book 1, good for five pounds since Aug. 16, expires on the first day of November, while stamps 15 and 16, which have been used for home canning sugar, expire on the last day of October.

BRITISH USE INDIAN ROPE TRICK TO ENTANGLE ENEMY PLANES

In 37 Times Device Is Employed
3 Aircraft Are Destroyed on Land and 9 at Sea.

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP).—When there aren't barrage balloons handy with their cables to entangle enemy planes, the British, it was disclosed today, have been using a military version of the Indian rope trick, shooting wires into the air where they are supported for a time by parachutes.

In 37 times when the device was used on land, the announcement said, three enemy planes were destroyed, four were probably damaged and at least seven were diverted from the target.

At sea, at least 25 ships were saved from damage this way and nine enemy planes were destroyed.

At Old Fashioned Spelling Bee

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—The Congresswomen outspelled the Congressmen. Four of them carried off the honors last night in an old-fashioned spelling bee conducted by Professor (Speaker) Rayburn at the National Press Club.

Representative Gore (Dem.), Tennessee, tax expert, failed on satellite and so did Representative Mason (Rep.), Illinois, before Representative Clare Luce (Rep.), Connecticut, first of the women to fall, slipped on supersedeas. The author-playwright insisted there was a c in it, and the men put two t's in satellite.

Representative Mansfield (Dem.), Montana, missed acquiesce (leaving out the c) and Representative Case (Rep.), South Dakota, muffed colossal, putting two 1's in the middle. Representative Jesse Sumners (Rep.), Illinois, and Margaret Smith (Rep.), Maine, breezed through such tough ones as ichthyology but then both fell down at Albuquerque. They got the idea it was Alber—Representative Frances Bolton (Rep.), Ohio, spelled postscript without an s.

The players kept in the game after missing and, as well as could be figured out, the final count was nine mistakes for the men and eight for the women.

Four newspaper men also took part and collected only five errors but were disqualified. There was some suspicion they had a hand in preparing the list of words.

U. S. PLANES SMASH JAP BASE AT RABAU3 MAJOR ALLIED FORCES
SOON TO BE READY FOR BIG OPERATIONS IN PACIFIC

By WILLIAM HIPPLE
SOUTH PACIFIC HEADQUARTERS,
TERS, Oct. 14 (AP).

THE three major Allied commands in the Pacific obviously will be ready soon to begin major operations.

Such operations would include the forces of Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Southwest Pacific, Adm. William F. Halsey in the South Pacific and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz in the Central Pacific.

Rabaul would be the goal of such a pincer drive, but this move, possibly would be preceded by a co-ordinate attack on Rabaul's last outer defense—the Japanese positions on New Britain and in the Bougainville area of the Solomons.

The Allies will need the largest number of planes yet employed in the South and Southwest Pacific if they are to neutralize these fields.

Announcing that Allied forces are in complete domination of Kolombangara and Vella Lavella islands in the Solomons, Adm. Halsey said the Japanese are showing increasing reluctance to stand and fight along their outer defense lines. He forecast more and heavier Allied blows toward the northwest.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Oct. 14 (AP).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur threw every bomber and fighter plane he could risk in a gigantic smash at Japan's key sea-air bastion of Rabaul on New Britain Tuesday, and the result was a devastating blow. He announced he believed the blow had broken the back of the advance air power of Japan.

The raid by the biggest air armada ever amassed in this area "marks the turning point in the war in the Southwest Pacific," declared the air force commander, Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney.

The far-reaching results—they may speed the unhinging of the whole perimeter of defenses anchored to Rabaul—were:

Destruction or severe damage of 177 enemy planes, estimated to be 60 per cent of the Japanese air force on Rabaul's airfields.

Sinking of at least 18,000 tons of ships, including three destroyers and three merchant ships, as well as 43 small sea-going cargo vessels and 70 harbor craft.

Severe damaging of a submarine, its 5000-ton tender, a 6800-ton destroyer tender and a 7000-ton cargo ship.

Wrecking and firing of wharves and waterfront installations at Simpson Harbor, one of the finest in the world.

Five Allied Planes Lost.

These accomplishments cost the Allies five planes out of the participating hundreds, the bulk of which were American fighters.

The raiders dropped 350 tons of bombs, 25 tons more than the load dropped last week on Wake Island, and fired more than 250,000 rounds of ammunition.

Executed over Rabaul for the first time in the war by fighters, the Liberators and Mitchells struck at midday at a base so bristling with defenses that here-tofore attacks were made under cover of darkness.

Gen. MacArthur acquired forward air bases on islands north of New Guinea.

The Liberator force was more than twice as large as any before sent against Rabaul. P-38 Lightnings provided the escort in the attack, which lasted more than two hours.

The sharp scaling down of Rabaul's striking power followed a series of heavy raids since mid-August which have destroyed approximately 600 enemy planes at Wewak, New Guinea.

Allied Strategy.

The overall strategy in this was pointed out in today's communiqué:

"Recently we crushed the right wing of his (Japan's) air command at Wewak. This time our objective was his left wing at Rabaul. The division of his air forces into two great groups based upon Wewak and Rabaul has made it possible to use our main force against Rabaul."

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 14 (AP).—Republic Steel Corporation announced today it was taking two blast furnaces out of production because of the fuel shortage resulting from the work stoppage in Alabama coal mines which left 18 mines, employing more than 7000 men, idle.

E. I. Evans, southern district manager for Republic, said two Birmingham furnaces would be banked tomorrow "since we can't make iron without coke."

The coal work stoppage spread to 13 additional mines today, after five were idle yesterday. Both union and company spokesmen said the miners quit work as a result of Government release of the mines to their owners.

U. S. Destroyer Sunk in Mediterranean

Two Destroyers

Buck and Bristol Sunk by

Underwater Explosions

—Japanese Bomb Attu

Island.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—Loss of two American destroyers in the Mediterranean was reported today by the Navy in a communiqué which also told of an unsuccessful Japanese bombing raid on Attu Island in the Aleutians.

The destroyers, the Buck and the Bristol, both sank as a result of underwater explosions, the Navy said.

The Buck, a 1500-ton ship, went down off Salerno Oct. 9 and the Bristol, a 1700-ton vessel, was sunk yesterday.

Loss of the two destroyers, each of which carried approximately 250 officers and men, brought to 122 the number of American naval craft lost since the war started.

The Buck was placed in service in May, 1940, and the Bristol in October, 1941.

The commanding officer of the Buck, Lt. Comdr. Millard J. Klein, of Long Beach, Cal., is listed as missing in action. No casualty report has been received, the Navy said, on Comdr. John A. Glick, Richmond, N. H., skipper of the Bristol.

Navy officials said the casualties aboard the Bristol were "moderate" and the Buck casualties "somewhat heavier."

Detailed casualty lists have not been received, the Navy said, but next of kin of casualties will be notified immediately on receipt of information.

The bombing raid on Attu, taken from the Japanese late in May, was the first carried out since American occupation of that little island on the tip of the Aleutians chain.

The Japanese bombers flew over Kagasaki Bay at a great height, the Navy reported. Their bombs were dropped without causing damage.

American fighting pilots flew up to intercept the bombers and they were driven off. No planes were shot down in the engagement.

The Japanese bombers presumably came from the enemy base on Paramushiru at the northern end of the Kurile island chain 630 miles from Attu. It was assumed that the bombing was an attempt to halt American attacks on the Paramushiru base, largest Japanese installation in the North Pacific.

MRS. ROOSEVELT TOOK ADVICE OF MACARTHUR ON NEW GUINEA

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14 (AP).—Gen. MacArthur told Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt that she would be "more of a bother than a pleasure" if she included New Guinea on her itinerary of her South Pacific trip, she said yesterday.

"I was very sorry I couldn't go to New Guinea but it was the time of the Lee campaign and Gen. MacArthur said I probably would be more of a bother than a pleasure," she explained at a press conference.

FRENCH RECALL 'STAB IN BACK,' REMAIN HOSTILE TOWARD ITALY

Cites Fables of Merchant Who Ousted Manager, Reopened With Sign: 'Daggers With Interchangeable Blades.'

ALGERS, Oct. 14 (AP).—The French North African press generally has developed an unfriendly tone toward Italy in its new role of co-belligerent.

Today's editorials, in substance, took the attitude that regardless of the status the Allies may accord Italy, Frenchmen cannot forget "the stab in the back" of June, 1940, when Benito Mussolini's government declared war on France as it reeled under German blows.

Rene Janon, writing in the Derrieres Nouvelles, expressed the French attitude in the form of a fable:

"Once upon a time a certain exalted man kept a store in Rome under the sign 'Grand Fascist Cutlery Shop'."

"In a fit of semi-lunacy, he plunged a dagger between the shoulders of one of his neighbors. The blade went so deeply that it remained in the body of the victim who was gravely though not mortally wounded."

"Daggers Our Specialty."

"Some years later, following a memorable failure, our Roman cutlery dealer, holding his manager alone responsible for all his misfortunes, threw him out and left Rome for Palermo where he opened a new shop bearing this sign: 'Grand Anti-Fascist Cutlery Shop. Daggers with interchangeable blades and reversible handles our specialty.'"

"He was even clever enough to get the business of the best friends of the neighbor whom he had all but assassinated and who had slowly convalesced to comment."

"The wounded man said: 'He seems to have forgotten what he did to me. But how can I extend my hand to him? When I try to do so the blade of his dagger still in my body tears my flesh.'"

"L'Echo d'Alger, in a scornful editorial, quoted Machiavelli as saying: 'There is no case in history where the House of Savoy ended a war with an ally at whose side it began it, except when it had time enough to change camps twice during the same war.'"

No Comment by Committee.

Officially the French Committee of National Liberation was silent. Information Commissioner Henri Bonnet declined to comment.

Unofficially, a belief was expressed that the Allies' acceptance of the Badoglio government as a co-belligerent would have an adverse effect on French underground groups especially in Southern France, where the Italian occupation following "the stab in the back" was most keenly felt.

Some French here are asserting that the United States and Britain are treating the Italian situation and say—without much foundation—that North Africa is to be drained of food and resources to help the Italians.

Acknowledging the expediency of the action, one source said Frenchmen could not help complaining it with the recognition by the Allies of the late Admiral Jean Darlan.

(Don Hollenback, National Broadcasting Co. reporter in Algiers, said the committee was not consulted during the negotiations leading to the Italian declaration "on the reasonable ground that the French would object and have to be overruled.")

Only Deeds Can Redeem Italy, Is London Attitude.

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP).—Italy's former misdeeds remained strongly alive today despite the Badoglio government's declaration of war against Germany and most unofficial quarters appeared to have adopted an attitude of wait-and-see. Any idea that the change of sides had made Italy one of the United Nations or a full-fledged ally was discouraged.

The Daily Mail summed it up: "Actions will count. . . . The terms to defeated Italy can only be adjusted in the light of the assistance which she gives us. . . . put it another way—Italy will be punished for her misdeeds, but she may obtain remission for good conduct."

The provisional committee of directors of the Italian Socialist party in London was frankly antagonistic. The committee labeled the Badoglio government "an imposition" and demanded that the Italians be allowed to choose their own government now.

"Consequences of Measure Irrelevant," Berlin Radio Says.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP).—The German news agency DNE, commenting on the Italian declaration of war against Germany, in a broadcast recorded here, said that the "practical consequences of this measure are irrelevant." It added: "In actual fact, for weeks, individuals subservient to the Anglo-Americans have been fighting against German troops in Italy."

The dispatch said that Berlin had received the news "with understandable irony," but had described it as "interesting" that the Badoglio circle had been recognized as a co-belligerent power not only by Britain and the United States but also by the Soviet Union. It concluded: "Thus Soviet Russia's influence in spheres of interest other than her own has been officially documented."

5 St. Louisans Took Part in Raid That Devastated Japanese Base

East St. Louisan and Number of Missouri Flyers Also Participated in Gigantic Blow at Rabaul.

By WILLARD C. HAHN
A War Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1943, by the Pulitzer Publishing Co.)

SOMEWHERE IN THE GULF OF TONKIN, Oct. 12 (Delayed).—Five St. Louisans, an East St. Louisan, and a number of others from Missouri took part in Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney's Fifth Air Force smash at the Japanese-held base at Rabaul this morning. The St. Louisans were:

Lt. Albert Zonnis, 5793 Westminster place.
Francis W. Sheahan, 1322 Sidney street.
Robert C. Wack, 5646 Cates avenue.

James M. Donnelly, 4114 Warner avenue.

Staff Sgt. Lloyd J. Johnston, 4A East Main street, Festus, Mo., who was a Liberator on this raid, said:

"We took off early in the morning, rendezvoused, and were over the target about noon. When we reached the harbor we saw a great smoke pall. B-24s had knocked out a lot of ack-ack positions and in addition had started conflagrations on the shore installations, so ack-ack fire did little damage to our big bombers. We made our run across the harbor, which was dotted with ships, and dropped our bombs on a tender. We made a number of near misses which shot a geyser of water all over the vessel. Several of our bombs hit near a small war vessel of about destroyer size."

"I had left my radio while we were over the target area and stood beside my gun; we saw two Zeros, but they refused to attack and were chased away by P-38s."

"I looked back when we straightened out for home and saw pillars of black smoke rising from Rabaul obscuring the entire town and dock area. Great mounds of water and fountains of spray were rising from the flat expanse of the harbor—they were thousand-pounders. Flying planes falling all around Tojo's ships."

Johnston, who was a radio service repair man before joining the Army Air Force, has been a radio-man and gunner aboard Liberators since his arrival in New Guinea four months ago.

Missouri men on the raid, in addition to the St. Louisans named, were:

Robertson (first name garbled in transmission) Holtcomb; Robert P. Mueller, Columbia; David W. Howell, Joplin; Staff Sgt. Kenneth L. Natus, Cassville; Andrew W. Labadie, Clinton; Kenneth W. Hayden, Center; Earl W. Volmer, Craig; Birch L. Petering, Concordia; Edgar E. Bate, Chillicothe; and Paul R. Ellis, Portageville.

Technical Sgt. John R. Seper, 828 Michigan avenue, East St. Louis, also took part in the raid.

Soldan High Graduate Was Navigator for Liberator.

Lt. Zonnis, 24 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Zonnis, 5793 Westminster place, was navigator of the Liberator bomber "Jolly Roger." He is a graduate of Soldan High School and entered the service in July, 1941. He completed his training at Coral Gables, Fla., and went overseas last June.

Sgt. Ryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Ryan, 4401 Forest Park boulevard, was a radio man on a Liberator. He is a graduate of St. Louis University High School. Sgt. Ryan took his training at Scott Field. He entered the service in February, 1941, and went to the South Pacific last June. He is 25 years old.

Sgt. Robert C. Wack, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wack, 5646 Cates avenue, was flight engineer on a Liberator. A graduate of Hadley Technical High School, Sgt. Wack, 25 years old, was employed by the Freder-Davis Construction Co. before entering the Air Corps in June, 1942. He has five brothers in the armed forces and went overseas in July.

Sgt. John R. Seper, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Seper, 828 Michigan avenue, East St. Louis, was crew chief technician of a Liberator bomber piloted by Col. Arthur H. Rogers of Greenville, S. C., which hit two Japanese warships and possibly four besides shooting down three of a squadron of attacking Zeros in the attack on Rabaul, New Britain Tuesday.

His airplane and crew were featured in an article in the Sept. 4 issue of the Saturday Evening Post having been on 10 missions with five Japanese planes downed. Sgt. Seper, 22 years old, has a wife at Carondelet, Ill., and a 10-month-old baby daughter he has never seen. He is a graduate of Cleveland High School, East St. Louis, and took his aviation training at Chanute Field.

Eyewitness Story of Rabaul Raid: Japs in Frenzy as Blow Falls

(The following eyewitness account of Tuesday's big air raid against Rabaul, New Britain, was dispatched to the New York Times by its staff correspondent, Frank L. Kluckhohn. It was made available to the Associated Press after the bomber carrying Correspondent William F. Boni was forced to turn back.)

By FRANK L. KLUCKHOHN
New York Times Correspondent.

ABOARD A BOMBER, OVER RABAU, Oct. 12 (Delayed).—Far below us ships are bursting into flames or leaving white wakes as they circle frantically. A pall of black and pinkish gray smoke dims the wide area of airfields and installations where waves of United States medium bombers strafed earlier.

A big salvo of 1000-pound bombs has lifted a large vessel from the water, covering it with spray and smoke. Docks are being blasted from existence.

Black puffs of ack-ack appear frantically far off from us. Yellow gun flashes from a warship break along her whole length.

This is the greatest blow yet struck anywhere in the Pacific, with hundreds of planes, heavy bombers, medium bombers and swarms of fighters pounding the harbor, airfields and gun installations at this north end of New Britain Island, which is the anchor of the Japanese position in the Southwest Pacific and South Pacific.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur had scraped together and had repaired every Liberator, Flying Fortress, Mitchell and Boston he could lay hands on for this powerful assault. Some Royal Air Force bombers were employed for special attack.

Mediums Strafe Fields.

Before many squadrons of Liberators arrived over the target, mediums, large Mitchells, with a heavy fighter escort, had strafed airfields and gun positions at a perilously low level. Brightly burning planes, particularly around the edge of one leading airfield within our vision, bear witness to the fact that scores of enemy planes were destroyed on the ground.

Now we are drilling over our target, the harbor, in banked echelon. The American emblem is gleaming on the wings and the Japanese below are in an obvious frenzy.

Several enemy destroyers are running in circles, weaving white wakes. Some big transports are running in all directions. One dock is vanishing and a ship moored there is listing.

Obviously this is not as important affair as Pearl Harbor by a long way, but probably every man hidden behind an oxygen mask in these American planes filling the sky feels a glow of satisfaction in seeing the Japanese on the receiving end of this great surprise attack, knowing the Japanese are dismayed as flock after flock of heavy bombers string to the harbor.

Heavy guns are following us as we make our run in. Shells explode above and below us. Now our bombs are away and we watch them hit between two vessels, probably getting on the target.

This is like a colored motion picture of destruction, but because our earphones are on it is a silent one. From our plane we can see five good-sized ships casting up black smoke. Now we see strings of bombs are landing on ship that seems to puff from our view.

There is a startling contrast between its green-rimmed harbor with its wooded peninsula, lazy white clouds on the horizon and seemingly peaceful town of Rabaul. But it is the principal enemy garrison town in this whole area and the destruction had to be wrought. From our height it seems unreal. No one would suggest that this compares with the mass air attacks in Europe, but it is highly dramatic and—unlike the big Rome raid, for instance, where cultural treasures had to be considered—we are trying to eliminate every enemy thing we can.

RAID PLANNED MONTHS AHEAD

By WILLIAM F. BONI
SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Oct. 12 (Delayed) (AP).

The order of the day to the United States Army Fifth Air Force heavy bombardment units for the raid on the Japanese base at Rabaul on New Britain today condensed entire pages and months of planning into one sentence.

"With all available planes attack and destroy shipping in Simpson Harbor (Rabaul) on 12 October, 1943," said the sentence which touched off the largest single air operation ever carried off in the Southwest Pacific.

After a breakfast of fried eggs, bread, jam and coffee, officers and enlisted men who were to make the raid dropped through predawn darkness to the briefing room for their final instructions.

It was a grim, impressive performance and a noteworthy sight to watch these youngsters listening to the explanation of dangers they were about to face.

It had been quite a build-up, and it remained dramatic as Maj. Dan Cromer of Lakeland, Fla., drove me to the bivouac in a jeep. As ground crews wished us good luck, we piled aboard a Liberator.

But for all the drama, we didn't reach Rabaul. Six hours after the takeoff Barnes eased the plane back on the strip, our load of 1000-pound bombs still intact. Less than an hour from the target the supercharger on No. 1 engine conked out and we were unable to maintain altitude, which even then was 6000 feet below that at which we were scheduled to make the bombing run.

TAYLOR, ENVOY TO VATICAN, HAS NO FEAR OF POPE'S SAFETY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—Myron Taylor, President Roosevelt's envoy to the Vatican, said today he had no fears for the safety of the Pope. Asked after a conference with the Chief Executive, whether he had any such fears, Taylor replied:

"No. I want to believe that. I can't imagine even a German interfering with the Pope." Taylor declined to disclose the purpose of his appointment with Roosevelt.

3 IN ARGENTINE CABINET QUIT OVER NEUTRALITY ISSUE

Ministers Who Resigned Said to Favor Break With Axis—Crisis for Ramirez.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 14 (AP).—The government of Gen. Pedro Ramirez has accepted the resignations of three cabinet members, all regarded as favoring a break with the Axis. An official announcement last night said unity of the Government would not be affected by the resignations.

Argentina still maintains relations with Germany, the only Latin-American nation to do so. The Government's foreign policy has been a bitterly debated issue in secret cabinet meetings and in the press.

Demonstrators shouting "Neutrality, jammed the Calle Florida, one of this city's main thoroughfares, a block from the United States Embassy. Norman Armour, United States Ambassador to Argentina, returned yesterday from a visit to Washington. Police used tear gas to halt the demonstration and arrested more than 20 persons.

The demonstrators distributed leaflets, one of which declared that "neutrality is in danger because powerful enemies of the country are conspiring to crush it—rupture is treason."

Cabinet members who resigned were Jorge Santa Marina, minister of finance; Brig. Gen. Elbio Anaya, minister of justice and public education; and Vice-Adm. Ismael Galland, minister of public works.

Their withdrawals confronted the Ramirez government with probably its most serious crisis since it assumed power through the June 4 revolution.

A Montevideo dispatch said the newspaper El Diario quoted private reports from Buenos Aires as saying the full cabinet had quit. Two other Montevideo newspapers, La Manana and El Pais had quoted private telephone reports from Buenos Aires as saying three cabinet members resigned two days ago. El Diario said this provoked a crisis which led the others to walk out.

GERMAN CONVOY ATTACKED

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP).—British submarines and torpedo planes attacked a German convoy off northern Norway yesterday but failed to inflict any damage, the Berlin radio said today.

There was no immediate report of any such engagement from British sources.

MOST OF ITALIAN ARMY IS IN AREA HELD BY GERMANS

Stimson, Discussing Value to Allies, Also Says Many Units Have Been Disarmed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—Acceptance of Italy as a co-belligerent probably will have an important bearing on the war against Germany, Secretary of War Stimson said today, but it is too early to assess the value of Italian participation.

At a news conference, Stimson noted that the bulk of the Italian Navy already had joined the Allied forces in the Mediterranean, but offered no suggestion of its potential usefulness as a combat force. The bulk of the Italian Army, he continued, is in German-occupied territory, and a great many units have been disarmed. Some are prisoners of the Germans, but at least a few are fighting the Nazis.

Sabotage, Partisan Fighting. Italian civilians in the part of Italy still held by German forces, Stimson said, already are co-operating with the Allies in many ways, and their sabotage and partisan warfare have been "very annoying" to the Nazis.

King Vittorio Emanuele and his Premier, Marshal Badoglio, have appealed to the Italian people to redouble their efforts to expel German troops from Italian soil, Stimson said, and "it is reasonable to expect that important aid will thus be rendered to our cause."

Washington interpreted the Badoglio declaration of war against Germany as the start of a "bandwagon" movement that could leave the Nazis completely isolated and internally shaken.

Congressional Comment

Typical of congressional comments were these: Senator McKellar (Dem., Tennessee)—"I'm not surprised, and I expect others will want to get on the bandwagon soon."

Representative Martin of Massachusetts, Republican floor leader—"The declaration should speed up the winning of the war against Germany."

Representative Bolton (Rep., Ohio)—"The psychological effect on German morale should be terrific."

Italian co-belligerency with the United Nations is accepted on all sides as a powerful propaganda weapon, with the most immediate effects expected in the Balkans. These small nations, already stirred by Italy's surrender and by the valiant campaign of Yugoslavians, patriots, may require only the latest Italian action to bring them

Latin Union Organized to Fight Fascism in Italy, Spain and France

Members Pledged to Work for Democratic Co-operation—Sforza Heads Italian Group—De Gaulle's Acceptance Awaited.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—Representatives of France, Italy and republican Spain have formed a "Latin Union" to fight Fascists in their own countries as soon as the Nazis are pushed out.

Count Carlo Sforza, reported on his way to Italy to work with Marshal Badoglio in the battle against Italy's newly declared enemy—Germany—is Italian president of the union.

General Charles de Gaulle, co-president of the French Committee for National Liberation, has been invited to be French president but has not yet accepted.

Asked to state the purpose of the union, Lionello Venturi, one of the Italian founders, declared, "we are opposed by the Nazis and the local Fascists, so we must organize to fight the local Fascists when the Nazis are shoved out. We must associate together to understand each other and bring our countries to a mutual understanding."

He added that the "Latin Union" is not a union of the three countries, but a drive toward co-operation in the battle for democracy.

There are 16 founders representing the three Latin countries on the Mediterranean and several South American countries, Venturi said.

Sforza and Gaetano Salvemini, Harvard professor and noted anti-Fascist, are among the Italian sponsors.

Among the French are Henri Laugier, rector of the University of Algiers, and Jacques Hadamard, French philosopher.

Spaniards, all of whom served in the Republican Government, include Alvarez del Vayo, Minister of Foreign Affairs, Enrique Rios, Minister of Justice, and Fernando de los Rios, Ambassador to the United States.

Venturi, speaking from New York, said the group would issue a formal statement of its plans there tomorrow.

U. S. GROUP GAINS CONTROL OF CENTRAL AMERICAN AIR LINE

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP).—The TACA Airlines in Central America today came under the added significance with Italy's declaration of war on Marshal Badoglio's promise that his government would be broadened to include all Italian political parties.

Both Badoglio's proclamation and the statement by President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin assured the Italian people that they would have a chance to choose a new government democratically as soon as the Nazis are ejected from Italy.

Washington spokesmen for the French, who did not join in the allied message on Italy, had no comment on why the Algiers committee did not participate.

However, if de Gaulle joins with Sforza in the Latin Union, it would indicate a new trend toward Mediterranean solidarity.

De Gaulle's speech at Ajaccio, Corsica, recently was considered pertinent in this light. He said that when justice is done, the French will bear no bitterness toward the Italian people and that the two countries should work together for mutual benefit.

Liberal Says Badoglio Cannot Win Democratic Co-Operation

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP).—Col. Randolph Pacciardi, a leader of the Italian Democratic Movement, said yesterday that, despite the Italian Government's declaration of war against Germany, "there could never be co-operation between Italian democrats and the Badoglio Government."

Pacciardi, an associate of Count Carlo Sforza, noted Italian anti-Fascist now in London en route to Italy, said during a press conference that a statement by Sforza which was to have been made public by the Free World Association had been delayed "in order that revisions might be made in London."

Pacciardi said he is a member of the association's executive board. He spoke for the Italian liberals throughout the world.

financial control of a United States group including Transcontinental & Western Air, Inc., Time, Inc., headed by Henry Luce, the Adams Express Co. and a New York investment trust.

Henry Kaiser, West Coast shipbuilder and aviation enthusiast, and Howard Hughes, rich oil toolmaker and movie magnate, were reported also to be interested in the deal through financial holdings in T. W. A. by Hughes.

Purchase of the important Latin American line, which was built up by Lowell Yerex, a New Zealander, famous for his jungle exploits, was confirmed by T. W. A. officers here.

ALLIED CAPTURE OF NEW AEGEAN ISLES REPORTED

British Said to Have Taken Some of the Cyclades, Above Nazi-held Crete.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP).—Allied troops were reported in a National Broadcasting Co. broadcast from Ankara last night to have captured some of the Cyclades, Greek islands in the Aegean north of German-held Crete. Allied quarters in London withheld comment on the report.

Unconfirmed reports from Istanbul last week said British forces had landed on some of the islands and the new report indicates the footholds have been made secure.

The islands have air bases and port facilities for submarines and small shipping. Fighter planes based there could range both to Crete and far over Greece.

NAZIS RETREATING, YUGOSLAVS REPORT

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP).—Strong German forces attempting to storm the town of Tuzla, industrial center dominating the plain leading to Belgrade, have been beaten back and are retreating westward toward Doboj, a commune of the Yugoslav national liberation army, broadcast by the free Yugoslav radio, said today.

Repulse of Nazi forces which for the past several days have been battling for this strategic strong point, followed by a few hours the announcement by Drug Tuzla headquarters that the entire Italian Venezia division, until recently fighting with the Germans, had come over to the Yugoslav cause.

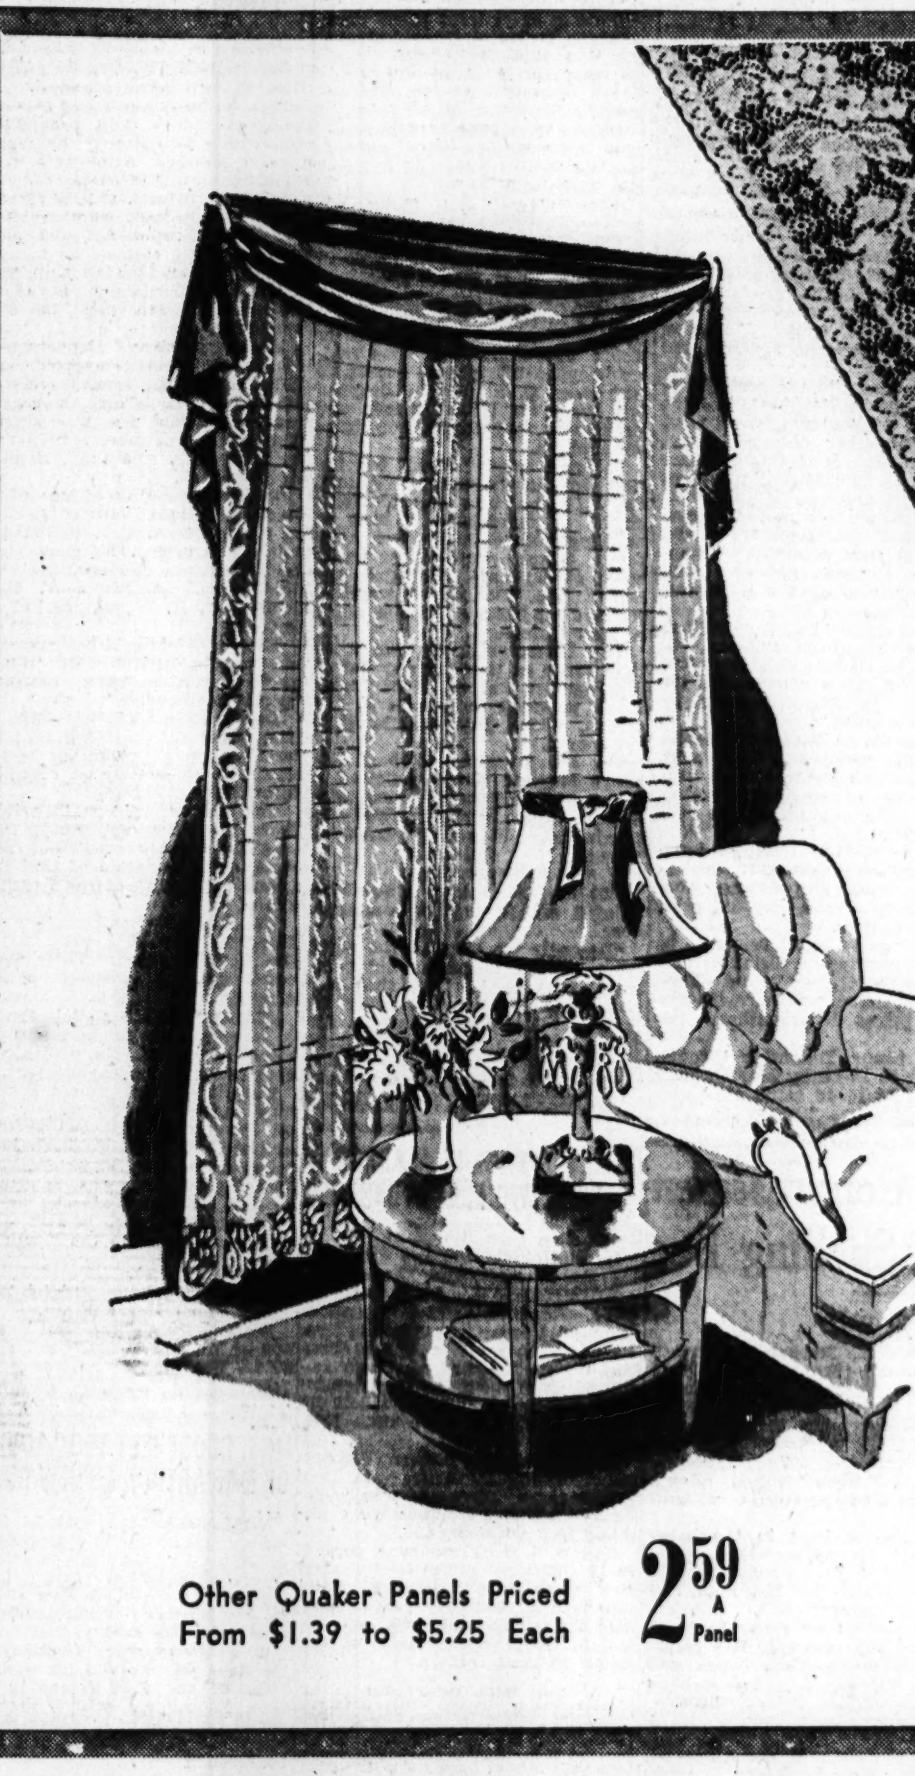

At the same time, however, Tito declared that the Chetnik forces of Gen. Draza Mihailovic, King Peter's field commander, and war minister, were arrayed with the Germans against the Partisan forces of liberation.

Today's communique said that bitter but inconclusive fighting between Partisan columns and German forces was raging around the cities of Ogulin, Karlovac and Zagreb in Croatia; Sibenik, Zara and Imotski in Dalmatia and along main railway arteries in Slovenia and on the Istrian peninsula.

COAL DEALERS ASK CITY TO MODIFY SMOKE ORDINANCE

Higher - Volatile Fuel Would Open New Markets, Ease Shortage, Aldermen Are Told.

WARN EARLY COLD MEANS SUFFERING

Estimate 50 Pct. of Homes Are Not Supplied—Tell of Inability to Get Smokeless Type.

A group of coal dealers, members of the Authorized Fuel Dealers Association, recommended to the special Coal Committee of the Board of Aldermen yesterday modification of the city's smoke ordinance to permit the use of coal containing a higher percentage of volatile matter than is now permitted, to make available additional fuel to meet the present shortage of smokeless coal here.

The dealers strongly urged that the ordinance be relaxed for the duration of the war, suggesting that the permissible content of volatile matter of coal used for hand firing be increased from 23 per cent, the present maximum, to 25 or 26 per cent.

This modification, they said, would open the St. Louis market to about 35 Virginia and West Virginia mines, whose coal is now barred from the city because its volatile content is just above the maximum permitted under the law.

Warn of Crisis. The dealers told the committee that the city was facing a serious coal crisis, and some asserted that if cold weather should set in within the next few weeks there would be considerable suffering. It was estimated that more than 50 per cent of the homes were without any coal or had only a negligible supply on hand.

The dealers complained bitterly that they had been unable to obtain shipments of smokeless coal from the Eastern fields, and asserted they had hundreds of unfilled orders from domestic consumers. They said the group which would probably suffer the most, unless new sources of coal were made available, are the consumers of basket and package coal.

Henry J. Borgmann, president of the Authorized Fuel Dealers' Association, told the committee the shortage was forcing small dealers out of business, creating the additional problem of a shortage of dealers to deliver coal whenever it is received.

Other dealers asserted that the large coal jobbers were "putting the squeeze on the little fellows" by selling their limited shipments only to larger distributors. George W. Curran, member of the association, declared the smoke ordinance was creating a coal monopoly in St. Louis, and said one large firm had bought most of the coal from the Arkansas and Oklahoma fields.

Must Step Up Deliveries. Curran estimated 1,250,000 tons of smokeless coal would be required this winter in St. Louis and suburban areas having smoke ordinances and that only 400,000 tons had been stored in basements so far, leaving 850,000 tons to be supplied during the next five months.

Deliveries during the seven-month period beginning last March were at the rate of 54,000 tons a month, and they must be stepped up to 170,000 tons a month in order to fully meet the needs, he said.

The only speaker to oppose relaxation of the ordinance was Louis J. Horen, president of the St. Louis Fuel Dealers' Association, who urged no change be made which might disrupt the present sources of smokeless fuel. He suggested the city urge citizens to burn mine run coal, which, he said, is available and can be used successfully if properly fired.

U. S. MILK SUBSIDY IN ST. LOUIS DISTRICT RECEIVES SILVER STAR

Payment to Offset Rise in Feed Costs and Encourage Production.

Milk producers in the St. Louis marketing area will receive a Government subsidy of 35 cents a 100 pounds of whole milk and 4 cents a pound of butter fat produced during October, November and December to offset increased dairy feed costs, the War Food Administration announced today in an effort to encourage greater production of milk for war needs.

At the same time the St. Louis Dairy Co. received permission from Dr. Joseph F. Breckin, City Health Commissioner, to sell grade C milk in bulk, solely for cooking purposes, for 30 days.

There are 60 Missouri and Illinois counties in the St. Louis milkshed.

The WFA program is national in scope, and is expected to cost 65 million dollars for the three-month period.

Payments will be made by draft direct to dairymen upon submission to County AAA committees of satisfactory evidence of the quantity of milk or butterfat sold.

There has been an increase of 25 to 30 per cent in feed costs since September, 1942. The milk output has been dropping below last year's national level, and the subsidy program was resorted to under the terms of the Price Control Act of 1942.

The St. Louis Dairy Co. was the local dairy to receive permission to sell grade C milk in bulk, the Pevely Dairy Co. having received its authorization for sale of Grade C in bottles Tuesday.

Sale of Grade C milk by-products including butterfat, chocolate milk and cream, by the Pevely Co. was authorized last week.

The St. Louis Dairy Co. was authorized to sell Grade C milk in cans for cooking purposes to large consumers such as restaurants and institutions. Like the Pevely Co., the St. Louis Dairy Co. has just been deprived of sources of supply in the Chicago area.

Australia to Get Spitfires and British Pilots for Them. CANBERRA, Australia, Oct. 14 (AP).—British Spitfire fighter planes of the latest type have been ordered to Australia as further proof of Britain's determination to bring about the downfall of Japan at the earliest possible moment, Foreign Minister Herbert V. Evatt told parliament today.

Reviewing his recent mission to the United States and Britain and his consultation with Prime Minister Churchill, Evatt quoted Churchill as saying: "It is only a small installment of what ultimately will be forthcoming from Britain for the purpose of crushing Japan."

The Spitfires will be manned by British personnel.

Evatt said President Roosevelt's decision to assign more United States combat aircraft for use of the Royal Australian Air Force already was being implemented in relation to 1943 deliveries.

PLEA FOR UNITY ON POSTWAR PLAN MADE BY MAYOR

Question Whether Group Should Work as Association or Committee Considered.

The question of whether the Metropolitan St. Louis Public Works Plan Association should continue as an association or revert to the status of a committee as it was set up by the late Mayor William De Becker was referred to the organization's executive committee yesterday after a plea for unity was made by Mayor A. F. Kaufmann.

The Association was formed at the September meeting of the group, leading to the resignation last week of E. E. Pershall, its president, and Roy Jablonsky, a member, who opposed formation of the association on the ground they feared it would subordinate the primary purpose of the group—planning for the immediate postwar period—in favor of a long-range program. Neither Pershall nor Jablonsky was at the meeting, held at the Mayfair Hotel, and no action was taken on their resignations.

Following the Mayor's speech and a threat by Mayor Alfred H. Kerth of Clayton, president of the St. Louis County League of Municipalities, to withdraw because the members of the League oppose the Association idea, the group voted unanimously to have the Executive Committee give the matter further consideration and "confer with Kerth and others who have a misapprehension of what we are driving at."

Association or Committee. Mayor Kaufmann stated no preference between an association and a committee form of organization, but declared that "unless everybody works in harmony and complete accord, the purpose of the group may be defeated."

"I realize the need for speed," he continued, "but you have lost two very important members of the organization, and that is something to stop and consider. Perhaps my fears are unfounded, but I don't want you to lose anybody else. I can't see any way you can go together."

George O. Carpenter, chairman of the Civic Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, who presided as vice-president, said, "It is inconceivable that the form of organization makes any difference, but if a change back to a committee will make for further harmony, let's go ahead with it."

Reasons for Opposition. Kerth explained to the Post-Dispatch reporter that the principal reasons for opposition by the League of Municipalities were, first that its members felt the immediate job as a committee and leave formation of a permanent association to a later date; secondly that governmental units which are without either legal authority or the funds to pay dues to the association would be barred from membership. He said the league members "feel the group's work should be financed through voluntary contributions."

The group approved names submitted by the Executive Committee for three limited-access highways into St. Louis, announced recently by the Missouri State Highway Department; a loop, possibly elevated, around downtown St. Louis over Chouteau avenue, Third street, Cass avenue and a new artery between Eighteenth street and Jefferson avenue; continuations of Skinner boulevard both north and south; a new north-south highway in St. Louis County midway between the city limits and Lindbergh boulevard; a new north-south link on the East Side, north from National City, and another south through Monsanto to Dupont; the relocation of Highway 13 past Belleville to the Scott Field area, and a new route northwest from the Tri-Cities area toward Chicago, replacing the present Highway 66.

George Tilton, representative of the Advertising Club of St. Louis, was named chairman of the Research Committee, with the following members: Martin P. Walsh, C. E. Jenks, A. P. Greenfelder, Roy S. Rauschkob, Alfred Kojetinsky, J. E. Travis, Earl C. Giraldo and Kerth.

On the Evaluation Committee are Lon Hocker Jr., chairman of the City Plan Commission; chairman; Ross Bowles, G. W. Hoelscher, Joseph P. Clark, H. A. Kluge.

Colman was reduced from Colonel to Captain after a court-martial had convicted him of the careless use of firearms and on four counts of drunkenness. Later, Stimson announced that Colman's case had been turned over to the board. If the board so recommends, Colman would be put on the retired list.

ERIC JOHNSTON NOT CANDIDATE. FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 14 (AP).—Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday he was not a candidate for any public office. Johnston, in response to a telegram suggesting he could win the republican presidential nomination, said in an interview: "I am not a candidate for any public office. I do not want to live at either end of Pennsylvania avenue. I prefer to live at either end of Main street of any good American town."

BRITISH TO BUILD AIR LINER 5 TIMES AS BIG AS CLIPPER

Plane Expected to Carry 150 Persons Across Atlantic at $200 Fares.

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP).—The Ministry of Aircraft Production has authorized the spare-time construction of a 130-ton "Queen Mary" of the skies for trans-Atlantic service by the Bristol Aeroplane Co., which builds the Blenheim, the Beaufort and Beaufighter warplanes.

An article in London Calling, a British Broadcasting Corporation publication, said the plane would be "revolutionary in many ways—in structure, motive power and even shape."

Most details are secret, but some information was passed by the censor. The aircraft's special motors will total 20,000 horse power. The plane will have a cruising speed of about 250 miles an hour and is expected to carry 150 passengers across the Atlantic for about $200 a person.

The Boeing 314-A trans-oceanic flying boat, among the largest passenger planes now in use, weighs a little more than 24 tons and has four motors totaling 6,400 horse power. The Clipper carries a crew of 11 and 68 passengers in daytime and can accommodate 36 "sleeping passengers." Its normal cruising speed is 185 miles per hour.

O P A SETS TANK WAGON PRICES FOR STOVE OIL AT PLANTS HERE. WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—The Office of Price Administration today set specific maximum tank wagon prices for range, stove and heater oil at the bulk plant points of St. Louis and East St. Louis, and the circuit points and rural territories served by these plants.

Representing prevailing levels of Oct. 1, 1941, the ceilings are 8.9 cents a gallon for sales less than 25 gallons, 8.3 cents for sales of 25 gallons to 99 gallons, and 7.9 cents for quantities of 100 gallons or over.

The maximums, effective Oct. 20, include the 0.3 cent a gallon allowed tank wagon sellers.

CHARGE OF RESISTING ARREST AGAINST DR. C. C. KANE DROPPED. An information charging Dr. Clifford Cyrus Kane of East St. Louis, Coroner of St. Clair County, with resisting arrest when two St. Louis detectives seized him in an automobile parked in the 300 block of Olive street early Oct. 4, was dismissed today by Associate City Counselor Roy A. Fish in Police Court where the case had been set for hearing before Judge Joseph B. Catanzaro.

Fish said that he found no evidence that Dr. Kane had resisted arrest. Russell J. Kettler, one of the detectives, told Fish that Dr. Kane had refused to give his name or show his Selective Service registration card upon his demand.

B. C. McCurdy and H. A. O'Rourke. Harry F. Thomson, chairman of the Highway Program Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, presented a brief outline of a regional highway plan. This program has been worked out over the past two years, he said, with State, county and municipal officials of Missouri and Illinois, and will be presented in detail, after adoption, to the Plan Association.

Principal features of the tentative plan are the $100,000,000 program for three limited-access highways into St. Louis, announced recently by the Missouri State Highway Department; a loop, possibly elevated, around downtown St. Louis over Chouteau avenue, Third street, Cass avenue and a new artery between Eighteenth street and Jefferson avenue; continuations of Skinner boulevard both north and south; a new north-south highway in St. Louis County midway between the city limits and Lindbergh boulevard; a new north-south link on the East Side, north from National City, and another south through Monsanto to Dupont; the relocation of Highway 13 past Belleville to the Scott Field area, and a new route northwest from the Tri-Cities area toward Chicago, replacing the present Highway 66.

Col. Joseph Leedom, acting director of the Seventh Civilian Defense Region, will confer Friday morning at Clayton with members of the St. Louis County Civilian Defense Council about their complaint that St. Louis County has received no civilian defense equipment because OGD officials in Washington have ruled it is not a "target area."

A requisition for equipment, such as that furnished St. Louis OGD workers—auxiliary fire fighting equipment, helmets, gas masks and first aid pouches—has been on file in Washington for months but no action has been taken, Roy Jablonsky, secretary of the County Defense Council, said.

"St. Louis was apparently classed as a target area, but the county was not," Jablonsky said. "I don't know how the officials in Washington were able to separate where the target began or ended, or how they ignored, as being target areas, county communities containing so many large manufacturing plants engaged in war work." J. E. Auckley, chief air raid warden of County District Two, recently went to Omaha, Neb., to complain about lack of equipment. Col. Leedom was assigned to come here to investigate the complaint.

GRASSWICK FACES NEW CHARGE OVER ESCAPE AT PRISON

He and 3 Other Reformatory Inmates to Be Accused of Armed Robbery in Truck Theft.

William Ralph Grasswick and three companions who were recaptured yesterday several hours after their break for freedom from the Boonville Reformatory, where Grasswick was serving a 10-year sentence for the murder of his stepfather, Joseph (Buck) Newell, face new charges of armed robbery.

Wilbur F. Daniels, Howard County prosecutor, said he would file robbery charges today against the four, following their admission that they drove off in the truck of W. L. Cappers, Rochester farmer, after forcing Cappers, his wife and daughter out at the point of a sawed-off shotgun. The penalty for armed robbery ranges from five years in prison to death.

Grasswick's companions in the escape were Bennett James Haskins, 17 years old, of Cleveland, O., who was serving four years for grand larceny; Charles Farrell Malone, 16, of Franklin County, serving five years for burglary, and Francis Follis, 16, of New Madrid County, serving two years. Haskins was one of five prisoners who escaped last spring from the State Penitentiary, where he was awaiting transfer to Boonville.

The four youths fled in a reformatory dump truck in which they were driving from the garage to the quarry without guards. They abandoned the truck in a field about 10 miles southeast of Fayette and walked to the nearby farmhouse of Sidney Thompson, where, finding no one home, they stole some clothing and a double-barreled shotgun. Grasswick said they saw the barrels short with a meat saw.

After stealing Cappers' truck, they drove east towards Columbia. The truck went into a ditch about 12 miles west of Columbia and the four set out on foot again. They were captured in a field near Highway 40 by three Columbia policemen and two reformatory guards, who fired several shots. No resistance was offered.

Miss Mary Newell, sister of "Buck" Newell, who hired a special prosecutor for Grasswick's trial last month, had asked police protection yesterday, saying she feared he would seek to harm her.

TO DISCUSS CIVILIAN DEFENSE EQUIPMENT FOR COUNTY. Col. A requisition for equipment, such as that furnished St. Louis OGD workers—auxiliary fire fighting equipment, helmets, gas masks and first aid pouches—has been on file in Washington for months but no action has been taken, Roy Jablonsky, secretary of the County Defense Council, said.

Sues Actor

SHIRLEY EVANS HASSAU

ERROL FLYNN SUED ON PATERNITY CHARGE

Third Morals Case Involving Actor—Woman Asserts He Is Father of Daughter, 2.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14 (AP).—For the third time, Errol Flynn of the movies is facing an allegation of misconduct with a teen-age girl. Shirley Evans Hassau, Los Angeles housewife, alleges in a civil action that the actor is the father of her 2-year-old daughter, born Nov. 13, 1940, and whom she has named Marilyn Evans Flynn.

Back from a two-day location trip today, Flynn asserted: "The facts speak for themselves. I'll fight a suit of this kind to the bitter end before I'll make any payoff to avoid unpleasant publicity."

Last February Flynn was acquitted by a jury of charges brought by Peggy LaRue Satterlee, showgirl, who was 16 years old, and Betty Hansen, formerly of Lincoln, Neb., who was then 17, after he was the witness stand and emphatically denied the accusations.

In regard to Mrs. Hassau's suit, demanding $1750 monthly support for her child, $5000 for medical care, $10,000 attorney's fees and $2000 court costs, the actor's attorney, Robert Ford, stated: "Anybody who has a filing fee can sue anyone for anything, but it is another thing to prove the charges. Mr. Flynn absolutely denies her charges."

Mrs. Hassau, 21, who was married last April to Henry Hassau, orchestra singer, alleged in her suit filed yesterday that she met Flynn in a night club in February, 1940, when she was 18, and that he subsequently had relations with her. She asks for a decree naming Flynn the father of her child.

Court records disclosed Flynn was sued late in 1940 by her mother, Mrs. Marion Taylor, for personal injuries he allegedly inflicted on the girl in November, 1940. Mrs. Hassau's attorney, Charles B. Taylor, said the movie star paid settlement of $2000.

FREIGHT TRAFFIC BACK TO NORMAL, DRIVERS ON JOB

Union Here in Dark on Plan of Memphis Local to Strike in 30 Days if WLB Does Not Act.

Transportation of freight in St. Louis was described as back to normal today, and truck drivers were reported returning to work in 15 other cities where an unauthorized strike had immobilized tons of war materials.

Virtually all of the 1500 drivers who stopped work Monday in St. Louis and East St. Louis were on the job today, operators reported. The St. Louis Ordnance Depot, which had pressed 11 women inspectors of automotive equipment into service for transportation of war materials in Army trucks, turned this work back to commercial operators.

Memphis Local May Strike.

John L. Bigger, president of the Memphis (Tenn.) local of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers, said the vote to go back to work was coupled with a decision to strike if the War Labor Board does not act on a request for a wage increase in 30 days.

He said the week-long stoppage just ended there was unauthorized, and the union now was notifying truck line operators of the strike intention, the 30-day notice being required under terms of the Connally-Smith Act.

Bigger said this strike notice was planned to apply to the St. Louis local as well as to locals in Atlanta, Nashville, Birmingham, New Orleans, Memphis and Mobile.

In St. Louis, however, officers of Local 600 asserted they knew nothing of this strike notice, and Daniel J. Murphy, fourth international vice-president of the union, declared union officers here were opposed to any strike action and would await a WLB decision on the requested wage increase.

Officer Unaware of Strike Plan.

In Atlanta, Robert Borden, international representative of the union, likewise disclaimed any knowledge of the strike notice. He said the unauthorized strike had ended in all cities except Atlanta, and expressed belief Atlanta drivers would return to work today.

He added that locals voted to return to work at Memphis, Nashville, Knoxville, Chattanooga and Kingsport, Tenn.; Louisville and Paducah, Ky.; Birmingham, Mobile and Montgomery, Ala.; New Orleans, La.; Jacksonville and Tampa, Fla.; and Jackson and Meridian, Miss.

Japanese Base Hard Hit

The Rabaul area of New Britain, struck Tuesday by the biggest Allied air force thus far employed in the South Pacific. Shipping and wharves were bombed in Simpson Harbor (A), and 177 enemy planes were destroyed or severely damaged on or over the airdromes at Vunakana (B), Tobera (C) and Rapopo (D).

U. S. AIR ATTACK SMASHES BIG JAP BASE AT RABAU

mass against first one flank, then the other, thus acquiring in each case superiority of force at the point of contact and destroying his force in detail.

"The enemy has sustained a disastrous defeat from air attack at Rabaul," the communique reported.

"With complete secrecy, the mass of our air force was concentrated and launched against his air and naval forces there, using fields made possible by our occupation late in June of island groups north of New Guinea."

This obviously referred to occupation of Kiriwina and Woodlark islands.

Foe Taken by Surprise. The Japanese were so completely surprised at Rabaul that they got only 40 fighters in the air, of which 26 were downed. Low-flying Mitchells raked 151 grounded bombers and fighters while the fighter-protected Liberators went after shipping.

Antiaircraft positions were silenced at three airdromes—Vunakana, Rapopo and Tobera.

One immediate result of the raid, Gen. MacArthur said, is to give the Allies mastery of the air over the Solomons seas and adjacent waters.

Rabaul, long regarded as the objective of the Pacific offensive opened June 30, is protected to the south by only the big Solomons island of Bougainville now that Japan has been ousted from the Central Solomons. Bougainville itself underwent new Allied attacks in which 21 Japanese planes were shot down at a cost of three American raiders.

Announcing the end of the Central Solomons campaign, the communique said all organized resistance had been crushed on Vella Lavella island, where the Japanese fell prey to a pincer movement of Americans and New Zealanders.

The only important holdings left to the Japanese in the Solomons are Choiseul, believed to be lightly manned; Bougainville, where the bulk of the enemy in those islands is based, and Buka, a small island above Bougainville.

130 PLANES RAID KAHILI AIRDROME

By FRED HAMPSON
UNITED STATES HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, Oct. 14 (AP).—More than 130 United States Army and Marine bombers and fighters have smashed savagely at Kahili airdrome on Bougainville island in a stepped-up air offensive against the last major Japanese air base in the Northern Solomons.

Fifteen of 23 Zeros were shot down and a sixteenth Zero was bagged attempting to take off from nearby Kara field, South Pacific headquarters, announced today. Two Liberators were lost.

Army heavy bombers and Marine dive and torpedo bombers participated in the attack last Saturday. The Liberators dropped 700 bombs on the air strip and shore installations. The enemy put up a heavy antiaircraft defense and the Liberators were attacked by more than 24 Zeros.

One Zero made a run through the entire formation to shoot down an American bomber. When the crew bailed out another Zero strafed the parachutists.

A second Liberator, flying low to cover the parachutists, was jumped by several enemy fighters and though badly shot up, managed to reach American-held territory. The pilot and co-pilot were killed in a crash landing and the entire crew was injured.

The Liberators shot down 10 attacking planes and the American fighter escorts accounted for at least five.

In the strait between Bougainville and Vella Lavella, an American patrol took on 10 enemy fighters and shot down six while losing one.

DEATH PENALTY FOR MAKING DEFECTIVE MUNITIONS FAVORED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—Legislation stiffening the penalties for wartime sabotage and providing a death penalty for anyone wilfully producing defective war material was approved yesterday by a House judiciary subcommittee.

The death penalty, an indefinite prison sentence or a fine of one million dollars, would be applicable upon the conviction of anyone holding a Government contract or subcontract and "intentionally producing or selling" defective property to be used for the manufacture of war material.

Penalties of 30 years imprisonment or a fine of $10,000, or both, would be inflicted on anyone wilfully committing any act that might "injure, interfere with, or obstruct" any of the United Nations in their conduct of the war.

Russians Take Zaporozhe, Key Base on Dnieper Bend

through the Perekop land bridge. The battle for Melitopol began four days ago. Red Army vanguards broke through two lines of antitank traps on the eastern bank of the Molochna, the Russians said, forced a passage of the river and blasted their way on through a wide nest of block-houses, pill-boxes and communication trenches to smash into the city from the north and south.

The Soviet command reported 4000 Germans were killed in the first three days of the drive on the city. Thirty-eight tanks, 16 self-propelled guns and 88 field guns were destroyed, it was asserted.

Parts of Kiev city were reported in flames, a possible hint that the enemy already had begun its destruction preparatory to retreat. South of Kiev on the west bank of the Dnieper the Russians advanced five miles farther inland yesterday in the face of bitter German counterattacks. Here more than 2000 of the enemy were reported killed.

On the northern part of the front, rain and mud failed to halt Red Army columns pounding the defenses of Gomel in White Russia. The Russians said they had hauled their big guns through almost impassable roads to the "immediate vicinity of Gomel" and shattered German lines outside the city. Soviet spearheads forced the Sozh River near where it flows through the center of the city and today were said to have launched a final assault against this important anchor base of the 200-mile Nazi defense system in White Russia.

Gomel is 145 miles east of the old Polish frontier and is an important railway center. The German high command, in its broadcast communique, reported "violent attempts to break through" by the Russians on the middle Dnieper and north of the Sea of Azov, but said the attacks were repelled in bitter struggles. It also said Nazi counterattacks gained ground at the Pripiet estuary and in the Gomel areas, and that strong enemy attacks west of Smolensk failed.

HEAVY NAZI PLANE LOSSES LAID TO LACK OF RADIOS

BERN, Oct. 14 (AP)—The destruction of large radio manufacturing plants in Berlin and Holland by Allied bomber fleets has left many of Germany's tanks and fighter planes "deaf and dumb." The Basel Nationalzeitung yesterday suggested a shortage of radio equipment was one of the main reasons why German fighter planes have been suffering heavier losses recently.

WOMAN IS STABBED BY JEALOUS SUITOR

Mrs. Naomi Hofman Wounded After Quarrel With H. H. Field, Who Surrenders.

Mrs. Naomi Elisabeth Hofman, a divorcee, 42 years old, was stabbed several times and wounded seriously this afternoon by a jealous suitor, Henry H. Field, manager of the apartment in which she resided at 5542 South Thirty-seventh street.

Mrs. Hofman was taken to St. Anthony's Hospital. Field, after driving away from the apartment, encountered a deputy constable at Hoffmeister avenue and Lemay Ferry road, to whom he surrendered. The officer, noting Field's nervousness when he stopped his automobile beside him, asked what was the matter. "I've just cut a woman," Field answered.

He said they had quarreled repeatedly recently because Mrs. Hofman had another suitor, and when the quarrel was renewed this afternoon, he stabbed her with a linoleum knife. Mrs. Hofman's mother, Mrs. Gertrude Lipson, a widow, with whom she resided, was present.

Field, 48 years old, lives at 3651 Bates street. Mrs. Hofman has been a clerk for the New York Life Insurance Co. for 20 years.

ITALIANS EAGER TO FIGHT NAZIS, BADOGLIO SAYS

He Promises Elections Will Be Held Four Months After End of Hostilities.

By DANIEL DE LUCE
ITALIAN HEADQUARTERS IN ITALY, Oct. 14 (AP).—Now that Italy is at war with Germany, all the Italian land, naval and air forces are hoping for a crack at their former allies, Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio declares.

The 72-year-old Marshal, his face beaming after reading a statement announcing his Government had joined the fight against Germany, said yesterday all Italian military forces had been placed at the disposal of Gen. Eisenhower.

"My troops are especially suited for mountain warfare and there are a considerable number of them," he added.

He explained that "even before my Government's declaration I ordered Italian troops to fight with the Allies in Corsica against the Germans and our troops are fighting in the Balkans and Northern Italy, too."

"The will to fight prevails not only in the heads of the Italian Government, but in all military forces and among the people."

He was asked what he thought might be the German reaction to the war declaration, particularly whether it might have any effect within the areas still unconquered.

"They can't do worse than what they've done already in Italy," he asserted.

Envoys Loyal to Badoglio.

All of Italy's chiefs of diplomatic missions abroad except the Ambassador in Berlin "have affirmed their loyalty to my Government," Badoglio said.

In reply to a question as to what Japan's reaction might be, he lifted his hands in a nonplussed gesture and said, "It's difficult to know what Japanese minds will decide."

Badoglio received war correspondents on a veranda overlooking a tennis court. Overhead a dozen American bombers flew toward distant enemy targets. Children continued to play on the court.

Pledge on Elections.

Badoglio pledged a "united military effort in which we shall work in the closest possible manner with the British and American forces."

Adopting a formula already employed by the French Committee of National Liberation, Badoglio limited the life of his Government with this promise: "As soon as the war is ended and peace is won, as it most certainly will be, the present Government will consider its mission accomplished and will be thoroughly content with having freed the country from German occupation . . . Elections will be held four months after the end of hostilities . . . The present Government has the clearly defined task of leading the country until the peace has been won. With that its mandate will cease."

Fleet of 102 Ships Gained.
In accepting Italy as a co-belligerent, the United Nations gain the asset of the Italian war fleet of 102 ships, bringing to nearly 400 fighting ships the naval strength mustered by the overrun nations of Europe.

These ships range from battleships to torpedo boats. They are the remnants of prewar fleets plus replacements and additions acquired through new construction or lend-lease from British and American sources.

Romantic in that it furnishes some of the most fascinating chapters in the history of man's efforts to better his condition on earth. But for the great scientists who give their lives to it there is no romance; there is only work . . . often dangerous and sometimes, as in the case of the Curies, the most grueling, back-breaking toil. We pause to honor these noble lives. Truly it is devotion to a great cause that raises man above the common clay.

TREND TOWARD 5 PCT. SALES TAX IN HOUSE GROUP

Ways and Means Committee Member Says Levy 'Seems to Be Creeping Up on Us.'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—Although no one can predict with any certainty what form the new wartime revenue law will take, the trend on Capitol Hill today is toward adoption of a national retail sales tax—probably of 5 per cent, with no exemptions.

A member of the tax-drafting House Ways and Means Committee, who heretofore has been cool toward the sales tax principle, told a reporter that "it seems to be creeping up on us. The proponents have gotten in some pretty good licks in the last few days."

A 5 per cent sales tax would yield about $3,500,000,000 in new revenue annually. The Treasury asked for $10,500,000,000. A move has started in Congress to make up the difference by slashing government costs.

"Through With Blank Checks," Senator Thomas (Dem.), Oklahoma, interpreted this economy mood as meaning "we are through with blank check and lump sum appropriations."

His statement accented the decision of the Senate Appropriations Committee to enlarge its staff of investigators for more careful examination of future appropriation demands.

Senators Bankhead (Dem.), Alabama, and Reed (Rep.), Kansas, contended the Appropriations Committee hadn't gone far enough in authorizing $30,000 for hiring additional appropriations investigators. Reed sought unsuccessfully to have the fund boosted to $250,000, with the statement that the present rate of government spending threatened to "permanently impair" the nation's solvency.

Bankhead said he and other Appropriations Committee members had been "forced too long to accept the word of Government department heads as to how much money they needed" and that a much larger staff of experts to aid the committee would have been "an excellent investment."

Doughton Silent.

Perhaps the most significant factor in the sales tax discussions is the attitude of Chairman Doughton (Dem.), North Carolina of the Ways and Means Committee.

Doughton in past years has waged successful campaigns against every effort to enact this type of levy. But now he has not offered to lead another battle against it, and has expressed no hostility to it in the 10 days of public hearings. However, he has questioned the wisdom of enacting a 10 per cent tax, saying it might fall too heavily on consumers, especially in some 32 states which already have state retail sales taxes. It was understood that some committee members had put their heads together and decided that the tax, if approved by the committee, should not exceed 5 per cent.

So Sorry.
NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Downtown motorists are sorry that Patrolman Thomas P. Glenn is retiring.

PHILADELPHIA.—The gun crew on a merchantman here says Jimmy is the next best thing to radar.

WALLACE URGES RESEARCH BY U. S. AS BUSINESS AID

Tells Senate Committee
Free Enterprise Must Not Be Shackled by Cartels.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—Vice President Wallace sketched for Senators today a postwar world of helicopters, television, light metals, plastics and new foods, but cautioned that free private enterprise must be maintained if the nation is to realize the full benefits of broadened industrial frontiers.

Appearing for the second time in recent months before a Senate committee, Wallace endorsed the principles of a technological mobilization bill under consideration by a Military Affairs subcommittee.

"Out of our laboratories, both Government and private, are coming a flood of discoveries," he said. "When the veil of secrecy imposed by war is lifted, our people will stand amazed at the array of inventions. A new world is being fashioned."

Urges Federal Research. Then, reverting to a theme he stressed in recent speeches at Chicago and Detroit, he said that free enterprise, necessary to the full employment of labor and industrial resources, will be "shackled and restrained if research is dominated by a small number of large corporations and cartels."

"This condition has already barred small business men from many of our industrial developments," he continued. "The application of modern science should not be the exclusive domain of great corporations and cartels who can, if they desire, restrict and suppress new inventions and scientific information to suit their own interests instead of the public interest."

"Small business cannot support the large and costly laboratories which are necessary for modern industrial research. To fill this need, government must make available these facilities."

Such a government sponsorship of research is proposed in the pending bill, drawn by Senator Kilgore (Dem., West Virginia). It calls for establishment of an office of scientific and technical mobilization, with wide powers to finance and encourage scientific developments and to carry out such projects itself, along with authority to mobilize scientific and technical man power and, in time of war, to take over patent rights and licenses necessary for proper prosecution of the war.

Against Patent Monopoly. Wallace not only agreed that there should be a central technical authority of the Federal Government, but added:

"Every business and institution should have full access to all patents and research findings which have been developed at Government expense. The Congress has provided large sums of money which are being poured into Federal, university and industrial laboratories. It is the intent of the Congress that this money be spent for the benefit of the general public, not for the exclusive benefit of a few corporations."

"Likewise, those enemy patents seized by the Alien Property Custodian should become the property of the Federal Government and be made available to all businesses."

Wallace declared every state should have a technical information center to distribute information and to initiate local research projects.

He said that only because of the technological discoveries of the United States Department of Agriculture and the state agricultural experiment stations had the nation been able to ship food abroad at the rate of 10 billion pounds a year "and at the same time give our own consumers the best diet they have ever had."

STILL FOUND IN CHURCH TOWER

BRADENTON, Fla., Oct. 14 (AP).—A moonshine liquor still, complete with a 10-gallon boiler and copper worm, was found yesterday in the bell tower of Christ Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Frank M. Brunton, rector, said the sexton found it when he was sent into the tower for an inspection of the church bell and rope. The rector said he had no idea how and when the still was secreted in the tower, which had not been inspected for three or four years.

RISK MEN URGED TO BACK BILLS TO LIFT TRUST LAWS

Thousands Asked to Call on Congressmen to Exempt Fire Insurance Companies.

By EDWARD A. HARRIS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Thousands of fire insurance agents throughout the country have been asked by the National Board of Fire Underwriters to write their Congressmen urging support of pending legislation to exempt fire insurance companies from the antitrust laws.

In a form letter addressed two weeks ago to all local insurance agents, the National Board of Fire Underwriters said, in part: "You are an integral part of the insurance business and have a vital interest in its well-being. If you are in accord with the view of the Special Committee as set forth in the enclosed statement, it is for that you will desire promptly to communicate your views to your Senators and Representatives."

"If so, write your own views, in your own way, asking your Senators and Representatives to support these bills. Do not send the enclosed statement to them, since it is believed it will be otherwise brought to their attention."

The letter bears the signature of W. E. Mallalieu, General Manager of the Underwriters.

The statement attached to the letter reviews the indictment of 198 fire insurance companies and 27 individuals on charges of violating the antitrust laws, the subsequent dismissal of the indictments by a United States District Judge in Atlanta, Ga., and the pending appeal taken to the Supreme Court by the Department of Justice.

It frankly concedes rate-fixing by insurance firms, under state supervision, but contends that this is no violation of the law and is, in fact, desirable.

"State regulation aims at controlling competition and preventing unfair discrimination," the statement explains. "It aims at uniform rates and forms of coverage and equality for co-operation and accord between fire insurance companies. It discourages and forbids unsubstantiated and varying rates and forms of coverage which might result in instability or unfair discrimination."

"The business of fire insurance has been the subject of careful study and experimentation by the states, and the general pattern of state regulation reflects the mature conclusion that unbridled competition in the business of insurance is not desirable in the public interest—for the simple reason that the nature of insurance is different from that of an ordinary commercial business."

The Federal antitrust laws, it is asserted, aim to secure unrestricted competition by prohibiting cooperative action or action.

"No one will contend that state regulation of insurance companies is perfect," the brief goes on, "but certainly Federal regulation would be far less perfect. It is a matter of common knowledge that there are in America some persons or groups who 'would prefer a large-scale displacement of state activities with Federal activities,' it adds.

"Will Eliminate Conflict."

"The action of Congress in affirming that Federal antitrust laws are not applicable to insurance would be completely consonant with protection of the peculiar public interest in insurance. It would remove no special privilege. By it, Congress would waive no power or rights. On the contrary, such action would assure it of the opportunity for mature deliberation in exercising any of its powers in the future."

"Most important, such action by Congress would remove the danger of the conflict between the States and the Federal Government and the chaotic conditions in insurance which would arise if the Federal antitrust laws were held applicable to that business."

Other Steps by Underwriters.

Before the letter-campaign was undertaken by the underwriters, other steps had been taken to cushion unrest among fire insurance clients over high rates. It is pointed out by opponents of the pending legislation, for instance, that last May the Southeastern Underwriters Association reduced its fire rates on dwellings from 10 to 75 per cent, retroactive to Jan. 1—just six weeks from the time that the companies were indicted. (Nov. 20, 1942).

As told in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, one client wrote a letter to the proper Government officials disclosing that his fire insurance rate was reduced 75 per cent after the insurance company learned he had offered to open his books to the Department of Justice.

The Justice Department contends that no real issue of states' rights is involved in the case, that such a cry has been raised as a smoke screen to beloud the underlying situation which, it asserts, is that a fire insurance monopoly exists. The monopoly,

MAAS URGES NAVY TO CANCEL DEAL WITH BREWSTER

Congressman Says Department Should 'Get Rid of' De Lorenzo, Head of UAW Local.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—Representative Maas (Rep.), Minnesota, told a Naval Committee hearing today that the Navy should cancel its contract with the Brewster Aeronautical Corporation and "get rid of" Thomas de Lorenzo, president of the local United Automobile Workers' Union.

Maas made his suggestion after questioning Ralph Bard, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, concerning the department's authority to run the plant, despite union contracts, and the authority of de Lorenzo. "Is de Lorenzo on the payroll of the Brewster Corporation?" Maas asked.

"No," replied Bard. "Well, he should be," Maas retorted. "He's running the plant." Calls Union Head a Dictator. After being informed by Bard that the Navy attempted to increase production at the company's plants in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, by changing managements, Maas commented: "This de Lorenzo must be a pretty smart cookie. Have you ever thought of changing him?"

Bard, termed de Lorenzo "the absolute dictator of his union" who enjoys an "autonomous" contract which places him beyond orders of the CIO with which his union is affiliated, said the Navy "has thought" about changing him, but that the matter had been turned over to the United States Conciliation Service and the Department of Labor.

Guards Serving '3 Masters.' Chairman Drewry (Dem.), Virginia, of the investigating committee, said plant guards at the Johnsonville (Pa.) plant of the Brewster Corporation had apparently attempted to serve "three masters."

Drewry chided the Navy in connection with plant conditions, but added the department was to be commended for taking corrective action.

His views were expressed after Bard reviewed the case of four men, simultaneously serving in the Coast Guard, Reserve and holding unions cards, who refused to obey orders and take Guard posts assigned them by their superior officer.

After Bard completed his summary, Drewry said: "You can put it in a sentence—a man can't serve two masters, and this is a case where they were serving three—the Navy, the plant and the union."

The four guards were given sentences ranging from four months to two years at a court-martial, and dishonorably discharged. Subsequently their sentences were rescinded by the Navy and their discharges changed from "dishonorable" to "bad conduct."

Bard told the committee the situation arose when company guards, members of the union, were sworn into the Coast Guard for security reasons, to give the Navy greater authority over them. He asserted that the Brewster incident "stands alone," and that the Navy and the War Labor Board have taken steps to prevent similar trouble in the future, including definite establishment of the Navy's authority over the guards along with increased training for them.

He acknowledged that the guards at Brewster had received "less than 100 per cent training and indoctrination."

Soldiers Aid Ordnance Plant. ILLIOPOLIS, Ill., Oct. 14 (AP).—While plant officials renewed a call for 1500 more civilian workers, 150 soldiers brought from Camp Ellis, near Lewiston, today unloaded materials from railroad cars for the Sangamon Ordnance Plant, near here. About 400 civilians are working four-hour shifts in addition to other employment.

BALKANS ANXIOUSLY WAIT ON MOSCOW TALKS; ALLIES REPORTED PRESSING TURKEY

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 14 (AP).

COUNTRIES of Southeastern Europe are anxiously waiting to see if the coming three-power conference in Moscow will decide the postwar fate of the Balkans, according to dispatches received here.

(The Communist party organ Pravda, published in Moscow, yesterday asserted that the Russians do not intend to discuss frontiers in the coming conference and declared firmly that the "second front" and complete defeat of Hitler was the question before the meeting.)

The anxiety of the Balkan countries was so great, Budapest dispatches reported, that convening of the Hungarian Parliament, scheduled for the last two weeks in October, has been postponed for a month, pending developments at the Moscow conference.

Meanwhile, the dispatches said, reports have been received in Budapest from Ankara asserting that Allied diplomats there are exerting new pressure to obtain permission for Allied armies to march through Turkey against Nazi satellites in the Balkans. The Ankara reports said the Allies planned a twin invasion through Turkey and across the Adriatic Sea.

NAVY SALVAGES 500 MILLIONS WORTH OF SHIPS AT 1 PCT. COST

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP).—

Capt. B. E. Manseau, Navy supervisor of salvage, reported yesterday the Navy had recovered 500 million dollars worth of ships and cargoes in the last year at a cost of only four million—less than one per cent.

He made the report before the New York Advertising Club, and said the figures did not include raising the former French liner Normandie in New York Harbor. Capt. Manseau said the Navy had undertaken salvage operations on 180 sunken or crippled vessels, and that all the work had been done through a private company—The Merritt, Chapman & Scott Corporation. He said the corporation, which employed most of the experienced salvage experts in peacetime, carried on salvage operations for the Navy in all major combat zones. He said the Navy paid all expenses and also paid the concern an annual fee equivalent to its average yearly profits during the last 10 years.

Capt. Manseau said a study of Great Britain's salvage experience in the first World War and the present one convinced the Navy that the best plan would be to place all salvage in the hands of a private concern.

DICTATORSHIP IN PARAGUAY; PRESIDENT HAS OWN GESTAPO OF ARROGANT, BRUTAL YOUTHS

Higinio Morinigo Rules With Such an Iron Hand That He Is Said to Fear Assassination and Employs Official Taster to Avoid Poisoning by Oppressed Subjects.

By ALLEN HADEN

The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Correspondence. (Copyright, 1943.)

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Oct. 4 (Via Airmail).

Our flying boats' keel gently cut the waters of the harbor, Asuncion, once the capital of the River Plate's vice royalty, lay, peaceful and warm, on the left bank of the Paraguay River. High on the hill, the Cathedral loomed against a cloudless sky. At the new docks, two flat-bottomed river freighters unloaded.

Courteous customs officials passed our luggage quickly and our automobile whirled off, passing five thin mules pulling along a cart-load of empty oil drums. A gray and humble donkey minced along the cobbled streets. A Paraguayan woman, wrapped from head to knees in the customary black-blue veil and with a huge basket on her head, moved along, her back straight with immeasurable dignity.

A peaceful scene. Yet underneath it smolders a volcano. Individual rights and personal liberties are at a minimum in Paraguay—for Paraguayans. The right of habeas corpus has disappeared. Men and women can be arrested and shipped off at will without trial, to distant parts of the Chaco's green hell.

"Confinamiento," they call it in Spanish, it means that Paraguayan citizens can be forced to remain—as in a super-heated Siberia—in some hamlet more or less distant from Asuncion, with their residence fixed by the police and from which they are forbidden to stir.

Conservative figures set the number of some "confinados" at 1500 or some 10 per cent of the effective, active living population in Asuncion. There are in addition 8000 Paraguayan exiles living mainly in Argentina. These include some of the best mentalities and most important personalities of Paraguayan life.

Two concentration camps flourish. Pena Hermosa (Beautiful Rock), reserved for Army officers, is said to lodge about 15 persons. Ingavi, in mid-Chaco, is reserved for civilians, mainly so-called "Communists." At Pena Hermosa the officers are said to live relatively well. They can have their wives with them and may fish on the river. This gives them the chance to escape to Brazil, if they wish to back their way through the Brazilian jungle. From Ingavi, there is no information but many rumors.

One can also be a "confinado" in one's home. Dr. Louis A. Riart, thus confined in his house in Asuncion, is forbidden to leave even to attend to his law practice. His business therefore has been ruined and he has had to sell his house in order to live. Dr. Riart, long known to this correspondent, is a mild intellectual. Several times a Cabinet Minister, he took part in the Chaco Peace settlement. His main sin is in being a member of the Liberal party.

The arbitrariness of the government of President Higinio Morinigo and its Army supporters takes many forms. The president of a club in Asuncion was shipped off to the Chaco for a cooling of several months because he refused the use of the word "confinamiento." Dr. Benitez, whose wife died from hardships of the "confinado," an ex-Cabinet member and Minister, had been released for exile at the personal instance of President Getulio Vargas.

He had two years of comparative peace in Brazil, where he has been writing for Brazilian newspapers and recently published a biography of his idol and chief, the late Gen. Estigarribia. He depends for his income upon his writings. Recently President Morinigo's decree reached all the way to Rio de Janeiro where Justo Benitez had managed to get away from "confinamiento." Dr. Benitez, whose wife died from hardships of the "confinado," an ex-Cabinet member and Minister, had been released for exile at the personal instance of President Getulio Vargas.

PORTUGAL AIDS THE ALLIES

By BARNET NOVER

DURING recent years German agents in Lisbon have been as numerous as ants in an uncovered sugar barrel and just about as busy.

They kept their eyes on the refugees who had streamed into Portugal from every conquered country in Europe. They watched the plane arrivals from England and America. They trafficked in documents of greater or lesser authenticity and real or dubious value. And they sent long and elaborate reports to their principals in Berlin.

Yet it was right under their very noses that the British pulled off one of the nearest diplomatic surprises of the war—the agreement whereby Portugal is to permit Allied use of the air and sea base in the Azores.

There appears to be no doubt that the German Government was taken by surprise. Rumors had been current for some time in neutral capitals that some kind of important action by Portugal was impending. But as late as Monday, the day before Prime Minister Churchill made the news of the Anglo-Portuguese negotiations public, Dr. Schmidt, the Nazi press chief, did all he could to discount these rumors. He gave evidence, at a press conference, of being worried of being in the dark as to just what was transpiring in Lisbon.

Aware of Importance.

CERTAINLY the Nazis are fully aware of the importance of Portugal's action. They know that it means an intensification of the war on the U-boats since the Atlantic sea lanes can now be effectively patrolled by land-based bombers.

They know that it will be interpreted in the neutral world and in Axis countries alike as still another indication that the stock of Germany is going down and that of the Allies is rising.

It is particularly humiliating to the once invincible Reich to be defied by one of the very weakest of the neutrals. And the Nazis are also aware that with the Azores in their hands, the Allies have acquired still another important springboard for the coming invasion of Europe.

For a good deal less provocation than Portugal has now given him, Hitler once chewed up a dozen countries. Now he may have to

Restoring Storm-Wrecked Field Hospital

Mixed Reactions Among Italians To Allied Co-Belligerent Status

Groups in Switzerland Are Pleased, Those Under Nazi Yoke Are Impressed but Fearful of Own Fate.

By PAUL GHALI

The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Foreign Service. (Copyright, 1943.)

BERN, Oct. 14.

NEVER perhaps in the course of this eventful war has any move been received here with such conflicting emotions as the Allies' acceptance of Italy as their "co-belligerent." The main reaction when the news broke today—news forecast in political circles since Italy's upheaval on Sept. 8—was that it gives further proof of the Allies' resolve to leave no stone unturned to win this war as quickly as possible.

This policy, of course, is fully appreciated and understood, yet many observers asked themselves whether the Allies were not weakening the moral side of a just and righteous cause by accepting the aid of a country whose motives for the past years have been anything but worthy.

It was also wondered whether the resentment and distrust which Italy's co-belligerency might arouse among Allied nations like France, Yugoslavia and Greece, would not far outweigh the aid a beaten, demoralized and disunited Italy could bring into the Allied camp.

The British, Russian and American joint declaration which all the Swiss newspapers frontpaged today did much to allay these fears. The general impression here is that the Allies have rather generously given Italy a chance to rehabilitate itself and are making an experiment which, like all experiments, has its element of risk.

Italian circles in Switzerland who have remained faithful to King Vittorio Emanuele are triumphant. They stress that yesterday's decision means Italy's return into international politics at a much earlier date than had been expected. Nor do they hide the ARUNDEL ISLAND, New Georgia Group, Central Solomons, Oct. 3 (Delayed).

ANKS can be used in any jungle, however dense. Japanese tactics are still good, but they are deteriorating as our heavier artillery and mortar fire make themselves felt.

Japanese tree snipers, even in defensive positions, are rarer in the Solomons than in New Guinea and in the present Central Solomons campaign are almost unknown.

The jeep, which brings supplies and ammunition along trails where the Japanese must wear themselves out with back-carrying, has proved the feasibility of mechanized warfare in the thickest jungle.

These are the lessons which the Twenty-fifth Division counts among the most precious of its highly creditable fight for Arundel Island. Once again, as in Guadalcanal and New Georgia, the Twenty-fifth has been called in to emulate the achievements of our army in Italy.

Taking its full share of the burden in every fight, the Twenty-fifth is still battling to clean up this position. They are specialists in unfreezing tough situations.

This coral island, Sakekara, whose fingerlike length spreads along the northern side of Arundel Island, reeks today with the odor of the dead.

The count of Japanese dead has risen to 398. In one place alone where our main attack with Marine tanks occurred, 85 Japanese

Tokyo Broadcasts Proclaim 'Independence Under President Laurel.'

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP).—

APAN proclaimed the "Independence" of the Philippines today in a series of propaganda broadcasts and announced the inauguration of Jose P. Laurel as first president of a puppet "republican government" set up under the thumb of Japanese forces.

The Office of War Information quoted the Tokyo radio as saying that Laurel took the oath of office in Manila at 9:40 a. m. (7:40 p. m. St. Louis time, Wednesday), and 10 minutes later issued "the decree of independence of the Philippine Republic."

Laurel, according to the Tokyo broadcast, hailed Japan as "the great power of East Asia" which was granting the Philippines their freedom "as an example of justice in the history of mankind."

Resources for Japan.

"Before the world we are now a free and independent people," he said. "Henceforth we shall not belong to any foreign power. All rights and interests of the nation will be reintegrated and guarded. For national defense and in order to maintain our independence, we pledge all our resources for the defense of the fatherland."

Laurel said one of his objectives would be to "constitute the nation as an integral state of the East Asia co-prosperity sphere and in this way contribute to the creation of a new order in the world."

Prior to his inauguration, Tokyo said, Gen. Shigenori Kuroda, Japanese commander in the Philippines, issued an order officially "dissolving" the military administration—but there was no intimation that Japan had any intention of relaxing its military control over the islands.

Hardships Ahead.

In his decree, Kuroda told the Filipinos that their future was "brilliant and promising, but that radiance must not dazzle your eyes to overlook the many hardships that lie before you."

As a preliminary to the declaration of "independence," Japan announced last week that Shozo Murata, adviser to the military

Soldiers Blush at Tearful Kisses By Italians, Endure Fruit Showers

Yanks and Britishers Are Embarrassed but Can't Object to Display of Gratitude by Former Enemies.

By JOHN STEINBECK

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
IN THE MEDITERRANEAN THEATER (By Telephone)

THE Italian people may greet conquering American and British troops with different methods in different parts of the country, but they act always with enthusiasm that amounts to violence. One of their methods makes soldiers a little self-conscious until they get used to it. Great crowds of people stand on the sidewalks as the troops march by and simply applaud by clapping their hands as though they applauded a show. This makes the troops walk very stiffly, smiling self-consciously, half-soldiers and half actors.

But this hand clapping is the most restrained thing that they do. The soldiers get most embarrassed when they are overwhelmed by Italian men who rush up to them, overpower them with embraces and plant great wet kisses on their cheeks, crying a little as they do it. A soldier hates to push them away, but he is not used to being kissed by men, and all he can do is to blush and try to get away as quick as possible.

Fruit-Throwing Popular.

A third method of showing enthusiasm at being conquered is to throw any fruit or vegetable which happens to be in season at the occupying troops. In Sicily the grapes were ripe and many a soldier got a swipe across the face with a heavy bunch of grapes tossed with the best will in the world.

The juice ran down inside their shirts, and after a march of a few blocks troops would be pretty well drenched in grape juice, which, incidentally, draws flies badly, and there is nothing to do about it. You can't draw such enthusiasm by making them not throw grapes.

One of the most ridiculous and most dangerous occupations, however, was the investment and capture of the Island of Ischia. There, the people, casting about for some vegetable or floral tribute, found that the most prominent and showy flower of the season was the pink amaryllis. This is not a pleasant flower at the best, but in the hands of an enthusiastic Italian crowd, it can almost be a lethal weapon.

Deadly Amaryllis.

A reasonable-sized bunch of amaryllis, with big thick stems, may weigh four pounds. In a short drive through the streets of the city of Ischia, some of the

BARUCH APPOINTS GROUP FOR SURVEY OF PHYSIOTHERAPY

$25,000 Grant to Be Used to Study Widening Its Usefulness in Medicine.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP).—Bernard M. Baruch, financier and philanthropist, announced yesterday appointment of a committee headed by Ray Lyman Wilbur, chancellor of Stanford University, to survey the field of physiotherapy and to make recommendations on widening its usefulness in medicine.

Baruch said $25,000 would be available from the Simon Baruch Foundation for research work. In a letter to Wilbur he said, "My father, Dr. Simon Baruch, impressed me with the possibilities of physiotherapy as a preventive and as a cure for human ills, and added that in view of the many war wounded, 'I know you will give special consideration to reconstruction and occupational therapy.'"

The following were appointed to the committee by Baruch: Dr. W. T. Sanger, president of the Medical College of Virginia, vice chairman; Lt. Col. Benjamin A. Strickland, Jr., Army Medical Corps, Monahan Field, Tucson, Ariz.; Dr. Charles F. Behrens, head of the X-ray department of the Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, Md.; Dr. Carl R. Comstock, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.; Dr. John Coulter, medical director of the Physical Therapy School, Northwestern University Medical School; Dr. Kristin G. Hansson, medical director of the Physical Therapy School at the Hospital for Special Surgery, New York; and Dr. Frank Krusen, medical director of Mayo Clinic Department, Rochester, Minn.

NAZI PLANES REPORTED MOVED FROM ITALY TO DEFEND REICH

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Oct. 14 (AP).—German fighter planes which once operated from a chain of 13 airfields in the Foggia area of Italy were sent back to Germany to help defend the Reich against Allied heavy bombers, a Polish mechanic said today.

The 22-year-old mechanic escaped from a squadron when it was moving from the main Foggia field to Germany. He and another Polish fugitive managed to reach the British lines.

Some planes were sent to the Munich area and others to Vienna, he told Allied air officers. He said that more than 60 Axis planes were destroyed by the Allied bombing of Foggia.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

For Medical Examiners

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

It might be well at this time to direct the attention of the Constitutional Convention, now in session, to the antiquated provision of the present Constitution which created the Office of County Coroner.

This section of the Constitution is very antiquated and should be revised to provide for the appointment of a qualified pathologist as medical examiner. He should be appointed either by the Governor or the State Health Commissioner for a specified term of years under civil service, and subject to removal only for malfeasance in office or physical or mental incapacity.

Under the present provision, the County Coroner must be elected every four years and cannot succeed himself. Nor is it necessary that he have any qualifications for this office other than his own personal ambition. Consequently, the office is frequently held by laymen who have some selfish interest and the office has been subjected to many abuses. Presumably, the cause of death is determined by a jury of six men, but I question whether or not a verdict has ever been rendered by a Coroner's jury that was not directed by the Coroner personally.

Several Eastern states, notably New York and Pennsylvania, have provided the office of medical examiner and from all the reports that I have received on the subject it has had a wholesome effect upon everyone concerned.

A Joke That Misfired

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Far be it from Congressman Ploeser to heckle anyone—least of all Mrs. Roosevelt, as charged in this column Monday. But he, like countless others, had a perfect right to take exception to the subtle way her "joke" put the Jap and the Republican in the same category, as both being enemies of President Roosevelt.

This seems just a bit unworthy of the dignity of the First Lady in these serious and critical times. It will be a long and hard enough pull to subdue the Japs, a job toward which the Republicans certainly will have to contribute their full share of the sacrifices, just as much as any Democrats and New Dealers.

So why not keep our motion pictures more free of political propaganda at this time, even if it was only a so-called joke, and the President's favorite one at that? It's not even funny.

Advice for Mr. Willkie

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Mr. Willkie's maiden campaign speech of the 1944 presidential election, to be delivered in your city tomorrow, should, if Willkie is as wise as many of the independent voters hope, do the following:

1. It should specify his major points of difference with President Roosevelt, and prove that his own domestic and foreign policies would not only work, but would be acceptable to the policy-makers of the Republican party. The best candidate in this country cannot beat "the champ" without independent votes, got by logical persuasion of enumerated advantage to said voters.

2. It should obliterate a rather generally held notion gained from a radio broadcast prior to the publication of "One World" that Mr. Willkie's "reserve of good will" is nebulous, or, if real, without practical economic advantage to our own land.

3. It should convince "hard-headed business men" that he knows what's wrong with the warring world and how to stop recurrent warring with two feet planted firmly on the ground instead of by preaching to evangelists.

Barber Shop Strategists

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The barber shop was noisy this morning as I entered. Finally there was a measure of quiet and the trouble came out—our strategists were indignant at the news from the Dodecanese Islands. The Commodore explained: The Allied leaders, knowing that Italian surrender was coming, should have arranged that there should be warships and transports ready to take over these plums the moment Badoglio proclaimed surrender, with, if possible, an agreement for the Italian armies to help us hold them.

We are supposed to be masters of the Mediterranean. If so, how was it possible for the Germans to send ships and soldiers to the islands and forestall us and why were the British in such insignificant force? There are said to be several allied armies in the Middle East.

What has become of the Seventh American Army under Gen. Patton? Not a word of it since it mopped up Sicily. Why did we land south instead of north of Naples? With our command of the sea, why not leap frog up the Italian Peninsula and avoid fighting our way over mountain tops, yard by yard?

Why don't we land an army on the Dalmatian coast where the guerrillas could give us powerful aid and thus invade the Balkans?

Needless to say I was overwhelmed by this torrent of criticism and silently edged into the chair while the debate continued.

Italy as a Co-Belligerent

Italy has roamed a devious course in this war, from a state of non-belligerency to one of co-belligerency, with way stations of belligerency, defeat and surrender. The latest stage, reached yesterday with the declaration of war on Germany, represents some solid gains for the Allies, and also raises some questions.

Viewed in its global aspect, there is something to cheer about in the previously unseen spectacle of a state document signed by the names of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin. Here, at last, the leaders of these great powers are pulling together as a team. Russia was not represented at Casablanca or Quebec, and there might have been plausible reasons for her absence here, since the Red Army did no fighting in Italy. But the new Mediterranean Council is functioning, and Russia is a participant in deciding the Italian future.

There is good news, too, in the fact that Premier Marshal Badoglio acknowledges "the untrammelled right of the people of Italy to choose their own democratic form of government when peace is restored," and in the further fact that the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin statement accepts this as a pledge, from which it is understood that "nothing can detract."

Here, on the record, is a guarantee of free elections and democratic processes which will bring assurance not only to the Italian people, but to all the subject countries where Allied policies have been viewed with doubt and suspicion. This gain for democratic hopes is strengthened by the statement of Assistant Secretary of State Berle that "the Italian people can be trusted to deal with the reorganization of Italy when it is cleared of invading bayonets."

The declaration of war brings definitely to our side all the military and other resources of Italy, so far as the King and Badoglio can order their disposal. After Mussolini's fall, Italian hope was to get out of the war and assume neutral status. This, of course, was unacceptable to the Allied negotiators; all Italian bases and facilities were needed for pressing the war against Germany. Doubt as to their status is removed.

But how far can Badoglio and the King command Italy's military assets? How well will their war-weary soldiers, often commanded by Fascist officers, fight for the Allied cause?

Thus far, the record has not been impressive. The Italian fleet has surrendered, and Italian troops helped in occupation of the Dodecanese. But in Corsica, 20,000 Nazis escaped the Allied net because Italian soldiers failed shamefully in their duty. The greater part of Badoglio's men, a correspondent reports, want only to return home, so they placidly permit the Germans to disarm them. Some Italians, as in Rhodes, continue allegiance to Fascism, and are still fighting on the German side.

If Italian troops cannot be trusted to bear the weight of battle, neither can their leaders be trusted. Toscanini spoke of "the King of Italy and his bootlicker, Badoglio, both despicable men." Prof. Salvemini still refers to them as "two traitors." Count Storza condemned the Premier-Marshal for "constant obedience to Mussolini, his military boss," and said the new Italy's first imperative was "rejection of both the King and Badoglio, as well as others tainted by past associations."

Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin know all about the unsavory aspects of the leaders whose Government they now recognize. Gen. Eisenhower knows, too, yet he has conferred with Badoglio as to future strategy. Their point of view is doubtless that of Storza who, despite his criticisms, left this message on his departure for Italy:

Any ultimate political views of mine and of my friends are subordinate to one supreme duty—union of all the Italians in the war against Germany.

Therefore, I would consider it almost an act of treason against Italy to oppose the Badoglio Government as long as it organizes and leads war against Germany in full accord with the Allied armies.

We must create a new moral force in the existing army, not fight Badoglio, and we must support his efforts so that he will fight Germany energetically.

The Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin statement fell short in its failure to recognize the need for rallying the moral force of the Italians so that they will join energetically in the fight. These people must be perplexed by the turn of events which finds the King, who once enjoined them to fight the Allies, now nominal head of a government underwritten by the Allies for the purpose of fighting the Germans. Our soldiers and those of the British are also perplexed and annoyed at finding their recent enemies, who took their toll of Allied troops, now accepted as comrades-in-arms against a common enemy.

Italy's six anti-Fascist political parties have begun the work of uniting the people for this time of crisis behind their national leadership, with the objective of a new deal when victory is won. Assuredly the Allies should give a hand in rallying this support. Up to the present, no word has come from Roosevelt or Churchill to encourage the six parties.

But all this is only for the immediate present, as is acknowledged by Storza, the anti-Fascists in Italy and all friends of true liberation. Sooner or later, and the sooner the better, we must cut all ties with the King and Badoglio in the interest of ultimate peace and order and true democracy in Italy and all Europe.

Mr. Smith Goes to Washington?

Gerald L. K. Smith, erstwhile lieutenant of the late Huey Long, rabble-rouser extraordinary, Jew-baiter, America Firster, isolationist and perennial foe of the trade unions, proposes Charles A. Lindbergh for the presidency.

Mr. Smith is not particular as to just how Mr. Lindbergh goes to Washington—under the auspices of the Republican party or the America First party, of which Mr. Smith is the director. The main thing is to get Lindbergh ensconced in the White House, willy-nilly.

It is not made clear in the report of Mr. Smith's nominating speech, spoken from a platform in Minneapolis, why Mr. Lindbergh is considered a worthy candidate for the nation's most important post. Perhaps it is because of Mr. Lindbergh's peripatetic, his brilliant judgments on the international scene—for example, his famous pronouncement that the Soviet air force was pretty poor stuff and what the Nazi Luftwaffe wouldn't do to it when the time came.

Some persons were unkind enough at that time to believe the trans-Atlantic pilot was sort of licking his chops for Der Tag to come along, but then the world is well spotted with cynical people who get all sorts of queer notions about other people's statements.

Anyhow, the fact that Mr. Smith is a political clown and a source of sour amusement doesn't mean that he shouldn't be watched, if only out of the corner of one's eye. He has allies, some with great wealth, some in high political office, many colleagues in the rabble-rousing arena. Mr. Smith is decidedly bad medicine.

And what's Lindbergh got to say about it?

An Insurance Bill to Watch

Should fire-insurance companies be exempt from the Federal anti-trust laws?

The very idea is startling, and preposterous to boot. There is no more valid reason for exempting the fire-insurance companies from the laws against price-fixing, restraint of trade and agreements against the public interest than to exempt the public utilities or the steel companies or haberdashery manufacturers.

The companies themselves, however, have concocted an alleged reason for having immunity conferred upon themselves by means of three bills now pending in Congress. The companies, their congressional friends and their lobbyists contend that subjecting the fire-insurance business to the anti-trust laws means a usurpation of states' rights, which Congress never intended. Regulation by the states, they contend, is sufficient.

Many other interests are regulated by the states; the public utilities, for instance. But who would be so rash as to say that state regulation of vast public-utility systems is enough?

Missouri knows by hard experience what a fallacious argument the companies are offering to back their bill. It has seen the Attorney General of this State, struggling with an ouster-suit against 134 fire-insurance companies, finally forced to call in Federal authorities because the case was too big for local action.

There is little doubt that anti-trust action against 198 Southeastern companies for rate-fixing, a case still in the courts, is at the bottom of the bills now before Congress, where a powerful insurance lobby has gone into action. Official reports show that insurance costs are excessive in many parts of the country, as the result of rate agreements among the companies. When a company operates in several states or on a nation-wide basis, as most of them do, action by one state alone is futile. In fact, 35 states have no regulation at all, and nine others have only partial regulation.

The pending bill, it is reported, is backed by a slush fund of $700,000. The No. 1 lobbyist in its behalf is said to be receiving $120,000 a year from insurance interests. These disquieting reports, and the indisputable fact that exemption of the insurance companies from the anti-trust laws would open the way to extracting millions from the public, make it imperative that this bill be closely watched.

Extra! Extra!

With reference to the two-pants suit (one pair to wear, and one to boot)—when it went out, we cared a hoot. It seemed so economical, and—although slightly comical—so truly anatomical. Because a person tends to fit less often than he tends to sit. Which is the long and short of it.

The news from Canada emergent is, therefore, bright and fine and urgent: Observe the two-pants suit resurgent! From Medicine Hat to Rivers Three. From Saskatchewan to Val Marie. But not from Seattle to N. Y. C.

We hope—and accordingly take our stance—our country will follow suit, perchance. (The kind of suit with extra pants.)

Louisiana girls have taken up the Polynesian custom of wearing a flower over the right ear if they are unattached and receptive. Replacing the early American custom of wearing a gleam in the eye.

The President Talks Straight

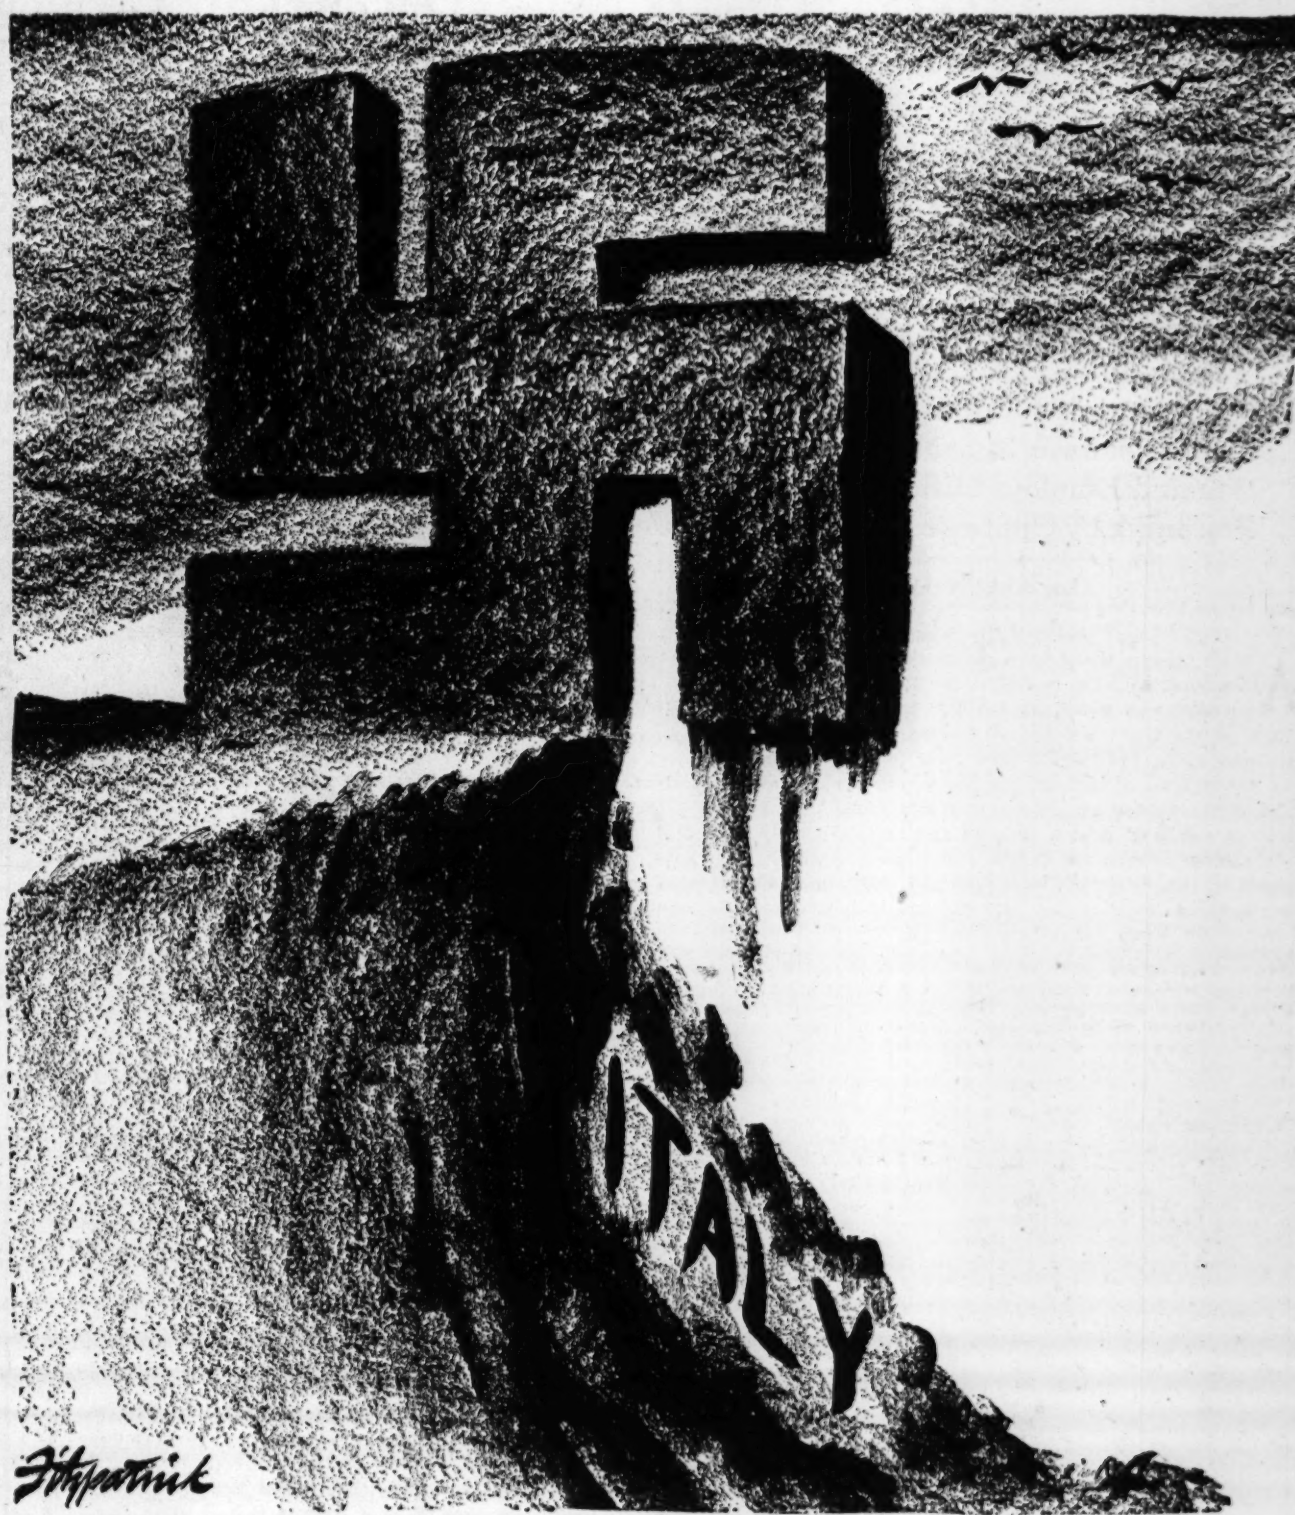

The President, with dignity and a cogent reasonableness, answered in press conference the five Senators who came home from foreign lands to do some military expertizing. He set them straight on the shipment of trucks to Australia, where our own military supplies and personnel can scarcely move by plane or train or kayak when inadequate railroad facilities are strained to a point of saturation. He pointed out that oil is where you find it, and getting there "fastest with the mostest," to borrow Gen. Forrest's mangled grammar, is a more important consideration than waiting around for the pie to be cut with calipers.

He answered Senator Lodge, expressing disappointment in a bright young man's misleading. The "million men" Lodge thinks we might save with Siberian bases are an arbitrary figure totted up without considering the cost and time involved in building them, the manning and policing of them, the Japanese attacks to which they would be immediately subjected, the bloody preoccupation of Russia on her desperate Western front, the large Jap forces bristling along the Manchurian border that are ready for battle and immobilized only by Soviet inaction in the Far East. The point that he made was primer, and, in effect, this: No new front in global war is opened with haphazard arithmetic, or without losses.

Once again Roosevelt was the straight-talking, pleasant chief executive, not too busy with problems of a Commander-in-Chief to set puzzled minds at rest with frankness. He acknowledged the good as well as the harm done by senatorial junketing. He seemed honestly to feel that congressional globe-trotting is a broadening and democratic practice.

As other questions rise, the muddled and mystified and misinformed hope only that this presidential friendliness is not a flash in the pan—that more and clearer information will come to the people from the executive end of Pennsylvania avenue.

As it is improbable that State Republican leaders read Hungarian, reports from Stockholm that the Hungarian newspaper, A Mai Nap, has doubled its circulation after publishing Wendell Willkie's "One World," should cause little furor in political circles here.

CRUMBLING FOUNDATION

A Dry Sees Some Good in Liquor

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Minister says friends of temperance will get nowhere again unless they realize excess is only a symptom; he calls the saloon the confessional for the poor of the great cities; urges easing the intolerable tensions of modern industrialism that drive people to drink.

The Rev. Alton Jesse Smith, Pastor of the Methodist Church, Bayport, Long Island, N. Y., in the Christian Century.

We seem to be witnessing a revival of organized opposition to the liquor traffic. May I, as a Christian minister who heartily supports the limitation of the alcohol business up to and including its extinction, respectfully suggest that unless this opposition is intelligent enough to include some hitherto overlooked factors, it will once again come to naught?

During a leave of absence from the ministry spent largely in working with labor and that bright but unstable splinter of Bohemia known as the "literary left," I got rather better acquainted with the liquor business than most of my ministerial brethren. Not, as might be suspected, from an extended sampling of their hellish brews, but from the fact that many of the people with whom I worked subsisted largely on alcohol, and many of the meetings which I had to attend were held in places where the stuff was sold. These ranged all the way from sawdust-floored Eighth avenue barrooms to chromium-plated Fifty-second street firetraps where champagne cocktails rattled at $1.50 per sip. It is against this background that I make these observations.

We no longer approach the liquor problem from the father-dear-father-come-home-with-me-now angle; neither do we rely so much on the hideous hues of the drunkard's stomach to frighten children into the Junior Temperance Legion. We do emphasize the industrial waste of liquor, the menace of the drinking driver, the habit-forming properties of alcohol, the brain's lessened motor efficiency and other factors of a similar nature. That is all to the good, but something new must be added.

Why Do People Drink?

We are facing the question of what liquor does to a person, but we never have faced the question of what liquor does for the drinker.

We will have to face this, for liquor does do something for the drinker. If it didn't there would be no drinking. It removes repression. Psychologically, liquor is a sort of cathartic. The person with a few drinks in him is likely to say what he thinks. He gets rid of what is bothering him. "Most men," wrote Thoreau, "lead lives of quiet desperation." True, as every minister knows. And as long as it is true, men will seek respite, no matter how temporary or high-priced, in liquor or in some other opiate.

Liquor does make for a sort of fellowship; it tends to break down barriers. It is not entirely an empty boast that the saloon is the "poor man's club." Indeed, one wonders not why there are so many men in the poorly lit, dismal bars of America's Eighth avenues and South Halsted streets, but why any of the men in the neighborhood should care to be anywhere else.

In Search of Release

In the brick and concrete municipal wilderness that is New York (Chicago, Boston, Portland) the saloon is the one place where, for the price of a glass of beer, a man can participate in the affairs of a man's world, where he can pour out his troubles to the father confessor in the white coat as he never could to the father confessor in the black robe. The beer itself, in this case, is almost completely incidental.

The men one finds in the barroom are not—if you will pardon the Saroyan touch—degenerates or bums, but for the most part human beings in search of sanctuary. That they find it there is a criticism of the church and the other institutions of our society as much as of them. I am not romanticizing the saloon. But if you wish to take the saloon away from American slums, take away the conditions that drive people to the saloon.

Alcohol, we have been warned, dulls the senses. To this a pent answer is, So what? Are the conditions of life in this year 1943 so delightful, on the whole, that the average man should keep continually on the quiver?

That alcohol dulls the senses is an argument that will serve both sides of this question. Many people were aghast at the revelation that precious cargo space on boats going to the African-battlefront was given over to beer. The only wonder is that the space was not given to some more lethal beverage, like absinthe. To a boy caught in the hell of modern warfare beer is a poor substitute for the temporary oblivion of a more adequate opiate.

Our Century's Schizophrenia

All this is simply to emphasize what the psychologists are now telling us—that drinking is not a disease in itself, but a symptom. Like any other neurotic symptom, it cannot be cured apart from the underlying maladjustment which caused it.

Although there are, of course, individual differences, the "underlying maladjustment" today is the fatal schizophrenia of the twentieth century that permits men and nations to call themselves "Christian" but makes no demand upon them to live, think and worship as followers of the Christ of Nazareth.

Let us get this firmly in mind. We are not going to "solve" the alcohol problem until we find some way to lessen the almost intolerable tensions of modern industrialism—capitalism, if you like. This is not to say that we can do nothing until we have created God's Kingdom here on earth. We can and should continue the kind of temperance education we have begun, but we ought to supplement it with realization of the symptomatic nature of drinking.

A Call to Churches

We can turn churches in under-privileged areas into institutional churches instead of abandoning them. We can set up body, mind and soul clinics in connection with as many churches as we can get adequate clerical-psychiatric supervision for.

We have continually pointed out the inadequacy of reforming the drunkard and leaving the saloon unreformed. Let us now have the courage to point out the inadequacy of reforming the saloon and leaving the whole business-industrial order unreformed. The so-called liquor problem will be solved when man has more adequately solved the problems of life in an industrial society.

SO ERNIE WAS TIRED

From the New York World Telegram.

Ernie Fyle says he came home from Sicily because he was tired.

So Ernie was tired when he wrote those dispatches that sang of men and arms.

As one of the editors who receive Ernie's dispatches, we feel about it as Lincoln did about Gen. Grant's whisky. We wish all our reporters and writers would get good and tired.

Writer on Future of Aviation Keeps His Feet on the Ground

"The Air Future: A Primer of Aeropolitics," by Hershey Burnett. (Duell, Sloan & Pearce, New York.)

According to this author, a foreign correspondent, man's conquest of the air is as important a step in his evolution as that which occurred when living organisms first emerged from the sea and spread over the land.

The way in which this new power is handled will determine, Mr. Burnett believes, whether it will bring "economic freedom or flaming death" to the door of every human being. Therefore he has written this "primer" to put before us laymen the problems an air-dominated world will face and to show how various solutions will affect our lives.

The questions discussed range from the airplane's effect on the growth of cities such as St. Louis and the relative strategic positions of England, Russia and the United States in the postwar air world to the controversy between Clare Luce and Mr. Wallace over "freedom of the air." Of this last issue, Burnett says with a characteristic realism that Wallace confuses "peace to men of good will" with "peace and good will to all men" and that Mrs. Luce mixes freedom of the air with the right of commercial air transit.

Though this reporter states in a surprisingly Shakespearean phrase that the recent progress of aviation "pales the extravagant talk and overstates the prophecies," he has the virtue, unusual in a writer on aeronautics, of keeping his feet on the ground. The auto, the railroad and the steamship are not viewed as obsolete, but as complementary to the plane. In his opinion, it is in the undeveloped regions—Siberia, South America and China—that the plane will play its greatest peacetime role.

To many readers, perhaps the most important conclusion to be drawn from this book is implied rather than stated. If "to aviation, political boundaries are obsolete absurdities," and if "there is no such thing as 'defense' in an air world, other than the constant ability to smash the enemy before he leaves his home base, with less than 24 hours' warning," then the airplane has settled the debate over nationalism versus internationalism.

FORREST CAMPBELL.

Good Reading About the West

"Golden Pledge," by Hargis Call. (Houghton Mifflin Co., Boston.)

"Only the Valiant," by Charles Marquis Warren. (Macmillan Co., New York.)

Here are three "good-readin'" books about the West. The first is a humorous personal-experience report by a native of Texas who went to Montana as the wife of a wool-grower. Living on an isolated sheep ranch, Mrs. Call, however, did no wool-gathering. She has learned a lot about nature and animals and people, now that she has seen the Northwest's fringed gentian bloom 25 times, and she transmits it brightly and entertainingly in her pages. The chapter on the "rural telephone" belongs in the humor anthologies.

The second book, also heavily larded with good humor, has for its setting the Grand Teton Mountains in Wyoming. The author, a newspaper man, now in the Army Air Force, introduces the reader to the varied folk who live in or come to the remote region—old-timers, dudes, skiers, cowboys. He also takes them on a personally conducted tour of all places of interest, dines them on elk meat and assists them in preparing for 30-foot snows.

"Only the Valiant" is a first-rate novel composed against the final fight of a small American Army post against Chief Tuscon and his Apache warriors 70-odd years ago. Written by a young Navy Ensign, it is an authentic account of Indian warfare and high-spirited life around the Western Army outposts in the last century.

'ON THE RECORD'

By Dorothy Thompson

FIVE SENATORS DISCOVER THE WORLD—II

It is obvious that the five Senators, just returned from a two months' junket around the world, covering all war fronts, are stirring things up considerably in Washington.

They apparently agree, by and large, that our war strategy is satisfactory; that the fighting forces are excellent and production effectively delivered. But they are worried about the British, and suggest that a good deal is being put over on us. The British, they find, are better traders than we are and as for the Russians, our lend-lease isn't fully appreciated by the Russian people.

They've told their story to the rest of the people on the hill, and there are signs that the clique is forming. Senator Allen J. Ellender has let out a blast on the old theme that we are the world's suckers and charity dispensers. The question is raised what we're going to get for all this. Are we, for instance, to have permanent bases on our own air bases we have been building all over the world on other people's land?

Temerity Is Striking.

A non-reporter is struck by the temerity of the five Senators. Every correspondent, establishing headquarters in a foreign country, knows that it takes several months before he can feel his way into any angle of a situation. Yet the five Senators had 60 days to come to a conclusion about the globe.

In that time, they have found out that the British are established practically everywhere, and the Americans aren't. The authenticity of this discovery is indisputable. The British Empire has been a going concern for more than 200 years. Until after the last war it was a free trade nation. World trade rather than domestic trade, together with marine transportation and financial services, has been a chief source of its livelihood. The British have been the greatest distributors of the world's goods.

In the course of some 200 hundred years of doing this, they have built up an enormous commercial apparatus all over the globe. This has involved training hundreds of thousands of commercial agents, civil servants, linguists who can speak Kiswahili and Urdu, for instance. They have all over the world what is called in business "good will."

In the last 150 years, the United States has been concerned with building up an empire between the Atlantic and Pacific and developing domestic resources and trade in a contiguous, continental, free trade area, bound by one language and living under the same political system.

Now, this global war has drawn us out of our cocoon, and scattered American forces and interests all over the earth. And suddenly our Senators find out that the globe is not an empty space in which a country which has been isolationist is on the same footing as one which for centuries has been engaged in world-wide responsibilities.

50 FRENCH AVIATORS GIVEN ENTERTAINMENT

Trainees at Scott Field Par-take of Native Menu, Dance at La Francaise Party.

(Pictures in Everyday Magazine)

Fifty members of the French Air Force stationed temporarily at Scott Field for training in aviation radio were guests last night at a reception, dinner and dance given in their honor by La Societe Francaise de St. Louis, at King Right Hall, 5010 Enright avenue.

To a background of memories of a France that was the men, danced to French and American music provided by a phonograph and the Orquesta la Sociedad Mexicana de Beneficencia. At each of the many tables of four and more persons, at least one, in addition to the airman, spoke French. Several dictionaries appeared conspicuously when either a Frenchman or his companion were at a loss for the precise phrase.

The men, in khaki uniforms which they obtained on their arrival at Scott Field, came to the party from North Africa. Most of them are Battle of France veterans and a few saw action also during the first phase of the Battle of Tunisia.

Lt. Ferrel Bolo, their commanding officer, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the major part of the group had left North Africa shortly after the Americans landed there nearly a year ago. All of them attended gunnery school in Florida before coming here, and the first contingent reached Scott Field about four months ago, he said.

St. Louisians have been most friendly to the men, the Lieutenant said. On days off, they often visit with St. Louis families who have welcomed them most generously, he stated.

Probably the most popular hostesses with the visiting airman is Mrs. E. J. Paddock, 4170 Fied avenue. Mrs. Paddock, born in Tours, France, married an American doughboy during the first World War and returned with him to make her home here.

Known to many of the French soldiers as "Mama" and "Mama," she cooks French meals for them and often acts as their interpreter. Last night's menu, French throughout and posted where it could be seen by everyone, consisted of "soupe a l'oignon, charcuterie maison, saumon mayonnaise, salade de pommes de terre, fromages, gateaux, petit fours, fruits, cafe au vin."

On behalf of the Societe Francaise, founded here about 60 years ago to preserve French literature, language and customs, Mlle. Irma L. Ponscarne, its president, welcomed the men, wished them good luck and speedy victory.

Included among the hosts to the French airmen were the Rev. John Bannan, Prof. Gustave Grevenig and Prof. Felix Giovannelli of St. Louis University.

JAPS 'LIBERATE' THE PHILIPPINES, SET UP PUPPET administration, had been named "special ambassador" to the Philippines. The Philippines are the second people to be accorded their "freedom" by Tokyo while still remaining to all intents and purposes completely dominated by Japan. Burma, previously was similarly "freed."

The obvious propaganda purposes behind the Japanese move in the Philippines was indicated by a Tokyo broadcast, reported by OWI, which said Japan's "altruistic and generous" act should prove a "great stimulus for India's struggle." Tokyo propagandists have promised independence to India.

Laurel, a former Minister of the Interior in the Philippines, has been acting as a puppet administrator under the Japanese since they took over the islands. He was wounded by an assassin's shot on the Manila golf course last May. Manuel Queson, constitutional president of the Philippine Commonwealth, is in the United States.

FOUR GLIDER VICTIMS SUGGESTED FOR PRIZE

Six Who Have Died Within Year Urged on Committee on St. Louis Award.

Names of six St. Louisians who have died within the past year are included in a list of suggestions made to the committee in charge of the annual St. Louis Award.

Presentation of the Award, $1000 and a certificate, it was announced today, will take place in the Mayor's office at 11 a. m. Monday, Oct. 25.

The first suggestion listed by the committee was that a posthumous award be made to four of the 10 victims of the Lambert-St. Louis Field glider disaster of Aug. 1. "To Mayor William Dee Becker, Thomas N. Dysart, Max H. Doynes, Charles L. Cunningham, posthumously, for their unselfish and devoted services to the City of St. Louis," Dysart was president of the Chamber of Commerce, Doynes, Director of Public Utilities, and Cunningham, Deputy Controller.

The other suggestions of posthumous awards were: "To former Mayor Henry W. Kiel, posthumously, for his many contributions to the welfare of the community." Kiel died last Thanksgiving Day.

"To Fire Chief Joseph W. Morgan, posthumously, for his distinguished services for fire prevention." Chief Morgan was killed by a falling wall in a North St. Louis fire last March.

Living persons, and one group, suggested for the award, are: George E. Dieckman, work for Zoo; George Vierheller, Zoo administration; Walter W. Head, civic work; Jesse P. Henry, saving Campbell House; State Representative Raymond J. Lahey, fight for lower interest rates; J. Wesley McAffee, leadership War Chest campaign; Frank C. Rand, organizing War Chest; Harry Miller Pfleger, locomotive inventions; St. Louis Juvenile Commission, combating delinquency; Dr. Frank Sullivan, Civilian Defense work; Dean Sidney E. Sweet, social work; Dr. Edgar C. Taylor, educational work; Jennie Wahler, teacher; and Maurice Weil, youth welfare work.

The committee announced that Rand, one of those named in the foregoing list, would present the award. The committee's decision will not be made known before the ceremony. The Award, by an anonymous donor, and originally limited to 10 years, will be continued indefinitely, it was announced after the tenth bestowal, to Dr. Everts A. Graham last November.

Out-of-town guests are Mrs. Harold Short of Short Hills, N. J., aunt of the bridegroom; Mrs. Allen Snyder of Omaha, Neb., a former St. Louisian, and Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Bain of Columbia, uncle and aunt of the bride.

FIVE FREE SYMPHONY CONCERTS NEXT WEEK

St. Louis Orchestra to Present Programs in Nearby Centers.

The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra will present five free concerts next week in nearby towns under the program of the American Federation of Musicians to stimulate wartime morale by giving small cities an opportunity to hear the country's leading symphony orchestras.

The full orchestra of 75, playing under the direction of Assistant Conductor Harry Farberman, will present Strauss waltzes, Tchaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite" and other popular selections from the classics.

The first concert in the series will be presented Sunday at 3 p. m. in Jefferson City. If weather permits, the concert will be given on the Capitol grounds; if not, the orchestra will play in the high school auditorium.

The other four concerts, all to begin at 8 p. m., are scheduled as follows: Monday, Dawes Gymnasium, Blackburn College, Carlinville, Ill.; Tuesday, Alton High School auditorium; Wednesday, Edwardsville High School auditorium; Thursday, Gillespie (Ill.) High School auditorium.

Sam P. Meyers, president of Local No. 2 of the AFL union, declined to give the cost of the five concerts by the St. Louis Symphony. James C. Petrillo, national head of the union, has estimated that 570 concerts would cost $500,000.

Petrillo, who said President Roosevelt suggested the plan to the free concerts "a lot of headaches," emphasizing transportation troubles.

With extra gasoline out of the question and no buses available, transportation proved a problem in planning the concerts by the St. Louis orchestra. The problem was solved by arranging for the orchestra to travel to Jefferson City by railroad coach and to make the trips into Illinois via the Illinois Traction System, returning to St. Louis each night.

SEE HOW CRISCO TURNS THE POINT-THRIFTY FRANKFURTER INTO DINNERS DELUXE!

Prepared with CRISCO, Low-point Foods Satisfy Big Appetites —Keep Digestions Happy!

Frankfurters aren't plain "hot dogs" when Crisco gets to work. Noma! You can count on Crisco to turn this low-point food into smacking-good, digestible meals.

Take that Southern Dinner. Crisco makes a golden-crust bread topped so light and digestible it's fit for a king. And see what Crisco-frying does for those Franks in Blankets. Makes them brown and crisp—so digestible even children may eat 'em! No wonder you hear good cooks say "I just couldn't do without Crisco!"

Get Crisco today and you'll agree that Crisco does more for your cooking than ordinary shortenings do. You're sure of good-tasting, digestible meals when you use pure, all-vegetable Crisco for baking, frying... for all your cooking!

CRISCO is the only shortening you need—BEST FOR ALL YOUR COOKING

FRANKS IN POTATO BLANKETS
Wrap thin frankfurters in a coating of leftover mashed potatoes. Roll in flour. Melt enough Crisco in hot skillet to cover bottom of pan generously. Fry coated frankfurters till golden brown. It's a joy to fry with Crisco. There's no heavy smoke or grease... no off-taste to the food. No need to worry about digestions, either. For foods fried crisp and brown in pure, all-vegetable Crisco are so digestible even the children may eat 'em!

SOUTHERN FRANKFURTER DINNER (Serves 4-6)
Fry 1 large onion, cut in rings, and 1/2 cup diced green pepper in hot Crisco. (You may use Crisco you've fried with before—it doesn't carry flavors from one food to the next!) Add 1/2 lb. frankfurters, sliced thin, 2 cups tomatoes (pulp and juice), salt and pepper. Bring to boil. Pour into 8"x8" baking pan. Cover with Cornbread batter. Sift together 1/2 cup sifted flour, 1/4 cup yellow cornmeal, 1/2 tsp. soda, 1/2 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. salt. Cut in 2 tbs. Crisco. (Use point-thrifty Crisco for all your baking... for lighter cakes; flaky, tender pie crusts; really digestible baked things.) Beat 1 egg with 3/4 cup sour (or sweet) milk. Stir into dry mix. Spoon carefully over meat mixture. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 25-30 min. till top is golden brown. Serve from pan or invert on platter. All Measurements Level.

FRANKFURTER FOLDOVERS (Serves 4-6)
1/2 lb. frankfurters 1 cup milk
1/2 tbs. butter 1/2 tsp. salt
2 tbs. Crisco 1 tbs. prepared
3 tbs. flour mustard
1 recipe biscuit dough
Parboil frankfurters. Chop fine or dice. Make white sauce: Melt Crisco; blend in flour. Stir in milk. Cook till thickened. Add salt and mustard. (No need to use butter for sauces—fresh, snowy Crisco makes 'em creamy and smooth!) Combine with frankfurters. Make biscuit dough. (For mouth-melting biscuit, use digestible Crisco in your favorite recipe.) Roll out thin. Cut into 8 squares. Put equal amount of filling on each square. Fold biscuit dough over filling in triangle shapes or long rolls. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) for 20-30 min. Serve hot—or cold for lunchbox treats. All Measurements Level.

was one who marched on Rome with Mussolini.

In a country which has been hungry this man is well fed and beautifully dressed. He has been living on these people since Fascism came here and he has not done bad for himself. On the surrender of a community he is usually the first to offer to help in the government. He will do anything to help if only he can just keep his graft and his power.

It is to be hoped that he is never permitted either to help or to stay in his position. Indeed, our commanders are usually visited by committees of townspeople and farmers who ask that the local Fascist be removed and kept under wraps.

They know that if he ever gets power again he will avenge himself on them. They hate him and want to be rid of him. And if you ask if they were Fascists, most Italians will reply: "Sure, you were a Fascist or you didn't get any work, and if you didn't work your family starved." And whether or not this is true, they seem to believe it thoroughly.

As the conquest goes on up the length of Italy, the crops are going to change. Some soldiers are already feeling an apprehension for the cabbage districts and the potato harvest, if they, too, are used as thrown tokens of love and admiration.

content himself with chewing up another carpet.

Certainly we must assume that Dr. Salazar, the Portuguese Premier, did not act blindly or impetuously in granting bases in the Azores to Great Britain. For the danger of a German attack on Portugal, a danger that loomed very near in 1940, has now evaporated.

It has evaporated for three reasons.

The first is that since the Allied occupation of North Africa, Sicily, Sardinia and Corsica and the surrender of the Italian fleet, the Allies are now in unquestioned control of the Mediterranean.

Secondly, the Allies have a large force in North Africa which, in the event of a German attack on Portugal (which would also be virtue of the existing Spanish-Portuguese arrangement) be an attack on Spain could be moved into Spain.

And, thirdly, a German invasion of Spain would compel the diversion of a German force far beyond Hitler's present capacity to provide.

Not only would the Germans, if they moved into Spain, have to guard Spain's long and difficult communication lines, but they would also have to garrison all of Spain's numerous ports—Vigo and Coruna in the west; Gijon, Santander, Bilbao and San Sebastian on the Bay of Biscay; Malaga, Almeria, Cartagena, Alicante, Valencia and Barcelona on the Mediterranean.

Every one of these ports, unless held in strength by the Nazis, could serve as an Allied bridgehead for the creation of another European front.

Can Bomb Lisbon.

THE most that Germany could do at this juncture to penalize Portugal for its pro-Allied move is to bomb Lisbon and other Portuguese cities. In fact, not even a break in Portuguese-German diplomatic relations may occur since the Nazis may decide that Lisbon is too valuable as a listening post to be abandoned.

There is a passage in the ancient Anglo-Portuguese alliance (it was made in 1373) which is well for Americans to ponder at this time. "They shall," says that document, "henceforth reciprocally be friends to friends and enemies to enemies."

For it is not Britain alone that will profit by the use of the Azores as a sea and air base. All of the United Nations will profit from that development. Because of it fewer American and Greek and Dutch and Norwegian ships and sailors will be sunk. Because it will make possible the substitution of carrier-based planes for U-boat hunting by land-based aircraft, the naval balance in the Pacific will be further altered in our favor.

So because, through dark years and bright, Britain kept alive an alliance made five and a half centuries ago all the members of the United Nations will benefit, just as the British and our other overseas Allies benefit from the good neighbor policy which we have so earnestly and honestly pursued toward our sister republics to the south these many years.

Finally, we reach our mortars and field pieces which face across Blackett Strait. It was from here that about 420 Japanese of the 1200 who originally held Arundel, escaped. They are members of the Mikado's own Thirteenth Infantry Regiment, which answers only to the Emperor's direct order.

The regiment had once escaped from Balakovo harbor on the western side of New Georgia whence it had been driven by the Marines and Army. Thence it had been driven the length of Arundel Island by the Forty-third Division. The Twenty-fifth Division put on the final attack.

The Japanese and Americans are able to eye each other directly across Blackett Strait. The Japanese, expecting to be pursued here, have fortified themselves with grass-covered blockhouses, set slightly back on a long continuous plantation covering the opposite shore.

Most such plantations are owned or their market is controlled by Lever brothers, an English copra-buying corporation. Both Japanese and Americans hack down Lever's coconut trees to build the airfields of the Solomons. The difference is that the Japanese pay nothing, while the Americans pay the Lever brothers or their representatives from $1 to $10 for every coconut tree felled in the defense of the Pacific.

Carthage Pastor Heads Nazarenes. CARTHAGE, Mo., Oct. 14.—The Rev. L. D. Sharp, pastor of the Carthage Church of the Nazarene, was re-elected president of the Joplin zone of Nazarene churches at the annual convention here. The next session will be held in Joplin.

AFL AUTHORIZES ADMITTING UMW, BUT NOT 'AS IS'

Empowers Council to Act, but Requires Jurisdictional Issues Be Settled
First.

BOSTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—The American Federation of Labor's gesture of welcome to the United Mine Workers' affiliation up to their president, John L. Lewis, today. In Washington Lewis said he had no comment at this time. The AFL convention attached a condition to its authorization of a charter for the UMW—jurisdictional issues must be negotiated first—but there was no mistaking the Federation's willingness to readmit the Lewis union, not only with bona fide mine workers, but possibly even with other workers, provided they are not in the crafts claimed by AFL unions.

It was made clear, too, that to come back Lewis would have to recede from his position that the AFL take the UMW "as is" and talk about jurisdictions after affiliation. Matthew Woll, resolutions committee chairman, gave this assurance on pleading yesterday for adoption of a report giving the executive council authority to deal finally with Lewis. "This formula is designed to protect the interests of every affiliated organization," Woll said.

"This council is not going to bargain away the jurisdictional rights of any organization merely to admit the United Mine Workers," Green Urges Acceptance. The delegates overwhelmingly defeated an amendment to require the council to report back to a convention before it could issue a charter after President William Green made a strong plea for acceptance of the proposal as a contribution to labor unity.

"I would be remiss if I stood silent now," Green said. "Ever since the walkout in 1935, I have appealed to them to return to the house of labor."

"When the pioneers of the labor movement laid the foundations on which this great structure of the house of labor is built, they created a home for all labor."

"And so I have asked them to come back—and they're coming back."

"With your permission, I'll stand at the door of the house of labor with my hand out, to welcome them back."

Green declared that at the time of the labor split, the AFL had told Lewis that he was wrong, and that he was doing great injury to the labor movement.

"You may not know you are doing grievous wrong," he told him. Green added, "but eventually you will."

"Now the leader of the dual movement is asking us to take him back. My opinion is that the years have mellowed his judgment."

Green Re-elected. The AFL today re-elected Green for his twentieth term. He was nominated by Frank Duffy of the carpenters and joiners' union and was re-elected by the casting of a single ballot.

The convention also re-elected Secretary-Treasurer George Meany and the following vice-presidents: William L. Hutcheson, carpenters; Matthew Woll, photo-engravers; Joseph N. Weber, musicians; G. M. Bugniat, electrical workers; George M. Harrison, railway clerks; Daniel J. Tobin, teamsters; Harry C. Bates, bricklayers; W. D. Mahon, street and electric railway workers; Felix H. Knight, railway carmen; Edward Flore, hotel and restaurant workers; Harvey W. Brown, machinists; W. C. Doherty, right, barbers, and W. C. Doherty, letter carriers. The Federation chose New Orleans for its convention in November, 1944.

The convention adopted a committee report on "conscription and bureaucracy" which denounced both and recorded the convention as opposed to "Government by directives." The report named no departments or agencies, but said: "We have reached the conclusion from a careful study of our wartime production results that the already fabulous record for production would have been materially greater had it not been for the bungling and ineptness on the part of some public representatives charged with responsibility who, because of their lack of practical experiences in the relationships of men in industry—management and labor—harbored the thought that they knew better than both what was required and sought to impose regulations and rules to govern both groups through the issuing of 'directives.' The use of discretionary power vested in them has largely led to justified irritation, confusion and, as serious as these, to the constant overlapping of the jurisdiction of numerous Federal agencies."

Cardinals Return More Money to Fans Than Total Series Receipts

Brazle and Walker Go Into Army

By W. J. McGoogan

More money will be refunded by the Cardinals to the fans than the total receipts for the five games played in the world series by the time all the cash for the sixth game, which wasn't played, has gone back.

Total receipts for the three games in New York and the two here amounted to $1,108,784 while requests for seats here beyond capacity and which have long since been returned, amounted to $1,725,000. And now the Cardinals are to send back an estimated $138,000 for sixth-game tickets.

The money for holders of those tickets will be available at the Arcade Building ticket office starting Saturday. Also the pasteborders may be mailed in for refunds.

Future in Doubt. That is about the last remaining act, to clear up the series business and fans have already started to turn their attention to next year's possibilities.

Whether there will be major league baseball next year, of course, depends upon the war situation. Officials, here for the series, said there was just no way they could give an intelligent answer to the question as to whether the game would continue.

Conditions which exist today may change so materially by tomorrow that the whole setup might be altered.

Man power, of course, is the chief worry. The Cardinals, for instance, have lost Pitcher Alpha Brazle and Outfielder Harry Walker, to the armed services since the series closed. They were accepted at Jefferson Barracks yesterday and received the customary three-week furlough before they must report for active duty.

It may be that by the time the minors are combed for talent, a sufficient number of players to continue the game may be uncovered, but all of that is highly problematical.

Fraud of Baseball's Record. Certain it is that everybody concerned wants to see baseball go on if it can do so without interference with the war effort. Officials are proud of the record baseball is making in this war both as to the number of players who are in the service and the amount of money which has been collected for relief and for war bonds and they don't want anything to happen to jeopardize that record.

Sam Breadon, Cardinal president, said his organization is going ahead on the assumption there will be baseball next year, although, he added, nobody can tell anything about it.

The Redbirds have one of the outstanding minor league prospects in Red Schoendienst, of Germantown, Ill., who played shortstop for the Rochester club of the International League the past season and led the circuit in hitting.

"He's a great prospect but needs experience," said Breadon. "And, of course, we have Marion."

Counts on Lucky Draw. George Widener hopes to see his colors carried to a stakes victory at Pimlico by his good runner Lucky Draw.

Co-Ed Drop Kicker

Blonde AGNES RIFNER, New Castle (Ind.) High School's girl griddler, practices her specialty, which is drop-kicking for points after touchdown. Her two attempts in a recent game failed, but her coach says he'll use her again, attributing her first failure to nervousness.

Oklahoma Sees 'Red' Again--Wade in Tulsa Uniform

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 14 (AP).—The Oklahoma Sooners won't be seeing a ghost Saturday—although they probably would prefer a nice, chain-clanking "haunt." Instead, it will be a very solid young man named Maurice (Red) Wade, formerly of Missouri, now wearing the colors of the Tulsa Hurricane.

Haunting the Sooners are memories of two years ago, when Red Wade ramaged for three touchdowns to help the Missouri Tigers stifle Oklahoma, 28 to 0, and win the Big Six gridiron championship.

Beset by injuries, Wade quit Missouri, and has popped up this year at Tulsa. Oklahoma isn't enjoying the double feature billing for its game with the Hurricane.

Iowa State vs. Nebraska. The Iowa State Cyclones have been dressing up a passing attack for their Nebraska contest, and Coach Ad Lewandowski at Lincoln reciprocated yesterday by spending most of the workout building an aerial defense to keep those State passes out of his Huskers' hair.

The Nebraska mentor indicated his injured quarterback, Ted Kenfield, definitely will not play at Ames this week end.

At Columbia Coach Chauncey Simpson welcomed his ailing fullback, Don Reese, back into harness, but ordered his reserve fullback, Bob Wilmers, to the hospital for an examination of a side injury. Working with Reese were Paul Collins, Leland Russell and Bill Delastatus in the No. 1 back.

By the Associated Press. ELIZABETH, N. J. — Freddie Russo, Rahway, outpunched Frankie Leto, 131½, Irvington, (6).

HARTFORD, Conn. — Sal Bartolo, 139, Boston, knocked out Billy Bates, 130½, Pittsburgh (3).

5th Victory In Row Aim Of Purdue

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (AP).—Power-packed Purdue, leading offensive team in the Western Conference, will meet Coach Paul Brown's hustling Ohio State youngsters Saturday at Cleveland Municipal Stadium and some observers see an upset brewing.

Their record, however, should establish the Boilermakers as heavy favorites. Official conference figures released today show Coach Elmer Burnham's veteran huskies leading the loop with 454 yards gained from scrimmage—all but 51 on the ground—in their only conference game.

In scoring, Purdue, with 40 points, is second only to Illinois, which rolled up 46 points in two games, while the Boilermakers fullback Tony Butkovich is tops in individual scoring with four touchdowns, good for 24 points.

Beesides defeating Illinois, 40 to 21, Purdue has won all three of its non-conference tilts, whipping Great Lakes, 23 to 13; Marquette, 21 to 0, and Camp Grant, 19 to 0. Saturday's meeting will be Ohio State's conference opener and the Huskies are growing that the youngsters are capable of most anything. This was demonstrated, more or less, last week when they fought the star-studded Great Lakes Bluejackets to a standstill, only to lose, 13 to 6.

The big guns Coach Brown will fire at Purdue are his brilliant freshman backfield finds, Ernie Parks and Dean Sensenbrenner. Both have been sensational thus far.

State has only one victory in three games—a 27-to-6 triumph over Missouri—but in losing to Great Lakes and to the strong Iowa Seahawks, 23 to 13, the Buckeyes have shown they are no performance footloose. They have the stuff of which upsets are made.

Tops in Defense. Indiana, which travels to Iowa City to engage the Hawkeyes in the only other conference battle of the season, tops the conference in defensive prowess in their only Big Ten game to date, the Hoosiers held Northwestern to a total gain of 92 yards, only 36 of them on the ground.

Offensive play was stressed at Champaign as Coach Ray Ellet prepared his Illinois for Pittsburgh. At Northwestern the first team solved Great Lakes running plays but had trouble stopping the Salton's passing game, demonstrated by Coach Lynn Waldorf, who posed as Steve Jurwik in throwing series.

Great Lakes engaged in a long offensive drill. Halfback Ray Jones, out with injuries since the Purdue game, was back for duty and received an assignment at left halfback on the second backfield.

The Iowa Seahawks, who meet Missouri at Kansas City Saturday night, polished up their running plays and ball handling. Coach George Hauser of Minnesota told his squad it couldn't expect to whip Camp Grant on speed alone, but proceeded to stress speed in the day's practice session.

Notre Dame worked out in the rain after Coach Frank Leahy had praised three second stringers—Guard John Perko and Ends Ray Kuffel and Jack Zilly—for their performance against Michigan. Wisconsin, Notre Dame's opponent Saturday, failed to halt second stringers employing Irish plays.

Michigan, with an open date this week, lost Ralph Amstutz, a guard, who forfeited Coach Fritz Crier he was taking a part-time war job. Marquette, also idle this week, prepared for its Great Lakes game Oct. 24.

Open Date for Yale. NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 14 (AP).—Yale has an open date this week, but the Eli has buckled down to the job of getting ready for their hardest game of the season, against Army next week.

SHORT WAVES

TOM KUZMA and JULIUS FRANKS, co-stars at Michigan U. last year, are in the same ward at the University Hospital recovering from lung ailments.

They share a radio listening to this year's games, and last Saturday's Michigan defeat by Notre Dame was not too cheering. . . . And "playing touch" football at Camp Wolters, Texas, is this dream backfield of BOB LIV.

INGSTON of Notre Dame, WALT McQUADE and JOHN CLIFFORD of Colgate and JOHN FEKETE of Ohio State. . . . To have those four playing "touch" sounds like a coach's nightmare.

It would have made a good match, but Purdue and Marquette will not battle again on the gridiron this season. Marquette suggested the second meeting on Nov. 13, an open date for both clubs.

Purdue's athletic director, GUS MACKEY, said it would be impossible to play. Purdue won the first match, 21-0.

The AMERICAN HOCKEY LEAGUE schedule will open Oct. 26, with Cleveland meeting Pittsburgh. . . . Buffalo will tangle with Indianapolis the following night and the other two sextets of the six-club circuit, Providence and Hershey, play Oct. 30 at Hershey. . . . Twenty-six home games are on the schedule for each club.

LEO (DUTCH) MEYER, to whom hedging is something to have around the yard, has put himself squarely on the spot by commenting on the game Saturday between his T. C. U. Horned Frogs and Texas Aggies: "The team that wins this game will win the Southwest Conference championship."

University of Texas followers don't like that, but Texas has yet to play the Aggies and Frogs. ZANZIBAR, the $4.60-for-2 favorite, came from last place to win the featured Big Blaze purse at Jarr Ica. . . . SHINY PENNY was victor in the Dover Handicap at Rockingham. TURNABLE won a two and a quarter mile event at Hawthorne and DIRECTOR J. E. captured a stake at Pimlico.

And switching to the start of the Churchill Downs meeting at Louisville Saturday, the Valinda Farms' ROUNDERS was assigned top weight of 122 pounds in the featured $2500 handicap. Twenty-one eligibles were nominated, but only about 10 are expected to start. The Churchill meeting will continue for 19 days.

EBBIE GOODFELLOW, veteran defenseman, has declined an offer from the Detroit Red Wings hockey team to manage its Indianapolis farm club in order to remain on a defense job—on a WAR job. . . . HERBIE LEWIS has resigned as Indianapolis pilot. Kansas State won't drop basketball from its program, after all, the athletic department reported. . . . The reason—facilities at the gymnasium, which large contingents of Army cadets use every day, will be available evenings for practice. . . . Buckley Harris Signs to Lead Buffalo Club

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP).—Stanley R. (Bucky) Harris, former "boy wonder" who managed major league clubs for 20 years, today signed as pilot of the Buffalo International League baseball club for 1944.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed, but it was understood they called for a large bonus and the largest salary ever paid a Buffalo manager.

Harris, who left the Philadelphia Phillies last August after serving briefly as manager, said he was "happy to be back in Buffalo." He played with Buffalo from 1917 until 1919 when he joined the Washington Senators.

Harris formerly managed Washington, Detroit and Boston in the American League.

Greg Mulvey resigned Oct. 1 as Buffalo pilot after the Bisons finished in seventh place.

Horner Benefit Show. A combination athletic-theatrical show for the benefit of Jackie Horner, former star welterweight boxer, who is seriously ill, will be held Oct. 27 at Gambirinus Hall, 3631 Salina street. Boxers and wrestlers will take part as well as night club entertainers. Horner was prominent in the flat world in the late twenties and early thirties and fought several champions.

Butkovich Top Scorer In Big Ten

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (AP).—Tony Butkovich, Purdue's bruising fullback, leads the Western Conference in individual scoring with 24 points on four touchdowns. All were scored against Illinois in the Boilermakers' only conference game to date.

Passing honors go to Bob Hornschmeyer of Indiana, who, in the Hoosiers' one conference encounter completed seven of 14 passes for a net gain of 114 yards. Dale Thompson, Iowa freshman, is second with three completions in six attempts, good for 53 yards.

Dale Thompson, Iowa — 13
Hornschmeyer, Indiana — 7

Kimbrough Reports At Kirtland Field

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 14 (AP).—Lieut. John Kimbrough, "Jarrin" Johnny Kimbrough, to Texas A. & M. football fans, reported for duty at Kirtland Field here yesterday as a twin-engine pilot but whether he will don the mole skins for the field's "Flying Killys" eleven remained a question.

Kimbrough came to Albuquerque after completing training at the Marfa, Tex., twin-engine advanced flying school.

The public relations office at the field said Kimbrough did not know whether he would play football, and that the nature of his duties at the field probably would determine his final decision.

Wrestlers Still "Athletes" at 60?

THE bushes are filled with more mat "champions" than the major cities boast. . . . There's big Ed Lewis, four times titleholder and now deep in the fifties, who only a few days ago displayed his 300 pounds in the Little Rock Auditorium, against Tom Zaharias, a well-disposed and accommodating minor mayhem dispenser.

We note also that recently Jimmy London exhibited his pulchritude and a little wrestling at Portland, Ore., where his partner in the scenario was none other than Crusher Jim Casey.

According to the publicity: "It was a case of a crafty age versus youth. . . . London, who had held the belt as champion longer than any other man, is crowding the 50-mark. . . . Casey, himself a champion, is a mere stripling of 31, it seems."

I has now been more than eight years since London suffered the crowning indignity of being tossed by Danno O'Mahony, who himself has been tossed oftener than a doughboy's dice. . . . The Crusher, who also has been decisively crushed, was a headliner in mat circles for several years.

It's rather a pitiful spectacle to see some of these discards, in some cases victims of promoter-made champions, tossed to the scrap pile to fend for themselves in pot-boiling bush shows.

In this group, besides the wrestlers named, there are a few others, including Ray Steele, Butch Levin, Yvon Robert, Lou Theaz, Bronko Nagurski (now back from football) and several others.

There is one thing about the wrestler. He must carry it. After years of extraordinary athletic activity due to many exhibitions he doesn't dare to stop his physical effort. . . . If he does he'll be overwhelmed by ever-mounting obesity, which always follows idleness on the part of a lifelong professional athlete. . . . It's an eternal treadmill of work for him or fatty degeneration of the heart.

Cheating Father Time

ROBERT FRIEDRICHS (left) "Strangler Ed Lewis" to the trade, and CHRIST THEOPELUS (right), who exhibits under the moniker "Jimmy London," who seem to defy the laws of nature. Lewis is the heart of 50 and London is nearing that age, but both are still giving mat exhibitions, alias contests.

Wilsman Has A New "Hope."

A GEORGE WILSMAN is in again. . . . This time he has a heavyweight "hope." Like Allen Matthews, Negro midweight with a goodnight wallop whom Wilsman paraded around the globe, George's new fighter is a dusky St. Louis boy, but a heavyweight.

You'll remember the name—Murray. . . . He won the Golden Glove title under the name of Emanuel, but now his preliminary designation is Lee Q.

This is the way George jubilates about Murray: "Armstrong has quit, but St. Louis has a boy for the top honors in the heavyweight class in Lee Q. Murray, who flattened Harry Bobo and Buddy Walker, among others, not to mention a one-round kayo of that big fellow Eliza Thompson from Indiana, sparring partner for the Baer boys at one time.

"This boy will take care of Jimmy Bivins, Lee Savold, Mello Bettina and Tami Mauriello and win the duration championship if he gets a chance."

As a forecaster Wilsman can hardly be classed as a wow. . . . He made a similar prediction about Matthews winning the midweight title, but he flopped. . . . At that, Allen did pretty well for George.

Soldan Should Prove Tough Hurdle for Beaumont Eleven

C.B.C. and McBride in Prep Game

By Harold Tuthill.

Beaumont is at the halfway mark in the Public High School League football race and if the Bluejackets come up with their third league victory against Soldan tomorrow night at Public Schools Stadium, they will be well on their way to another championship.

The Jackets may find Arnold von Lehten's Tigers a little more difficult than their previous opponents—Roosevelt and Central—because Soldan showed that it was an improved eleven by holding St. Louis U. High to a 13-to-12 score last week. And when you consider that the Tigers lost by only a 20-to-7 count to the powerful East St. Louis eleven, you appreciate more that Soldan should be a match for Beaumont.

In their only league game the Tigers defeated McKinley, 12 to 0.

Opposed to Soldan will be a team which seemingly has lost little of the power which carried it to the 1942 title. After defeating Blytheville, Ark., and losing to Maplewood, Beaumont walloped Roosevelt, 26 to 0, and Central, 20 to 0. Of the seven touchdowns in league competition, only two have been scored by one player—so diversified has been Beaumont's attack. Emmett Sharkey accounted for two and the others were tallied by John Studt, Bob Gorka, Russ Steger, Branko Marusic and Bob Moore.

After Soldan, Beaumont has only Southwest, McKinley and Cleveland remaining on its schedule. Of those three, perhaps only McKinley can be considered a breather. Cleveland has designs upon another title, depending, of course, what the Carondelet eleven does with Southwest Saturday. A defeat for either team would put a serious crimp in its championship aspirations.

In Saturday's nightcap, twice-beaten McKinley will oppose Roosevelt, which has won one and tied one game.

C. B. C. to Play McBride.
Although the Beaumont-Central game demands top billing tomorrow, there will be a great deal of interest in the C. B. C.-McBride game as the Brothers open their Preparatory League campaign on their gridiron. Neither team has the powerhouses of former years, but C. B. C. showed signs of coming to life by holding Maplewood to a 19-16 score after dropping decisions to University City and Webster Groves. The Brothers won their first game from McKinley, 20 to 12.

McBride opened with victories over Cleveland and Normandy and then was surprised by Central Catholic, 12 to 0, in a league encounter. Central will try to duplicate that with a verdict over South Side Catholic tomorrow night at Parson's Field.

Other owl contests tomorrow are Clayton at Maplewood, Kirkwood at St. Charles, Wellston at Ritenour and Chaminade at Belleville Cathedral, while the only day game scheduled is Normandy at University City.

Besides the city doubleheader Saturday, Central, the seventh member of the circuit will be the guest of Webster Groves in one of three afternoon contests. In the others, Western Military Academy will open its ABC League campaign at Burroughs and Roxana will invade Highland.

Harry Hopp Leads Scoring In Pro League

DETROIT, Oct. 14 (AP).—Johnny got a zero-zero for four in the world series—but Johnny Hopp's brother, Harry, has yet to be shut out in 1943, National Football League play.

With six touchdowns in four games for 36 points, Harry (Hippity) Hopp is the scoring leader of the pro league. At his present pace he's no great threat to the 138-point scoring record Green Bay's Don Hutson hung up last season, but his work is nevertheless astounding.

Hopp, Nebraska's Rose Bowl fullback in 1941, is playing his third season with Detroit, the first two years under Coach Gus Dorais. He started with three touchdowns against the Chicago Cardinals and got one each against Brooklyn, the Chicago Bears and Green Bay.

Harry and Johnny Hopp comprise one of big-time sport's foremost brother combinations. Johnny, the elder, has just finished his fourth full season with the Cardinals.

These two sons of Hastings, Neb., are wholly agreed on one point, that their kid brother, Wally, former Nebraska fullback and now in the Army, will be the family's greatest athlete. He'll have to be pretty good.

In his touchdown spurge, Harry Hopp has been largely a climax player. His ground gaining average is less than two yards a try, but he's hard to stop near the goal line. He has caught two touchdowns passes and turned an intercepted aerial into another score.

Alton Eleven to Test Belleville

Top game in the Southwestern Illinois High School Conference this week-end is the meeting of Belleville and Alton tomorrow night. Belleville will be seeking its fifth straight victory of the season and its third in league competition.

Alton appears to be a stronger team than its defeat at the hands of East St. Louis would indicate. The East Side Flyers will also be gunning for a third league victory, playing at Wood River. Including contests of last year, the Flyers hope to win their tenth straight contest. In 17 previous East St. Louis-Wood River contests, the former school has won 13, lost one and tied two.

Niehoff piloted the South Bend team which finished second. . . . Hear him declaim about the situation, as he told it to a hometown reporter, in Oklahoma City.

"Mr. Wrigley and the sponsors of major league softball teams in each city of the circuit put up $22,500 apiece before the season opened. . . . The sponsors were to get their money back and the league came next. . . . Every city paid back its guarantee!

"The league will expand in 1944," Niehoff said, "and if we're still shooting Germans then, we'll hit the big time. . . . It's manpower, you know. . . . There won't be men for the majors if this war lasts." (Note—The pro softball league is "manned" by girls.)

The Optimist Club needs Mr. Niehoff, to judge by his softball views. . . . Here's a game that has been brought up in the 15-cent admission class. . . . You can't reasonably expect it to command much more—not in this city, at least.

Gleeson & Co.—Lanier, after being taken out for a pinch hitter in Sunday's game, could have been declared the winning pitcher only if his side, during the Cards' time at bat in the seventh, had made enough runs to win the game. . . . Since the score then was only tied, had the Redbirds gone on to win the game, Brecheen, who succeeded Lanier on the mound, would have become the winning pitcher.

L. JOE MIHAL, who did an All-America job at tackle for Purdue and later for the Chicago Bears professionally, is now preparing United States soldiers for the All-America job of tackling the Axis at Jefferson Barracks, where he is a physical training officer in the Thirty-first Training Group.

Although he's doing a capable job of getting Army Air Forces Training Command personnel into shape to fight the German and Japs, Lt. Mihal says he'd much rather be over there himself taking a personal hand in the fighting.

After being one of the immovable blocks in the Chicago Bears' granite forward wall for two years, Lt. Mihal enlisted as a buck private May 26, 1942 at Ft. Hayes, O. He got his crack at Officers' Candidate School in Miami Beach, Fla., in October.

Lt. Mihal was assigned to the Stevens Hotel in Chicago, where a unit of the Army Air Forces Training Command was quartered. He was a military and physical training instructor and taught the boys how to shoot straight with the pistol. Lt. Mihal came to Jefferson Barracks Aug. 2.

COURT PERMITS FRISCO OUTLAY OF $21,851,935

$5,804,575 as Payment in Full to the RFC and RCC, $16,047,377 in Interest.

An order entered today by United States District Judge George H. Moore permits the trustees of the Frisco Railroad to settle for $5,804,575 its $11,723,513 debt to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Railroad Credit Corporation.

The court also authorized payment of $16,047,377 in past due interest on Frisco bonds.

To meet these payments, totaling $21,851,935, the railroad now has on hand in cash $32,500,000, according to testimony by Frank A. Thompson, trustee for the railroad, which is seeking reorganization in bankruptcy.

The effect of the RFC settlement is to give that government agency the full amount of the principal of two loans totaling $5,190,000 made in 1932. The RFC waives interest which was to have been paid at the rate of 6 per cent a year. The RFC claim, with interest to last Aug. 1, was for $7,984,000.

The RCC claim, with interest to the same date, totaled $3,739,513. It is to get $1,300,000 plus an amount estimated to be not more than $120,000 to be paid under the RCC "marshaling and distributing plan."

The bond interest payment will provide $180.60 on each $1000 Kansas City Fort Scott & Memphis bond; $40 on each $1000 prior lien series A 4 per cent bond; $50 on each $1000 prior lien series B 5 per cent bond; $60 on each $1000 prior lien series E 6 per cent bond; $48.91 on each $1000 Consolidated bond, series A, and $65.21 on each $1000 Consolidated bond, series B. These payments will go to about 30,000 bondholders.

Wabash Railroad Receivership Is Formally Terminated.

Formal termination of the Wabash Railroad receivership, which practically terminated Jan. 1, 1942, was pronounced today by United States District Judge George H. Moore. The receivership, instituted as an equity, not a bankruptcy, proceeding in 1931, was in effect until the beginning of last year, when a new corporation took over, and Norman B. Pitcairn, one of the two receivers, was installed as president.

The court, however, reserved final jurisdiction until certain technical formalities were completed. Judge Moore, in his order today, reviewed the receivership period and commended the work of the receivers, Pitcairn and F. C. Nicodemus Jr., the latter now general counsel at the road's New York office.

COUNTY GRAND JURY GROUP FILES FOR INCORPORATION

A petition for incorporation was filed in Circuit Court at Clayton yesterday by the Grand Jurors' Association of St. Louis County, an organization of men who had served either on county or Federal grand juries.

Some of the purposes of the group, the petition states, are to advance the effectiveness of grand juries; improve the administration of justice; acquaint members and prospective members of grand juries with their duties and responsibilities; and assist legally constituted authorities to obtain better-qualified citizens to serve on

ARE YOU...?

"I'm doing my best to hold down the rising cost of living through my pledge to buy only what I need, WHEN I need it. I never try to buy rationed goods without a stamp, for this means getting more than I am entitled to. I realize that more people are earning more money than ever before, but that some people are earning the same wages as they always have. A rising cost of living brought about by greater demand would cause these people much hardship. The Government is fore-sighted. It has planned the rationing program and has set the top legal prices for our security now, and in the future. We are doing no more than our part when we co-operate with these programs without grumbling. We are taking personal responsibility for a sound economy for the next generation."

WILLKIE TO ARRIVE IN CITY LATE TODAY

1940 G.O.P. Nominee to Speak at Kiel Auditorium Tomorrow Night.

Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican presidential nominee and aspirant to next year's nomination on a platform pledging world co-operation, was to arrive in St. Louis at 4:45 o'clock this afternoon. His public meeting, under State and city Republican organization auspices, but financed by Willkie himself, will be held tomorrow night in Kiel Auditorium Opera House.

Doors of the Opera House will open at 7:15 o'clock tomorrow night, and the program will begin at 7:45. Introductory speakers will be State Chairman Grover Dalton of Poplar Bluff; Mayor A. P. Kaufmann; Lee Meriwether, president of the Jeffersonians, Democrats, supporting Willkie in 1940, and National Committeeman Barak T. Mattingly.

Willkie's speech, to begin at 8, will be broadcast by Station KSD and the National Broadcasting Co. on a nation-wide hookup.

A private luncheon in Willkie's honor will be given at Hotel Jefferson tomorrow by Robert L. Lund, Lambert Pharmacal Co. executive and former head of the National Association of Manufacturers. About 100 are expected to attend.

Two political groups will meet Willkie Saturday at the Jefferson. St. Louis and St. Louis County Republican women will give a breakfast for him at 9:30 a. m. at the Jefferson. A luncheon, at the same hotel, will be given Saturday by the John Marshall Club of Republican lawyers, and tickets will be sold at $1.50, up to the seating capacity of the dining room. Reservations may be made by calling Chestnut 6882.

Willkie's St. Louis visit results from the questionnaire sent to him recently by a St. Louis Republican group headed by Edgar M. Queeny, chemical manufacturer and a large financial backer of the 1940 Willkie campaign. Missouri delegates to the 1940 national convention endorsed the list of nine questions, which demanded precise statements and definitions as to Willkie's views on postwar international matters, and a pledge to support the party ticket if he should not be the nominee.

Willkie at first offered to talk with his questioners "off the record," and when demands for a public statement were made, arranged for tomorrow night's meeting. When he learned that the Republican State Committee was seeking to sell box seats at $50 each, to help the committee pay off its deficit, Willkie said he would pay the hall rent and other expenses himself, all seats to be free.

OPA Executive Promoted. WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—Albert A. Kaplan, head of the textile, apparel and general merchandise branch of the Office of Price Administration's Cleveland office, was named price executive yesterday of the manufactured articles branch of the national office. The appointment is another in a series placing business men in the policy-making positions.

CIVIL SERVICE BODY ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Henry F. Hubbard of Washington Presented—Donnell
One of Speakers Tonight.

Henry F. Hubbard of Washington was elected president of the Civil Service Assembly of the United States and Canada at the Assembly's convention in Hotel
Statler today.

I. J. Browder of Montgomery,
Ala., was elected to serve one year on the Assembly's executive council, while Blaine Hoover of Chicago and Willard E. Parker of Baton Rouge, La., were elected to three-year terms. The convention adjourning its three-day meeting this afternoon.

Tonight Gov. Forrest C. Donnell,
Gov. Ellis Arnall of Georgia and Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann will address a public meeting at the Statler sponsored by the Citizens'
Committee on Civil Service of St.
Louis at 8 o'clock.

Speakers at a panel discussion of means of utilizing community groups to facilitate the recruiting of new personnel agreed yesterday that some of the policies and practices necessary by the war will be adopted permanently, although many wartime innovations will be discontinued after the war.

Employment of women in men's jobs, the relaxing of minimum and maximum age limits and the modification of physical standards are some of the policies which are to be discarded at the end of the war, they believed.

Dean William H. Stead of the Washington University School of Business and Public Administration told panel members and delegates attending the session how educators and advanced students have acted in advisory capacities as technical assistants to local state and municipal civil service commissions. He also explained the processes involved in adjusting college curricula to provide adequate training in public administration.

In another panel discussion yesterday, public personnel men concurred in appraising employee morale and the methods by which employees are encouraged to improve their status and advance to more important and higher-salaried positions.

CONSOLIDATED TAX COLLECTION URGED BY AMENDMENT

Proposal Before Constitutional Convention Would Let Governor Name Collector.

By BOYD F. CARROLL
Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 14.—Consolidation of the numerous State revenue collection agencies, recommended to the 1943 Legislative by Gov. Donnell and rejected by the Senate, would be made possible through constitutional provision, under a proposal introduced in the Constitutional Convention today by Delegate Charles H. Mayer of St. Joseph.

The proposal would authorize the Governor to appoint a State Collector of Revenue, subject to Senate confirmation, who would collect all taxes payable by law to the State, except certain property taxes collected by local county collectors.

Under present constitutional and statutory provisions, 14 of the major sources of State revenue are collected by 10 separate agencies.

Mayer's proposal also would authorize the Governor to appoint the Attorney General, now elected. The appointment would be subject to Senate confirmation.

A proposal by Delegate V. E. Phillips of Kansas City would permit absentee voting in elections by all Missourians, qualified voters, who are absent from the State on an election day.

The Constitution now authorizes absentee voting by persons absent from the State in the military or naval service, but civilians absent from the State may not cast absentee ballots.

Permanent Rules Adopted. The convention late yesterday adopted permanent rules governing procedure of the convention and its committees recommended by the Committee on Rules.

The convention, which since last Sept. 21, has completed its organization, already has pending about 35 proposals for Constitutional changes, and is preparing to step up its activities with sessions of the convention and standing committees on five days a week.

In approving the recommendations of the Committee on Rules, headed by Delegate Allen McReynolds of Carthage, with only minor amendments, the convention yesterday defeated several moves to weaken the strong set of rules proposed by the committee.

Limit to Debate. Opponents developed their greatest strength in an unsuccessful effort to strike out a rule that would permit the convention, at such times as it may resolve itself into a committee of the whole to discuss constitutional proposals, to limit the time for debate if approved by a majority of the delegates.

An amendment by Delegate William H. Allen of Kansas City, which would have thrown out the rule, was declared lost when a standing vote resulted in a tie, 39 to 38. A roll call vote was demanded and the amendment again was beaten, 38 ayes and 45 nays.

This rule, attacked as an improper restriction upon unlimited debate, applies only when the convention, on request of 30 delegates, sits as committee of the whole. It is designed to prevent delays and prolonged discussion. The rules authorize no limitation upon debate when the convention is in regular session.

Other proposed amendments defeated included proposals by Delegate George H. Heege of St. Louis County to require a vote of two-thirds of the delegates to override an adverse committee report on a constitutional proposal; by Delegate R. T. Wood of Springfield to modify a rule by which committees may be compelled to file a report; and by Delegate J. N. Searey of Eminence for election of two floor leaders by Democratic and Republican caucuses.

The rules fix Nov. 17 as the limit for introduction of constitutional proposals except by committee or by unanimous consent, and provide that committees must report on pending proposals on or before Dec. 17.

Antilobbying Proposal. Among proposals introduced yesterday was one by Delegate J. T. Opie of Kansas City which, Opie said, "would make lobbying a felony."

This proposal, which may be subject to criticism as an attempt to legislate in the Constitution, provides that any person who seeks to influence the vote of a member of the Legislature by bribery, intimidation, promises of reward or "other dishonest means" shall be guilty of lobbying, which is hereby declared a felony.

Opie's proposal also provides the legislator so influenced shall be guilty of a felony and, in addition to the punishment provided by law, shall be disqualified and forever disqualified from holding an office of public trust. Persons called as witnesses in a lawful investigation of such bribery would be barred from refusing to testify on the ground of self-incrimination, but could not later be prosecuted on their own testimony except for perjury.

Membership of the House of the Legislature, now 150, would be fixed at not less than 60 nor more than 150, with an initial House of 55 seats, in a proposal offered by Delegate Alroy S. Phillips of St. Louis. The Legislature would be required to revise the legislative districts after each decennial census on an equitable population basis. Failure of the Legislature to revise the districts would result in election of the Representatives in the State at large.

The Committee on Suffrage and Elections introduced a proposal eliminating constitutional barriers to women serving on juries.

KELLY PROPOSES CHICAGO BUY PUBLIC TRANSIT LINES

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (AP).—A plan for Chicago to purchase the three public transportation companies was presented to the City Council by Mayor Edward J. Kelly yesterday.

Kelly's plan called for the purchase of the Chicago Surface Lines, the Chicago Rapid Transit Co., which operates the elevated system, and the Chicago Motor Coach Co. Purchase would be financed by notes to be paid from revenues of the united companies, which would operate as one system. The notes would be sold either to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation or to the public.

A public transit board to be appointed by the Mayor would operate the system, and would be prepared to spend 100 million dollars on improvements within a 10-year period.

TISSUES OF DEAD USED TO KNIT TORN NERVES

Success of Method Disclosed by St. Louis Surgeons in Three Cases.

A method of using tissue from cadavers to bridge severed nerves and restore their functions was described today by three St. Louis surgeons in an article in the Journal of the American Medical Association. It is the first time in American medical history that the method has been successfully used, it was said.

The physicians are Dr. Roland M. Klemme, head of the department of neurological surgery at St. Louis University Medical School, and two associates, Dr. Nilson R. deRezende, a Brazilian who has been doing post-graduate work at St. Louis University for more than five years, and Capt. R. Dean oWolsey of the Army Medical Corps, now in North Africa with the St. Louis University Hospital Unit.

Although only three cases were described by the doctors in their article, 22 such operations now have been performed in St. Louis hospitals by the three doctors, all of them with "most gratifying results," Dr. Klemme told the Post-Dispatch. It is too early, however, to say that all the cases have been completely successful, he added.

The technique should be extremely useful in battle zones, Dr. Klemme said. He pointed out that in the World War, 3 per cent of casualties were peripheral nerve injuries and that such injuries probably will run higher in this war because of the high explosives used.

A gum acacia glue, fortified with a Vitamin B complex is used to join the severed ends of the nerves to the graft, thus avoiding injury to the nerves that results from the use of sutures. Describing the operation, the doctors said flaps of the nerve sheaths are cut from both sides of the growths at the ends of the severed nerves.

The cadaver graft, carefully cut to fit the gap, then is placed in position and glued to the two severed ends of the nerve. An ordinary snug-fitting bandage is used, eliminating use of plaster casts or splints.

"The role played by the acacia glue is merely that of a cement holding the graft in place," the physicians said. "The cadaver graft merely acts as a framework of tubes for ingrowth of the severed axons' nerve fibers."

The operation is one requiring extreme care and great patience, sometimes requiring as long as four hours, Dr. Klemme said. Its application was preceded by five years of experimental work on monkeys and rabbits by Dr. De Rezende in the St. Louis University laboratories.

Dr. De Rezende plans to return to Brazil early next year to demonstrate the operation to civilian, Army and Navy doctors there, Dr. Klemme said.

Describing results of one of the early operations, performed several months ago on a girl who lost use of a foot when nerves were severed in a mowing machine, Dr. Klemme said, "Now she tap dances!" Other cases have involved injuries from bullets, knives and fractures.

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR THE HOT OATMEAL BREAKFAST

Authorities Agree Its Growth and Stamina Elements Are Not Equalled by Any Other Cereal

Doubly Important for Your Family During Meat Shortage. There should be no confusion about this fact—Whole-grain oatmeal leads every other cereal in the great vitality element—PROTEIN! (Protein is meat's main element.)

Every child must have protein regularly for normal growth. Every adult needs protein for stamina.

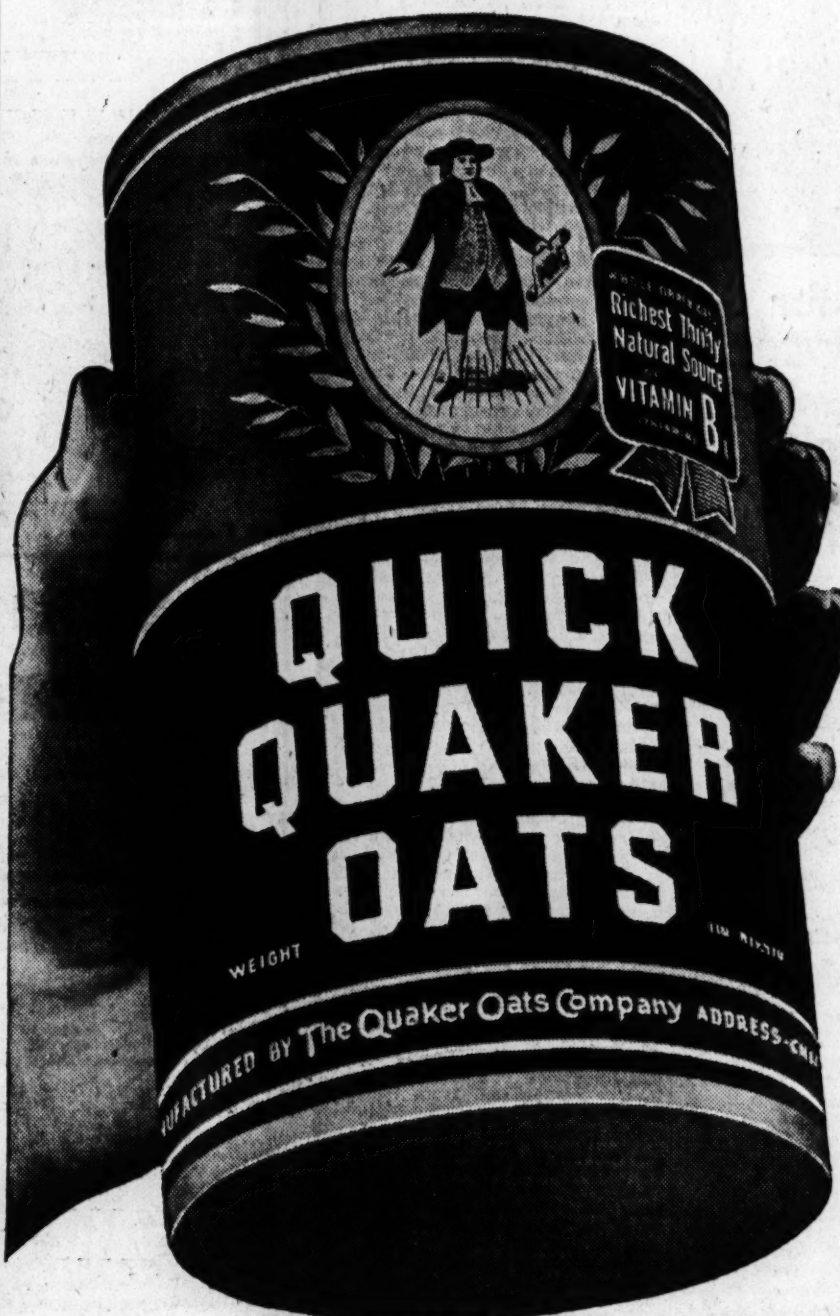

With meat and other protein foods restricted, your family must make up this lost supply.

In food-energy, too, Oatmeal surpasses all other cereals.

Depend on whole-grain Quaker Oats. Authorities agree no other cereal, hot or cold, natural or restored, even if part oats, equals the protein value of real oatmeal.

Whole-grain oatmeal also leads all natural cereals in Vitamin B₁—needed daily for growth and energy. It is famous as a basic food, a natural storehouse of healthful values which your family needs most during the period of wartime restrictions.

Children love Quaker Oats. Its delicious nut-like flavor and creamy hotness pleases everyone. Serve Quaker Oats daily to help guard the growth and stamina of your family. There is no substitute.

Recently 504 out of 514 food authorities recommended a hot breakfast for American families. Quaker Oats is easy to prepare, cooks while you make the coffee. Order an economical large size package from your friendly grocer today!

GONE FOREVER

...until science discovered the secret of JAVA Coffee Flavor

In ancient sailing ships, cargoes of fine coffees were carried around the "Cape" from Java, Sumatra and neighboring East Indies. As these vessels beat their slow way through tropic seas, the coffees they carried underwent a gradual ripening; an "aging" ripening in the word's best and moister in close-packed holds developed a culture on each coffee berry, removing harsh acids, developing a flavor so rare and intensified that "Java" became the world's most prized coffee.

Then came speedy steel freighters. The sailing ships were crowded out. But the speed of modern ships left neither time nor the effect of wood to season coffees. "Old Java" became a memory — until...

Science, in the laboratory, developed one of the few processes for coffee ever granted a U. S. patent. It is a natural process—no chemicals are used. Through this process are mellowed coffees from famous South and Central American plantations to make Forbes Culture-Ripened Coffee.

1236 Americans Aboard Japanese Ship Will Transfer to Gripsholm.

Sixteen persons from the St. Louis area are among the 1236 Americans being returned to this country aboard the Japanese exchange liner Tetsu Maru, the State Department revealed last night. Their ship is en route to Marmagao, Portuguese India, where the passengers will transfer to the Swedish liner Gripsholm to complete their journey to America.

Seven of the St. Louisans are Franciscan missionaries attached to the Sacred Heart Province of the Franciscan Fathers, 3140 Marmagao street. All served in China for many years. They are the Rev. Justin Schmeider, Walter H. Mescher, Philip J. Rittmeier, Kenneth J. Gansmann, Clementine G. Grosskopf, Joseph T. Kernal and Paul J. Hornberger.

Dr. Collins was for many years a dentist at Shanghai. His wife is the daughter of former Congressman L. C. Dyer. Their daughter was born in China.

Miss Gauss is the daughter of the Rev. J. H. Gauss, 6407 San Bonita avenue, Clayton, dean of the Brooks Bible School. She has been a Presbyterian missionary in China for 30 years, teaching at a girls' high school at Ningpo.

With Tobacco Company. Terrell, who went to China 22 years ago, was a director of the China division of the British-American Tobacco Co., with headquarters in Shanghai. His wife, who left China in 1941, now lives at 1540 Fifth street, Madison, Ill.

Mother Mary of St. Cletus, a Franciscan Missionary of Mary, is the sister of Owen Vyle, 3433 Minnesota avenue. She taught school for two years at Chefoo, China. FALSE RUMOR ON RATION CUT STARTS GASOLINE BUYING RUN

Quick action by OPA gasoline rationing officials and gasoline filling station attendants scotched a potential "last-minute" fuel purchasing rush yesterday and today. The rush was attributed to a false rumor that A coupons were to be cut in value to one gallon each.

Local OPA spokesmen said that their office had not received any official word of a cut in A coupon values, but that the OPA could not prevent people from using valid coupons. William H. Bryan, rationing officer for Eastern Missouri, however, debunked the rumor in a radio address he made on the fuel situation last night.

One woman motorist heard the rumor from the manager of a parking lot, from her newsdealer and from friends. Gasoline dealers tell of receiving upwards of 40 calls late yesterday to ascertain whether the rumor were true. As many dealers as could be reached by

ENS. CARL B. ATTERBURY JR. DIES OF ACCIDENTAL WOUNDS

Ens. Carl B. Atterbury Jr. of Kirksville, Mo., who was graduated from Northeast Missouri State Teacher's College at Kirksville in 1941, has died in a Seattle hospital from gunshot wounds inflicted accidentally while he was on duty. The Navy notified his sister, Mrs. Robert Jones, 5366 Cabanne avenue, today. He was 23 years old. A few days ago Mrs. Jones received word that Ens. Atterbury had been assigned to an airplane carrier. His mother, Mrs. Carl B. Atterbury Sr., lives in Milwaukee, where funeral services will be conducted at a date yet to be determined. Burial will be in La Plata, Macon County, Missouri, his birthplace.

In recent years Ens. Atterbury was a frequent visitor at the home of Mrs. Jones. Survivors include his brothers, Dr. Paul Atterbury of Milwaukee and Dr. K. D. Atterbury of Camden, Mo., and his sisters, Mrs. Bertha Miller and Mrs. Dada Jean Jones, both of Milwaukee.

SOME CEILING CHARTS POSTED TOO HIGH TO BE READ

Too many St. Louis food retailers have tacked up their ceiling price lists too close to their store ceilings and too far from their customers' view, asserted Fred J. Hoffmeister, chairman of the price panels of the St. Louis War Price and Rationing Board, before 50 volunteer assistants at a meeting in the Civil Courts Building yesterday.

Housewives complain that they would need a step ladder to get into position to read some of the charts, Hoffmeister added. He appealed to the volunteers to ask the grocers to place the charts where they could be read easily by any customer.

FIFTH AIRCRAFT CARRIER OF ESSEX CLASS CHRISTENED

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Oct. 14 (AP)—The Navy's expanding aircraft carrier fleet was further strengthened today with the christening of the Franklin, fifth carrier of the Essex class built here since Pearl Harbor.

Lt. Comdr. Mildred H. McAfee, director of the WAVES, cracked a bottle of champagne against the bow of the ship, which was floated in its graving dock before sunrise.

R. Adm. O. L. Cox, supervisor of naval construction at the Newport News Shipbuilding & Drydock Co., said the Franklin, like all ships built in graving docks, was farther advanced in construction when christened than ships built on ways.

THE SHORTAGE Has become critical! Many leading mills supplying shipping containers are faced with production curtailment, unless you, the public, provide WASTE PAPER

The shortage of waste paper is now more critical than at any time since the war began! Endless shiploads of medical, food, ammunition and essential military supplies are being sent overseas in containers made from converted waste paper. These containers remain overseas—which partially explains the alarming waste paper shortage.

Another obvious reason for the shortage—many weapons of war are being made from waste paper. Some of these include bomb bands, ammunition chests, shell protectors, fuel tank linings, parachute flares and others.

If you really want to help America "deliver the goods" to the fighting fronts, save your waste paper! Thousands of additional tons are needed right now!

The Sailor Speaks a Language of His Own

By Frank Colby

THE Ensign, just home for the first time in half a year, sank into his favorite living room chair, stretched out his long legs in a very unofficerlike manner, gazed about him in deep content and remarked, "Boy, this cabin looks good to me. But I notice you've repapered the bulkheads, and repainted the overhead. And haven't you recovered the deck of the passageway?"

We, his parents, smiled and nodded as if we understood. "I think I'll go up the ladder for a recco topside," he said. "Yes, yes, indeed. By all means," we chorused. The Ensign went upstairs.

His mother gasped a little wildly. "A recco topside. . . ?" "Take it easy," I said. "But I can't understand my own baby," she whispered, and seemed on the verge of tears. "He's like a t-total stranger!"

THE ENSIGN had been using the telephone, and now his voice came down from the bathroom where the tub was filling noisily. "Hey, mom. I'm going ashore at twenty-thirty. How's about chow? Bear a hand, will you?"

The word "chow" gave me a clue. I'm an old Army man myself. "I think he's saying something about wanting food," I ventured. Servicemen are always hungry, you know. His mother's strained face relaxed and brightened. Food was a word she understood. "Yes, darling," she called, and made tracks for the kitchen where Willie Lee was happily frying chicken, and muttering to herself, "That boy is sho' gona start boarding when he sets hisself down to this here."

LATER, WHEN the first fine edge of the Ensign's appetite had been dulled and he had settled down to a more restrained but still steady "boarding," we indicated as tactfully as we could that we were finding his speech to be . . . well, unintelligible, to put it bluntly. Would he please translate his remarks into plain United States? The Ensign could, and the Ensign did. Men of the Navy, we learned, use nautical terms even when ashore. A room is a "cabin." The walls are the "bulkheads." The ceiling is called the "overhead." The floor is the "deck." A hallway is a "passageway." A stairway is a "ladder." "Recco" is short for reconnaissance, or look around. "Topside" is upstairs. By "going ashore at twenty-thirty" he meant that he was going out at 8:30 p. m. Naval men reckon time on the 24-hour system—1:00 p. m., for instance, is 1300, called "thirteen hundred." 5:45 p. m. would be 1745, "seventeen forty-five." Noon is twelve hundred, and midnight is twenty-four hundred. "Bear a hand" is a sailor's way of saying, "make it snappy."

THIS WE LEARNED, and much more. For example, a sailor does not use the word "furlough." He goes "on leave." Leave of less than 48 hours is "liberty." The terms "gob" and "lar" are resented by sailors. An enlisted man is properly called a "bluejacket" even when wearing a white uniform. And all bluejackets answer to the name of "Mac."

Aboard ship, at those times when smoking is permitted, the boatswain (pronounced: BOE-s'n) informs the ship that "The smoking lamp is lit." This is an allusion to the days of sailing ships when smoking was permitted only when the smoking lamp was lighted so that the men could light their pipes.

A sailor does not speak of his "boat" unless he refers to any small boat that may be hoisted aboard a large craft. He speaks of his "ship," and a ship is always feminine.

The Ensign's mother said that she had always thought of the "dog watch" as one's time for watching the ship's mascot. But, it developed, a dog watch is a two-hour period of deck duty as contrasted to the usual watch of four hours. "Dog" apparently is a corrupted form of the word "docked."

A "POOP DECK" is a deck that is higher than the main deck and is located at the stern. Poop is the English form of the French word poupe, "the stern of a vessel." "Scuttlebutt" is Navy slang for "rumors." Actually, a scuttlebutt is the ship's drinking fountain; hence, a gathering place where idle seamen exchange the always circulating rumors.

An "Irish pennant" is any untidy loose end of rope or string. A sailor whose handkerchief shows, or who has threads or reveals about his uniform, is said to be "flying the Irish pennant." The ship's flag is the "ensign," pronounced: EN-sin. The lowest grade of commissioned officer is called an ensign, for originally he performed the service of ensign bearer.

Aboard ship, ropes are called "lines." A "lucky bag" is a place, usually a chest or locker, where lost articles are "stowed" until claimed by the owner, or auctioned off to the crew.

Enlisted men are called "boots" during their training period when they are required to wear leggings, or "boots." The Navy equivalent of military police is "shore patrol." A good sailor never whistles aboard ship—whistling might be mistaken for the sound of the boatswain's "pipe." As The Ensign puts it, "No one whistles aboard ship but the boatswain or a fool." The boatswain's "pipe" is a whistle used for the same purpose as an Army bugle.

REGARDLESS OF his rank, the officer in command of any warship is addressed as "Captain," a courtesy title not to be confused with the official rank of Captain, which corresponds to the Army rank of Colonel.

"Aweigh" means "off the bottom." The official song of the Naval Academy is not "Anchors Away," but is "Anchors Aweigh." After the anchor is weighed, the ship gets under way.

In the Navy, the word tackle, as in block and tackle, is pronounced: TAY-k'l, an ancient nautical pronunciation. The "forecastle," a forward compartment where the crew lives, is called: FOKE-s'l. A sailor's underwear is called "skivvies." He speaks of his three uniforms as "whites, blues," and "dungarees." "G. I." is anything that conforms to regulations.

BESIDES BEING eminently satisfying, The Ensign's leave was an educational experience. Why, in no time at all, his mother's conversation had become as salty as you please. She could sing out such phrases as the following without batting an eye: "I'm going below to the galley to break out some chow. I'll pipe all hands to mess at nineteen hundred. Pass the word, and gangway!"

CASE RECORDS

By Dr. George W. Crane

CASE A-254: Charley N., aged 32, is the father of two children. "He earned $2000 last year," his wife protested, unhappily, "but I never got to see any of it, for he handles all the funds. He squandered $95 for liquor and $273 he spent on cigarettes, guns, fishing tackle and other personal items. Occasionally he brought home candy bars or chewing gum for the children. We have been in debt ever since we were married. He acts as irresponsible as a child in money matters. He is now in debt to these short loan firms, and disregards their notices of overdue payments. Dr. Crane, if he wants to remain a little boy all his life and never learn how to handle money, then I am going to get a job and quit being hounded by bill collectors. I earned a good salary before marriage, and can do it again. I am too tired to argue with him any longer."

LAST WEEK I described another marital corporation that was heading for bankruptcy because of money matters. A smart husband should let his wife handle the funds, if she has any business ability at all. Then he can blame her if bills are unpaid. Instead, Charley is getting all the blame, and deservedly so, for his inability to serve as a good accountant or bookkeeper. His juvenility is further proved by his squandering of $368 annually on his own selfish pleasures, when his total income was $2000. No intelligent man would be so selfish as to divert almost 20 per cent of his annual income to himself, if he had any regard at all for his wife and family.

HIS WIFE MADE her first mistake years ago, when she consented to marry this juvenile male. I have often advised you girls to use your brains when you pick a mate. Check into his family background. Interview his school teachers. Get acquainted with his neighbors and friends. See how he handles money. And be sure you find out how his father acted in this regard, for sons tend to follow in the footsteps of their fathers. Does he carry any life insurance? Is he planning to take out a new policy in your favor or transfer his present policy to you? Has he any savings? War bonds? Real estate? Does he contribute generously to the church and other philanthropic causes? Use your brains first and then surrender to your heart afterwards. Stop your wishful thinking or vain hope that God will make everything come out all right.

GOD HELPS those who help themselves. He has little respect for stupid fools who refuse to use the excellent brains that he put into their skulls. Since Charley didn't want his wife to go back to an office job, I urged her to make a bargain with him. She would stay at home providing he let her handle the funds. He reluctantly agreed. But he has been grateful many times, for his money worries are over. She is a capable woman who has cleared up their debts. The financial decisions are on her shoulders, so he is more relaxed and happy.

How It Started

By Jean Newton

A. E. I. O. U. They look like and of course they are the vowels of our alphabet; but to initiate the letters secrete a magic symbolism. It is, so say those who claim they know, nothing less than the influence which has dominated Hitler since his youth.

According to this esoteric theory, A. E. I. O. U. is the mystic motto adopted by Emperor Frederick III, Archduke of Austria during the fifteenth century, when this country lorded it over the continent of Europe. The letters have been variously decoded as Austria East Imperator Orbis Universi; Austria Erit in Orbe Ultima; Allen Erdreich Ist Oesterreich Unterthan; Austria's Empire Is Over All Universal.

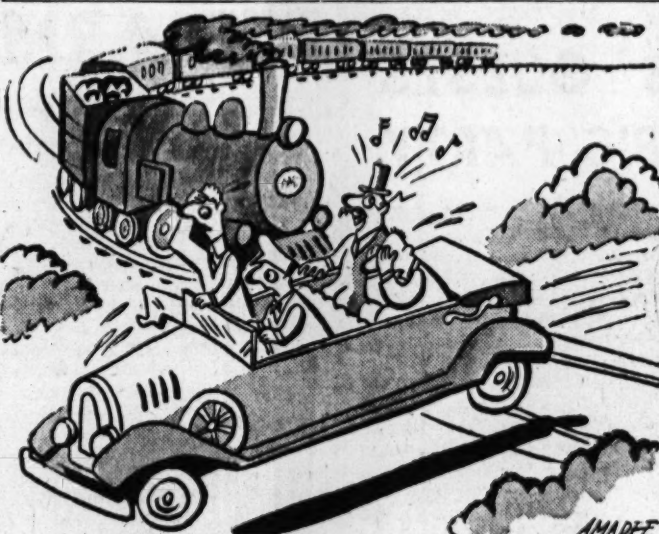

Hitler, as everybody knows now, was an Austrian house painter; early in his brush-wielding days, so we have the tale, he ran across this occult composite and was never the same afterwards. It could be; not a bad story, anyway.

Famous Fables

By E. E. Edgar

MR. ROOSEVELT WENT RIGHT ON SINGING AND TAPPING WITH HIS FINGERS.

FAGER to settle a coal strike in New York City several winters ago, Mayor F. H. LaGuardia summoned the opposing factions to City Hall for an all-day conference. Mr. LaGuardia did not sit in on the conference, but every once in a while entered the room to see what progress had been made. As the day wore on, the conferees noticed that the room was getting colder and colder. They shut the windows, blew on their fingers, but still their discomfort mounted. Each time the Mayor came in from his warm office, they protested about the lack of heat. But fiery Fiorello just put his hand to the radiators and shrugged.

At six o'clock the cold was unbearable. Rather than risk pneumonia, the shivering conferees came to a settlement. They went into the Mayor's office to tell him that the strike was over. LaGuardia greeted the announcement with a broad smile, and rather sheepishly confessed that it was he who had had the heat turned off—to impress upon them the need for coal.

CLOSE SHAVE: While campaigning in Kansas, Theodore Roosevelt accepted the offer of an automobile company to drive him to a small town where he was to make a speech. It was a high-powered touring car, and the chauffeur was eager to demonstrate its speed on the open road. Mr. Roosevelt, seated in the rear of the car, amused himself by singing lustily, keeping time by tapping with his fingers. Suddenly the car rounded a bend in the road, and the passengers observed to their horror that the rear of the car, aimed itself by singing toward a railroad crossing, toward which a powerful locomotive was rushing headlong. A crash appeared inevitable.

My Day -O- By Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK CITY, Wednesday.

YESTERDAY evening I spoke at a dinner which Mrs. Dwight Davis gave for the heads of volunteer groups who are here for their American Red Cross annual meeting. They are such a devoted and active group, that it was a great pleasure to have this opportunity of seeing some of them. Today I am on the way to Philadelphia to speak at a Democratic women's luncheon. Then I go to Washington, where we are to have the opportunity this evening of seeing a film made in England of various women's activities.

A few days ago I received word from the Metropolitan Area Hospitals Service Committee, of a plan to supply our sick and wounded service men in this area with a plant for Christmas trees, a Christmas tree for each ward.

There is no question but what there must be a great many boys in our hospitals here who will not be able to go home for Christmas, and we would want them to have as cheerful a day as they possibly can. All contributions are to be sent to Mr. John J. Mackey, treasurer of the Dime Savings Bank of Brooklyn. For each dollar contribution, the sender's name will be placed on a Christmas card attached to a plant.

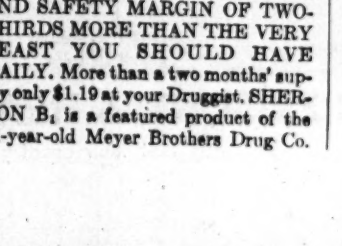

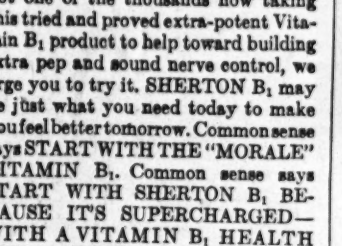

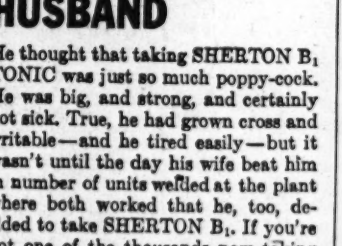

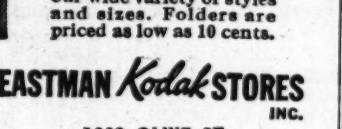

I hope very much that, in doing this work for the military hospitals in the metropolitan area of New York City, we shall not forget the veterans' hospitals in the State where we have patients both as a result of this war and former times. Many of these men feel forgotten because they have been in hospitals for so long, and our present concern should include them.

I hope this same plan is being followed everywhere in the United States, and that wherever we have camps or hospitals. The civilians in the neighborhood should make it part of their Christmas celebration to include the soldiers who are far away from home.

Early this morning a lady appeared at my apartment. She had written me that she had designed a hat she felt would be a help to the war effort, because it would conserve material. She brought it in to show me how one hat could serve many occasions.

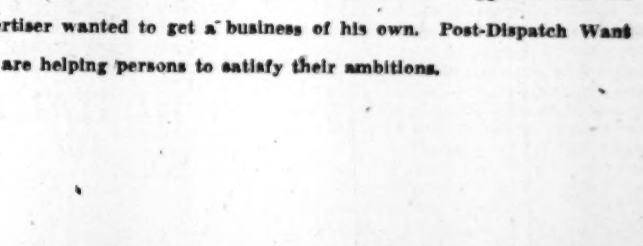

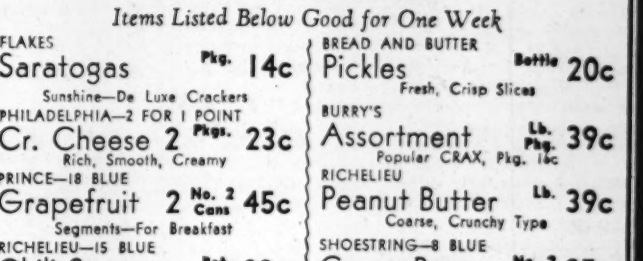

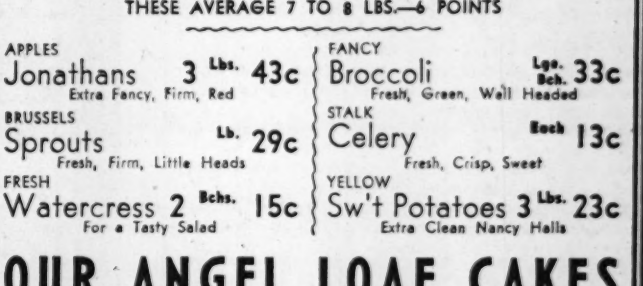

If you are a busy lady who cannot leave the office in time to change, all you have to do to have a new hat, is to turn this one inside out! Your fingers will have to be fairly capable, however, in order to pin the bands, and the bows into place so that you look as though your hat had just come out of the bandbox.

I am not very clever at this sort of thing, but I watched her, fascinated. I am sure that, for many women, this will satisfy a need and also an inclination to use their own ingenuity in making themselves look different.

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

JUST recently my brother who is in the Army became engaged to a girl near his camp. He has written home and sent pictures of her and she seems to be a nice girl, but mother and I think she should visit in our home first before they are married. He expects to have a furlough soon and as the girl is not employed she has time to travel. We have asked her to visit us but have had no reply. My brother is 21 and she is 18, and we all feel they are old enough to know their own minds, but do feel she should come on while he's here. My three brothers in the Service also feel this way, though they laugh at it.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, but of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

me and tell me I'm too young to be advising anyone, but at 17 I do know what's the right thing pretty well. Aside from this problem, how can I make my family stop treating me like a baby?

TONA

It will be very nice to get acquainted with the girl your brother is to marry, and your mother did just the right thing to invite her to come and visit you. Even if she can't come while your brother is on furlough, perhaps she can come later on, though to have them together would be nicer all round. Perhaps she would feel more at home having your brother with her since the rest of you are strangers to her. I am sure she will answer your mother's invitation soon. If you are the youngest in the family you will have a hard time, perhaps, making the family let you grow up, they are so used to thinking of you as the baby. Ask them to allow you certain privileges, to be responsible for certain tasks, to let you have as much voice in the family as the others, and when you have demonstrated that you are a person, too, they will realize that baby sister is growing up.

Dear Martha Carr:

MY HUSBAND, member of the U. S. Navy, is stationed in the southern part of this country, hundreds of miles away. He is being granted a furlough very soon and will spend it here in St. Louis. I plan to go where he is and spend the Christmas holidays with him, and my mother-in-law insists she accompany me. We have been married only four months and this will be our first Christmas together and we want very much to spend it alone. If his mother had no family I could understand her desire to be with her son, but she has her husband and another married son who will expect to spend Christmas with her. My husband feels as I do. How can we make her understand how we feel without hurting her?

MRS. G. R.

I should not think that your mother-in-law would need to be told that you and your husband naturally want this first Christmas together alone, just as all newlyweds do. Now that he is married she must learn to accustom herself to the fact that you now have first place in his heart. She will see a great deal of him while he is here on furlough and it will be a much more satisfactory visit with him than going hundreds of miles for just a few days could possibly be to her. I think your husband should tell her tactfully just how he feels about the matter when he comes.

IN ANSWER TO "S. W. B.": You and the girl will be much better off if you will move away from her vicinity and forget her. If she were divorced she would be free to date you. As it is she is still married and in her present trouble the temptation to turn to you might be great and she would have one more problem to contend with. If you love her don't add to her worries.

IN ANSWER TO "Thanks So Much": Working out a budget for you in the Column would take more space than I can spare, but I have a Budget leaflet which I will send if you will mail me the usual stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Unescorted Women

By Emily Post

TO what extent the absence of younger men has relaxed the prewar rule against admission of unaccompanied women to places of amusement is the subject of this letter: "One of my best friends and I—(both our husbands are overseas in the armed forces)—are intending to go for a week's holiday to New York. Will you please tell us where we can (or can not) go for amusement in the evenings, because we have no men friends in that city. Has the fact that women are being left alone all over the country changed the attitude toward their going to evening restaurants unaccompanied by men?"

You can go to the theaters and movies, of course, and you can dine wherever you please and stay for an early show, but there are very few (if any) night clubs that welcome unaccompanied women after ten o'clock. You can perhaps go to the roof or supper room in the hotel where you are staying, but Super-Club visiting by young women alone is pretty much OUT!

DEAR MRS. POST: I am engaged to a man whose parents live in a distant city. I've never met any of them, but now that my parents have announced our engagement, he thinks I should write to his mother. If I am supposed to, I want to, of course, but I've always been under the impression that it was the other way around.

Answer: While you are quite right, and his mother should write to you, it so frequently happens that the mother believes it is the girl's duty to write, that it is much better to ask his advice about what you should do, rather than allow length of time to create a breach of silence that brings a situation of needless distress to both.

DEAR MRS. POST: When our engagement is announced, should I ask the local newspaper to send the notice to newspapers in two other cities where we have many friends who will be interested, or shall I send separate notices to these other papers?

Answer: It would be safest, I think, to send the notice to all papers yourself.

DEAR MRS. POST: If a wedding present cannot be sent until after the wedding, is it sent to the bride alone or to Mr. and Mrs. even though he is a stranger—or perhaps only slightly known?

Answer: Under these circumstances you describe, send the gift to her alone. If he were the friend, or both were friends, you might then address it to them together.

Doctor on Minor Skin Eruptions

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

IN the article yesterday I commented on how common is the practice for a fellow to try to treat his own skin trouble, and promised to give some hints to the amateur home dermatologist.

Since diagnosis should always precede treatment, let me take a bird's-eye, rapid view of the common skin diseases.

The common skin affections can be roughly classified in the language of the vernacular thus:

1. "Something you ate, no doubt."
2. "What bit you?"
3. "Never an athlete, but always a foot."
4. "Pale, callow and pimply—started smoking too early."
5. "Who knows what's good for a fever blister?"
6. "I've been picking up toads again."

THESE CORRESPOND to (1) food allergy, hives, eczema, contact dermatitis, with plants and chemicals (many new ones in war industry), and that fine old disease, scabies, or the itch; (2) infections of the skin, the commonest of which by all odds is ringworm, or athlete's foot; (3) infections of the skin—acne, impetigo; (4) skin manifestations of some internal disease, the commonest being fever blisters and shingles; (5) new growth of the skin, warts being the most familiar; but, if you are over 50, have a scaly skin, and find a place that bleeds easily when rubbed, perhaps an early cancer.

Now, as to remedies for these difficulties. The amateur dermatologist needs a good soother and a good germ killer. Nature will do most of the rest.

Of the soothers the most popular are zinc oxide, and a similar chemical, calamine, usually put up in a watery suspension or lotion. But just protecting the skin from the dirt with an ointment is often enough.

Camphor has been called the morphine of the skin. Carbolic acid, or phenol, is also a skin anesthetic; it should be used by the amateur in very diluted form. The two best germ killers are phenol, make a true and tried remedy.

SOAP AND WATER are almost always irritating to the inflamed skin or irritated skin. The winter itch of old people, with dry, scaly skin, can usually be promptly cured by urging them to stop bathing for a week.

The drugs which kill off germs, fungi, parasites in or on the skin, and which yet do not injure the skin itself are mercury, sulphur, salicylic acid, resorcin and iodine. Ammoniated mercury salve is used in the treatment of the skin, such as impetigo. Ringworm is usually treated in the mild stages with salicylic acid in the form of Whitfield's ointment. Scabies, or the itch, yields best to sulphur. Iodine, of course, is a good preventive of infection on cuts, etc.

Diet, x-ray, light therapy and vaccines are all part of the professional dermatologist's equipment for skin treatment. Perhaps the best lesson for the amateur is that if his method of treatment does not show results within 48 hours, he had better give the professional a chance.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. B. J.: It likely for a person to have spinal meningitis the second time?

Answer: No. Meningococcal and pneumococcal meningitis absolutely protect from a second attack.

L. F. M.: What is the best method of protecting the ears when engaged in target practice with small arms—rifles and pistols?

Answer: There are many appliances devised for this purpose, but the use of a cotton pledget moistened with glycerine is about as good as any. I don't know what the Army or Navy advises about big gun firing, except, of course, everyone is advised to keep the mouth open during the detonation.

T. C. T.: What is mycosis fungoides? Is there any cure for it? Is there any way of stopping it?

Answer: Mycosis fungoides is an eruption of the skin of unknown origin. X-ray treatments have been known to arrest it for an indefinite period.

WHAT TO EXPECT TOMORROW

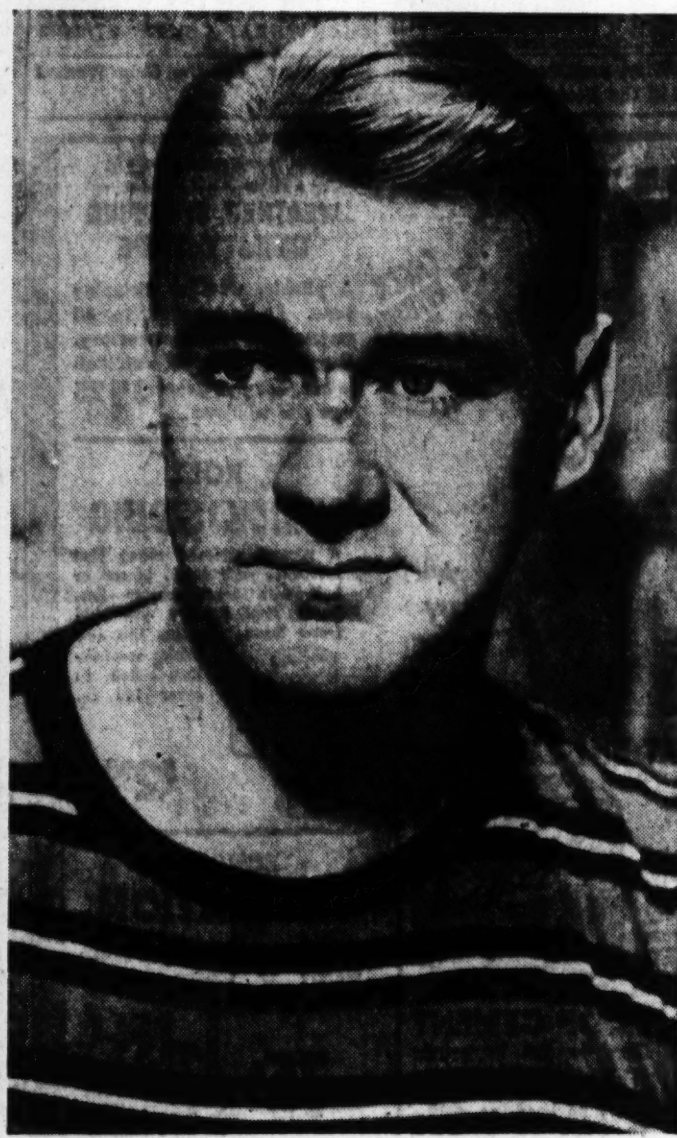

Sun in Libra. General Tendencies—Make the most of these golden hours, for they will shine less strongly for finances after this morning. Women have still a chance to right all quarrels, however, and can afford to overlook pride until late this evening of men will not be as apt to admit any previous mistakes in thought or deed. Later hours turn toward true companionship.

If Tomorrow Is Your Birthday. You have an important period before you, but a difficult one. You tend to be thrown with prominent people and to become proud, possibly with a false pride. Amusement, extravagance, and overabundance will be about you; keep your thoughts simple and steadfast. The eventful months appear to be December and April.

Tomorrow's Watchword. Foresight is tomorrow's virtue, one which is often overlooked under the influence of the sign Libra. We usually reason from the past, but we can reason from the future just as well if we will adjust our minds to it. It is really because of the future that we do what we do today, and foresight is simply the alignment of our thoughts to accord with what is due to follow tomorrow's acts.

Bowen Tufts III, of the Boston Tufts

SONNY TUFTS CRASHED MOVIES BY GOING TO HOLLYWOOD AND ANNOUNCING HE WOULD LIKE TO BE A MOVIE ACTOR.

IT certainly is no compliment to Hollywood's complex and usually efficient talent-scouting activities to know that the six-foot-four, blonde Sonny Tufts, current rave of Hollywood, has been sharing a spotlight in New York and Palm Beach for a quartet of years, right in sight for anyone to see and discover, in fact hoping he would be found by some movie guy—and still remained wholly undiscovered.

If it hadn't been that Sonny picked up his marbles in Manhattan and hid himself by train, with his wife, for the film capital, he might still be singing novelty songs in gay and swanky nightspots back in New York. Because that's exactly what he did. He came out looking for Hollywood and crashed the big iron gates.

Once Sonny landed in Hollywood and got within eye-distance of studio that on a clear day, the big boss can be spotted as plainly as Catalina, it took him no time at all to get on the screen. By now, everyone knows that he made his debut in "So Proudly We Hail" as the low-headed, love-lit in Paulette Goddard's eye. He walked into that movie a positive unknown and he walked out of the fadeout as a star of the first magnitude.

Movie makers don't need any brick buildings falling on them to get an idea. So it is gratifying to know that Sonny's public appeal was spotted long before a theater cash customer ever took a look at the lad. "So Proudly We Hail" had been rolling less than two weeks when Mark Sandrich, the producer-director who plucked him for the part of "Kansas," was positive that the team of Goddard and Tufts was going to be the salable hotokeas of the immediate future. He set Allan Scott, his writer, to work then and there whipping up a yarn for the two. The result is an official co-starring picture for this pair, soon to go before the cameras.

NOW that facts show Sonny is in movies to stay, let's take a look at how he came into being and landed in pictures.

On the records back in Boston where Sonny was born, he is registered as Bowen Tufts III. He's never used his real name, because his father, Bowen II, was a famous banker and the big fellow, once he started out as an entertainer, didn't want to be confused with capitalizing on a highly respected name.

Sonny comes by his height in a family way. He stands six-foot-four, but has a younger brother, Dave, who tops the film star by an inch, outweighing him 25 pounds. All of Sonny's cousins, his father, and four uncles are more than six-two.

This surprising film newcomer has always been sort of a rebel in the Tufts family. He's always loved a bit of riotous fun. As a lad he was put to singing in the choir of the Episcopal Church in the Winchester section of Boston and was invited to retire therefrom when he playfully cut loose a blast with one of those novelty-shop razzberry horns just as the growling tenor soloist hit his highest note.

Tufts was slated for a banking and finance career. He never got there, because he neither liked nor understood the stuff. So, while still a prep school lad, he told his father he wanted to be an actor. The elder Tufts, instead of hitting the ceiling, merely replied, "That's all right, son, if you become a GOOD one."

So Sonny started playing musical instruments, had a dance band while still an Exeter student. When time came for college, Sonny proved his rebel qualities. All Tufts men went to Harvard. It was an unwritten law. His father, uncles and kid brother went there. But Sonny crossed them all up and went to Yale, where he was a pretty fair football tackle and rowed a bit on the crew. He also wrote dramatic reviews for the Yale Daily News and Yale Record. He had a dance band. In fact, in his senior year, he had five such bands and used to "bicycle" from spot to spot when his hands were all booked for dances on the same night.

Come summer, he would ship on a Mediterranean cruise as drummer boy in the band. He saw a lot of the world that way. In fact, he has made 26 Atlantic crossings.

When he returned from such a cruise to start his senior year at Yale, he lugged his drums off the boat, checked them in at the Grand Central Station and took a train to Boston. En route, he suddenly got sick of beating those drums. If he went and got them again, he'd just go on playing drums whenever a chance came. So he tore up his claim check and tossed the pieces out the train window. Whatever happened to those drums he never knew, doesn't care.

BY the time he received his degree at Yale, he was a pretty fair vocalist. Someone suggested he go to Europe and study for opera. He went, spent six months getting a trained voice, came back and had just landed a chance for an audition at the "Met" when he discovered how little the salary he would make as a starter. He never went around for the audition.

Instead, he talked himself into a singing spot in a Broadway musical, "Who's Who," then "Sing for Your Supper." He was barely in the shows. Then he turned to that business of singing in swanky night spots like the Glass Hat, Famous Door and Beachcombers, in New York and the White Hall and Patio in Palm Beach.

Among his friends was Alexis Thompson, wealthy sportsman who would sit, listening to Sonny, and wonder aloud to the big fellow, "Why aren't you in the movies?" Sonny could only answer that no one had ever asked him.

So finally, a year ago this fall, Thompson took matters into his own hands. Signing Sonny to a contract, he paid expenses for Tufts and his wife to Hollywood and put them up at the Beverly Hills Hotel. Thompson telephoned a friend who, as a favor, put it up to Joe Egan, of the Paramount casting department, to please do him a favor and see a guy named Tufts.

Paramount gave him a singing audition. He was good. The studio didn't happen to need any more singers. Any studio could, however, make use of a big bird like Tufts providing he didn't faint at the sight of a camera lens. They tried Sonny out. He was so natural under the lights that the studio handed him an immediate contract.

It was then that Sandrich was looking for someone to play his "Kansas" role. He glimpsed Sonny's test, was so impressed he sent for Paulette. She, too, was impressed. She made a test with this unknown and he was in. And that's where he remains today.

Good Defense Compensates For Bad Hand

By Ely Culbertson

EXCELLENT defensive play can do wonders in compensating for a lack of high cards. For example:

West, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

The bidding:
West North East South
Pass Pass Double Pass Pass Pass

Perhaps it is superfluous to point out that East's diamond bid was more psychic than honest. South's overall, vulnerable, had no alibi. As to East's leave-in of the penalty double, either his courage or his optimism was high. Admittedly, however, he would have had to look hard for a safe takeout!

After West had opened the diamond ace and inspected the dummy a diamond continuation seemed unattractive, particularly since East had played the deuce. West correctly shifted to his top heart. Declarer won and laid down the club ace; then, when the jack fell, led a low club to dummy's ten. The heart king was cashed and then, with no convenient egress from the dummy, declarer played the diamond queen. East won and returned another diamond.

West ruffed with the club six and, without perceptible hesitation, underplayed the spade ace. Declarer, who had carefully noted that to date East had shown only the diamond king and heart ace, hardly could fail to guess wrong.

He let the lead ride to his own jack. East put up the queen and returned the thirteenth heart. Declarer, seeing what was coming, threw his losing spade, but this did not avail because East then played his last diamond, thus assuring West of a trump trick.
